Administrationists Claim At Least 62 Of 96 Senate Votes

Ellender Says He'll Support Barkley Plan If Other Fails

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The administration's compromise proposal for dealing with farm prices in the anti-inflation bill appeared today to be headed toward adoption by the senate next week with Republicans counted upon to furnish the necessary margin of support.

Administration strategists claimed at least 62 of the 96 senate votes. An Associated Press poll showed 39 senators publicly committed to the principle of the amendment offered by Democratic Leader Barkley, Kentucky, 15 against, 35 either undecided or non-committal and seven not reached.

The Barkley proposal would require President Roosevelt, or his aides, to lift farm price ceilings where they did not reflect to producers the increased cost of labor and other items on the farm. It was offered as a substitute for an amendment by Senators Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, and Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, proposing to increase parity price levels about 12 per cent by including farm labor costs, a move which President Roosevelt has opposed.

Of the 39 senators who endorsed the Barkley proposal, 28 were Democrats, 10 Republicans and 1 an Independent, Senator Norris of Nebraska. Twelve Democrats and 3 Republicans flatly opposed it.

Administration leaders were confident that they would draw from the 35 uncommitted senators and the 7 who were not reached sufficient votes to show a 2 to 1 margin on the showdown roll call expected Monday.

Of the 35 not committed, 16 were Republicans and administration strategists significantly were listing 11 of these as likely to vote for the Barkley proposal in the end.

Any such Republican support would reverse the minority party's trend in the house, where 99 Republicans joined with 105 Democrats to write down the anti-inflation measure — full of which the house later passed over-

Men Who Flew Planes Quarter Century Ago Tell Others How

WITH THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A quarter of a century ago a group of young Americans, long on courage and daredevilry, battled in skies over Europe in glue and bamboo planes as "Lafayetters" of the famous Lafayette Escadrille.

Death has reduced their numbers, and time has grayed their hair. But on the front line of bomber and fighter stations of the American air forces that brilliant pursuit squadron lives, with at least eight of the members of the old organization on the firing line.

Some, like Major Rufus Rand, wealthy Minneapolis business man, share the cold comfort of advance stations, and as intelligence chiefs of Flying Fortress squadrons impart their flying wisdom to a new generation of daredevils.

Others, like Lieutenant Colonel Har-

FIRST GRADUATION SLATED SATURDAY

The first class of air navigators to complete their training at the Monroe AAF Navigation school will be graduated next Saturday, and the graduation exercises will serve also to mark the realization of full operations on the field, it was announced yesterday by Colonel Norris B. Harbold, commanding officer.

Col. Harbold declared that the speakers at the exercises probably would include Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce, commanding general of the Southeast Army Air Forces Training Center, Maxwell field, Ala. He said also that an invitation had been sent to Governor Sam H. Jones to take part in the speaking program. Others to whom invitations were issued to be present as guests of honor were state and local officials, it was added.

Admission to the exercises will be by invitation.

In keeping with the exigencies of wartime, the ceremony will be characterized by simplicity and directness, rather than by elaborate size or settings.

Second-Front Demand Becomes Stronger As Russians Hold Nazis

Interpretation By

Kirke L. Simpson

(Wide World War Analyst)

Bolstered by a month-long Russian defense of Stalingrad that has stirred the whole Allied world to amazed admiration, public demand for Anglo-American second front operations now, not next year, to relieve pressure on Soviet lines reached new intensity at the week-end.

Warnings of high Allied spokesmen against premature action went unheeded. Even the grim portents of heavy Canadian casualties at Dieppe and indicated near disaster for the British in the Tobruk raid failed to abate the calls for aggressive allied action in the west voiced not only in Moscow but on both sides of the Atlantic.

Windell Willkie's talks with Soviet officialdom as President Roosevelt's personal emissary added fuel to the fire. He also noted keen Russian disappointment at Anglo-American failure as yet to move in effectively except by air to divert German pressure.

Yet decision as to both the when and where of so stupendous an undertaking cannot conceivably be reached overnight or be based on any but utterly realistic military appraisal of the possibilities.

There is none too certain indication that the Allied strategic councils in Washington and London are fully informed as to either Nazi or Russian dispositions or the actual inroads into Axis reserve strength the five-month battle in Russia has cost. That they have been heavy is certain; but just

ONE SCRAP DRIVE MAY GET ENOUGH

Steel Men Urge Thorough Job In Getting Every Bit Of Metal

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 — (AP) — If Americans make an extraordinarily thorough job of digging up every bit of scrap metal from homes and farms in the drive now getting under way, steel men said today it may not be necessary to tap those sources again.

They explained, however, that time in the battle against the Axis is of the essence, and it was absolutely essential to the national security and for the protection of lives of millions of American soldiers and sailors, that the scrap job between now and January 1 be done with all the vigor that can be put into it.

This explanation was made on the eve of the nation's newspapers' intensive three-week drive in most states—it is already under way in some—to bring out every bit of metal that is not now essential. Everything is wanted from old keys, button hooks and bread tins to big things like idle steam engines. Nothing can be overlooked.

Said Irving S. Olds, chairman of the United States Steel corporation:

"The newspapers of America are an indispensable ally of industry in fui-

CONVOY ESCORTED BY 75 BRITISH WARSHIPS

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed tonight that Seventy-five British warships of varying sizes were employed" in guarding the big convoy of Russian, American and British ships which Nazi planes and submarines attacked in the Arctic sea early this month.

The convoy, he said in a speech at Leamington, carried "the largest total of munitions yet transported in a single passage from Britain and the United States" and he added that the delivery of these goods "which included large numbers of aircraft, tanks, guns, much ammunition and valuable stores of all kinds, was a great feat of arms."

The British and American air war on Germany is increasing in effectiveness, the foreign secretary said.

"It would be a grave mistake to underrate the influence of our bomber offensive against Germany on the whole course of the war.

"In the first 14 days of September, 1942, no less than 5,000 tons of bombs were dropped in nine raids, an average of 500 tons each raid."

"Only twice did the Nazis drop more than 400 tons of bombs on us in one night, each time on London—a vast area five times the size of Cologne where we already have dropped 1,000 tons of bombs in ninety minutes," Eden said.

"It now appears that the damage to Duesseldorf is on the same scale as Cologne, and that at Karlsruhe and Mainz is hardly less. The bombing offensive has, in fact, justified itself already."

BELIEVES SUMMER MAY BE TOO LATE TO AID RUSSIANS

Statement Comes As Hitler Finds Own Situation None Too Good

GRAVE TROUBLE RISES IN BOTH FRANCE AND NORWAY

Reds Feel They Are Shouldering All Burden Of War With Nazis

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Bluntly warning that "next summer might be too late," Wendell L. Willkie declared today, "I now am convinced that we can best help Russia by establishing a real second front in Europe with Great Britain at the earliest possible moment our military leaders will approve."

"And perhaps some of them will need some public prodding," Willkie said of the leaders upon whose shoulders rest the task of deciding when and where the Allies must strike at Hitler.

Willkie expressed his second front ideas in a written statement issued as he completed a visit in Russia which included a trip to the central front and meetings with Premier Joseph Stalin and Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov.

"It is easy to sit in comfort in America and read about Russians dying by the thousands to hold Stalingrad," Willkie said. "But I found it difficult to explain to the Russian soldier, for example, at the front why America and England are not ready now to fight in Europe in direct attacks on Germany.

"He wasn't impressed with the risks which our experts had pointed out to me."

Willkie said "We must redouble our efforts to get tanks, airplanes and trucks here and every other implement of war."

"With our growing ship production we must build a bridge of supplies to Russia," he declared.

Willkie asserted that if the United States does not send food to Russia this winter millions may go hungry.

RUSSIA IS GIVEN WILLKIE'S SUPPORT

By Fred Vanderschmidt

STATE OPPOSES PIPELINE PLAN

Governor Vigorously Opposes 'Draining' Of Monroe Gas Field

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Louisiana, through its chief executive, today expressed extreme opposition to a plan of the Hope Natural Gas company of West Virginia, subsidiary of the Standard Oil system, to construct a natural gas pipeline from the Monroe gas field to West Virginia.

"Louisiana will vigorously oppose the plan to drain this state's gas fields for the benefit of industries in West Virginia," said Governor Sam Jones in a statement recalling that the state legislature this summer adopted a resolution expressing opposition against further construction of gas pipelines from Louisiana.

"West Virginia has a thousand year coal supply," Jones added, "and Louisiana has about 25 year supply of natural gas. This proposal will result in the impoverishment of our state

The firm recently was given a grant by the maritime commission for construction of 15 additional Liberty cargo vessels, making a total of 76.

NELSON SHIFTS TO ALLOCATION

Major Change Gets No Heralding Except Pledge To 'Get Tough'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—In a major reorganization which got no heralding save his pledge to "get tough," Chairman Donald M. Nelson was well advanced today in efforts to liquidate two major war production board problems—the faltering flow of materials and friction with the armed services.

From high WPB sources it was learned that Nelson has ordered a wide-open throttle in the transition from priorities to allocations in covering the flow of scarce materials into war plants.

By transplanting Ferdinand Eberstadt, head of the army-navy munitions board, to his right hand as vice-chairman of WPB, Nelson served notice that any conflict between WPB and military officials might be considered "a dead duck," in the words of one official, who may not be quoted by name.

Instructions have issued from Nelson's office to replace the priority system—now, in its refined form, the production requirements plan or "PRP"—as rapidly as possible with an allocation system which will give each manufacturer his slice of the materials pie along with his war contract.

All but about 20 per cent of production will be under this pattern when the transition is complete. Con-

Gas Rationing Will Start November 22

Nation-Wide Basic Amount To Be Slightly Under Four Gallons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. — (AP) — Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced tonight that the nation-wide gasoline rationing would start probably about November 22 with a basic ration of slightly under four gallons a week.

Motor fuel rationing for the country's 27,000,000 private vehicles—patterned after the system now in effect on the Atlantic seaboard will be merged with tire rationing into a single program, Henderson said. He did not explain how this would be accomplished.

Earlier in the day Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, called for a nationwide speed limit of 35 miles an hour. Compliance with this, Henderson announced, will be a basic requirement for obtaining both tire and gasoline rations.

In addition, tires on all cars must be submitted every 60 days after rationing starts for on-wheel inspection to insure that proper care is given them.

The 35-mile limit speed limit on all highways and streets was decreed in an official ODT order. It did not carry enforcement or penal provisions but Eastman said he would request the governors of all states to make

NORWEGIANS RUIN QUISLING PARADE

Patriots Burn Stacks Of Traitor's Papers And Fire Buildings

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Norway's German-occupied capital of Oslo was reported tonight on the verge of a state of siege after Norwegian patriots and R. A. F. bombers had combined to spread fire and havoc in the elaborate settings of a convention of the Quisling Nazi puppet party.

Free Norwegian reports from Sweden said the patriots had smashed into the Bislep sports stadium in advance of a Quisling parade, burned stacks of the Quisling paper, "Fritt Folk" and damaged some buildings by fire. Numerous street fights also were reported as the result of distribution of leaflets urging Norwegians to boycott Quisling youth parades.

Vidkun Quisling, fuming with rage following disruption of his convention Friday afternoon by four R. A. F. planes which dropped bombs from 100 feet on Gestapo buildings, declared during a reconvened meeting today:

"Now they are sending murder planes to Oslo!"

He claimed the victims were "ordinary people" and that the raid was directed against the Norwegian nasjonal samling (Nazi) party, not against German troops. Four persons were killed and 40 wounded, he said.

Admitting the revolt against his regime was growing even among his so-called followers, the principal Nor-

Dr. S. E. Field of the Field Memorial hospital at Centreville where they were treated, said Col. Sossaman suffered fractures of both knee caps and right ankle and Mrs. Sossaman had a broken right ankle and lacerations. Neither was considered critically hurt.

The accident happened about 3 p.m. yesterday.

Faces Mounting Hardships With Supplies Nearing Exhaustion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Japanese-occupied Manila was pictured today by Americans recently returned to this country as an isolated and uneasy capital, facing mounting hardships with supplies nearing exhaustion.

The Philippine capital was said to be almost as remote from other parts of the Philippines as from the United States, without postal or telegraph service and with trains running only to two nearby points.

On the basis of detailed information supplied by some of the 13 Americans who returned from the Philippines last month on the Swedish diplomatic exchange liner Gripsholm, a volunteer "relief for Americans in the Philippines" committee reported in a circular to parents and friends of internees:

"There are no medicines, not a scrap of leather, very little soap, no brushes, toothpaste, paper, nor other mate-

ALLIED AIR FORCES BOMB 3 JAP SHIPS

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sunday, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Allied air forces pounded Japanese ground forces in New Guinea and heavily bombed three ships in that area, sinking one of them, a communique said today.

A Japanese transport was sunk off the Trobriand islands, east of New Guinea, while an unidentified ship in the harbor at Rabaul, New Britain, received a direct hit by a 1,000-pound bomb in a low-level night attack by heavy bombers.

Three possible hits were scored on another vessel at Rabaul. Searchlight positions were machinegunned during the attack and were finally extinguished. All Allied planes returned to their bases.

The situation was reported unchanged in the Owen Stanley mountains, north of Port Moresby, main Allied base in New Guinea, where some Japanese outposts were reported the previous day to have withdrawn under Allied pressure.

Allied attack planes, however, continued their sweeps over Japanese ground forces, strafing their supply lines and positions near Efogi, about 40 miles from Port Moresby.

Allied heavy bombers also attacked dispersal areas of the Japanese airdrome at Buna, invasion base in the southeast coast of New Guinea, but results could not be observed.

Three enemy bombers made a night attack on Darwin, Australia, without causing either damage or casualties.

Navy Gridders Show Power As Season Gets Under Way

By Herb Barker

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The navy's pre-flight gridiron representatives uncovered surprising power and smoothness today as the nation's first war-time football season in 25 years got under way.

At Evanston, the Iowa Sea-Hawks, coached by Lieutenant Colonel Bernie Bierman, rolled past Northwestern of the Big Ten, 20-12, with Bill Schatzer, Dick Fisher and Mal Kutner doing most of the damage. Penn, highly touted favorite to retain its Ivy league championship, fell before the Georgia pre-flight outfit, 14-6, finding such former pro and college stars as Frank Filchock, Charlie Timmons, Billy Patterson, Bob Foxx and Jim Poole too much to handle. Harvard took an expected beating at Cambridge from the North Carolina pre-flight school, 13-0, bowing finally to a fourth quarter surge, led by Len Eshmont, which yielded both touchdowns. A last-minute field goal gave St. Mary's pre-flight a 10-9 triumph over Oregon.

Rolling right along with the naval cadets were such collegiate standbys as Minnesota, Texas and Duke but Notre Dame and Tennessee each had to swallow a bitter pill in the shape of tie scores. Notre Dame found Wisconsin, Big Ten dark-horse, plenty tough and had to be content with a 7-7 draw. Tennessee, figured as a Southeastern contender, was held to a scoreless stalemate by South Carolina.

Bill Daley scored four touchdowns as Minnesota scored its 18th successive victory, a 50-7 rout of once powerful Pittsburgh. Texas, following on its 40-0 rout of Corpus Christi naval station, handed Kansas State a terrific 64-0 drubbing. Duke wo handily from Davidson, 21-0, but looked none too impressive.

One of the minor surprises of the day was scored by William and Mary, Southern conference dark-horse entry, which spilled the naval academy's green team, 3-0, on a field goal by

SOVIET TROOPS PUSH ANEW INTO NAZI POSITIONS

No Details Given Of Fighting Inside Wrecked, Burning City

Foe Launches Five New Attacks In Caucasus Without Success

By Eddy Gilmore

MOSCOW, Sunday, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Soviet troops pushed onward into German positions northwest of the smoking city of Stalingrad yesterday, the Russians announced today as the Red army's official organ declared "there now is a chance to hold and repulse the Fascists" who have been battering at the Volga river city for 33 days.

The midnight Soviet communique acknowledged that the Germans had launched repeated counterattacks northwest of the city, where the Russians are threatening to cut off their communications, but said all these thrusts were repelled with 2,000 casualties for the enemy.

"Soviet troops succeeded in advancing somewhat," it said.

The communique gave no details of fighting inside the wrecked and burning city, but previous reports had indicated the Russian defenders were stiffening slowly and still were sufficiently in command of the Volga waterway to get supplies from the east bank.

Heavy fighting also continued near Mozdok in the Caucasus, where the Germans were said to have launched five attacks without making any gains toward the Grozny oil field, main objective of the southern drive.

The communique said the Germans were continuing their attacks in the Black sea region, southeast of Novorossisk, but that here too all attacks were repulsed and "large numbers of enemy troops wiped out."

On the northwestern front in the area of Sinyavino other German attacks were stopped, the communique said.

Stalingrad's commanders literally had gone into the city's caved cellars in their gallant stand, while from the north Soviet relief columns threw back a new and vicious German counterattack, advanced and occupied what the noon-day communique called "a more advantageous position."

The German communique said several Communist party headquarters buildings near the Volga had been occupied by the Nazis at Stalingrad,

The stars who will make brief talks at the breakfast are Laraine Day, Vera Zorina and Andy Devine. They will arrive here late Tuesday night and will leave following the breakfast for Alexandria, where they will appear at a luncheon.

In each of the cities the size of Monroe the quota for war bond sales for the breakfast has been set at $250,000. Members of the Monroe committee expressed hope that the quota would be met here but again urged local citizens to redouble their efforts to reach the goal.

BIGGEST SHOW KIWANIS PLAN

Ministrel Performance Will Be Most Elaborate Ever Attempted Here

The Monroe Kiwanis club is making elaborate plans for the staging of "Hooray America," an outstanding minstrel show and revue "hit" of the season, to be presented at Neville High auditorium on Thursday night, October 8.

"Hooray America," embodying a cast of eighty local thespians and artists, marks the third annual production undertaken by the club under the professional direction of John B. Rogers Producing Company, world's largest producers of amateur entertainments.

The entire proceeds, as before, will be devoted to the Kiwanis fund to administer to the needs of the underprivileged children in the Monroe area.

During the past eighteen months, according to John Scott, finance chairman, the club has dispensed 4,347 quarts of grade A milk to these needy little folks, at a cost of $503.85. Another highly commendable charity was the fitting of thirty pairs of glasses to the eyes of those who could not afford these necessary aids to sight. This represented a total cost of $157.50.

Serving on the special committee devoted to this charitable work are Dr. A. L. Peters, chairman; Dr. C. P. Gray, Dr. W. E. Jones, Dr. Irving Wolf and Kurt Theis. In addition to the quantities of milk and eye-glasses supplied gratis in these worthy cases, an untold amount of free professional service was tendered by the physicians and oculists in charge of this laudable program.

General chairmen A. V. Breard, E. N. Thompson and Jack Russell are looking forward to a generous response on the part of the public in attendance at the performance. "It isn't that we are asking for a donation from the good people of Monroe," said Mr. Breard, "but we have a wonderful show to offer, well worth more than the price of admission, so that they can help us to help the poor, neglected little fellow and see a grand performance at the same time."

"Hooray America" presented in two parts, consisting of a revue first part, embodying eight acts of vaudeville, musical comedy, specialties and dance numbers, with a gigantic minstrel second part as a usual "take-off" of some of the characters, actual and fictional, in the history and tradition of America. Christopher Columbus, Queen Isabella, Pocahontas, Miles Standish, John Alden, Priscilla and the demure Pilgrim damsels come in for their share of laughs in a grossly reversed edition of the geographic and history books while the Belles of the 1920's" and "The Original Medicine Show" add to the comical version of down-to-earth quips portraying Americana. The musical show, titled "Washington Whirligig" depicts a "circle" of Congressmen and their "ladies," with the interlocutor as "The Speaker of the House" and the blackfaced "end men" as "Page Boys." "Hooray America" has been commented upon by the press critics as "A second Scots of Fun" and "Two hours of the most laughable entertainment I have ever witnessed."

WASHINGTON—Here are the post-office department's recommendations for Christmas mail to service men outside the United States;

1. Parcels, letters and cards should be mailed between October 1 and November 1—the sooner the better, regardless of where you live or where the article is going. Delivery cannot be guaranteed if it is postmarked after November 1.

2. Gift packages should be marked "Christmas Parcel."

3. Parcels should not exceed 11 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. If possible, hold them to six pounds and the size of a shoebox.

4. Don't send food (except hard candies) or clothing. Service men have plenty of both. Don't send anything inflammable like matches or lighter fluid. Don't send intoxicants.

5. Wrap packages substantially but fix them so they may be easily opened for censorship inspection. Be sure that smaller packages, inside the big package, are tightly packed.

6. Postage must be fully prepaid. Consult your postoffice for Parcel Post rates. Better insure packages.

7. Such messages as "Merry Christmas," "Do Not Open Until Christmas," etc., are permitted if they do not interfere with the address.

8. Don't send cash gifts. Use money orders. Some countries have a law against importing foreign money, but money orders may be cashed anywhere.

WILSON FAVORS FARM BLOC PLAN

Louisiana Commissioner Asks Support Of Production Cost Measure

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Harry D. Wilson, state agriculture commissioner, announced today he had asked members of the Louisiana delegation in congress to support the farm bloc proposal to include cost of labor in any new parity formula for price control of farm products.

Wilson's statement, issued in the department's weekly market bulletin, follows:

"Congress now has before it price control legislation, and the farmers are insisting that the increased cost of farm labor should be included in any new parity formula that is offered to the congress.

"I have wired Louisiana's senators and representatives appealing to them to support a proposal to amend the parity formula in the price control bill by including the cost of farm labor. I also told them that I am sure they realized that farm labor is very scarce and is exceedingly high. Practically all of the best help has gone either to the army or industrial plants. In all fairness to agriculture, labor cost should be included in any formula offered.

"The farmers are not trying to take advantage of the general public in making this demand to consider farm labor costs. The increased cost of labor, as well as of materials and machinery, have naturally increased the cost of production of all crops. Farming is a most hazardous occupation because it is dependent upon the weather, insect pests, and other conditions.

"We want the consuming public to understand that the farmer is not making unreasonable demands when he asks congress that the cost of labor be considered in fixing parities."

NEGRO DROWNING HELD ACCIDENTAL

The coroner's jury Saturday held an inquest into the death by drowning of Loel Brown, 14-year-old colored boy, who died in the Ouachita river about ten days ago. Dr. J. T. French, coroner of Ouachita parish, announced the decision of the jury was death by accidental drowning.

Margie Goldman, white girl who was paddling the boat from which Brown jumped, testified that he had asked her to take him half way across the river, saying he would swim the rest of the way. When they got in the middle of the river, Brown jumped out of the boat, and promptly sank.

Lila Brown, white girl who had been in the water, hanging on to the back of the boat, climbed into it at this point. When the boy sank, the girls held out the paddle to him and tried to reach him to pull him up. He would not take the paddle, or try to get to the boat, although it was as close as three feet to him, the two girls testified.

When they could not reach Brown, the girls returned to the Monroe bank of the river to call for help. The body was not recovered for several days.

Second Front Discord

The misunderstanding between Moscow, on the one hand, and London and Washington on the other, about a second land front in Europe is distressing but not at all surprising. It has seemed inevitable ever since the London-Washington announcement last June that the three United Nations were in agreement as to "the urgent task of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

Obviously this was one of those matters on which the public could not be given even the vaguest hint as to details. Speculation, therefore, spread in all directions in the free press of Britain and the United States.

In Russia the press is not free. Speculation there took the direction that the government considered wisest. Judging from reports, the Russians were given assurance that the Anglo-American forces definitely would come to their assistance by attacking Hitler from the rear—that is, from the west.

This situation and its statement involve no criticism of the Russian course.

Quite apparently, as we now can see, those speculators were correct who considered the statement as a weapon in a war of nerves.

To the extent that the Russians' unfounded hope for a second land front may have contributed to the doggedness with which they have resisted Hitler's hordes this summer, perhaps the statement justified itself.

To the extent to which the Nazis were made uncertain whether we might be silly enough to attempt an invasion of the continent without proper preparation or adequate resources, the strategy may have helped Russia by keeping some Reich strength away from the eastern front for a time.

Nobody can blame the Russians, desperate as they are, for trying to induce us to come to their rescue on a second front. After all, Stalin's primary interest is in Russia—not in Britain, not in the United States, not in the United Nations, and not in democracy. Self-preservation still is the first law of nature for nations as for individuals.

By the same token, nobody can find justified fault with the British and us for not committing national suicide by invading the continent this summer.

Starting from militarily naked scratch, with all our irritating and discouraging failures we have done a good job of arming. We are nearly ready to translate local petty offensives into the beginning of a grand sweep that, in course of time, will destroy totalitarianism completely.

If Russia can hold out for what now will be a short while, she will be amply repaid in new fronts—second, third, fourth and perhaps fifth.

INVENTORY CONTROL

Copper, both pure and in alloys, is so scarce as to constitute a major production bottleneck. But the War Production board has found a lot of copper, brass, etc., lying around doing nobody any good.

Thus far 15,000 tons—29,700,000 pounds, to be exact—has been recovered from places where it was lying idle, and has been put to work. Part was in idle inventories. Some was usable without reworking. Some had to be remelted.

This is going to be a major WPB task from now on—recovering critical materials that were lost in the early confusion and getting them to producers who, without them, will be unable to get ahead with war work.

GO SLOW—FOR VICTORY

Are you one of us who burn up when the tire torturers streak by, at a hot 50?

Do you get all bothered when the other fellow reels around the curve, his tires squealing in protest against such sabotage of our economy?

Does it make you want to commit mayhem when the light turns red and a speedster snaps on his brakes and slides to a stop?

The National Safety council has a suggestion which in time might help. In such cases, give the hog three shorts and a raucous long on your horn—International Morse for Victory's V.

WELCOME, MRS. ROOSEVELT

It is encouraging to learn that, after these many years, the first lady has paused to think about Communism.

At very long last, Mrs. Roosevelt has repudiated the idea that we can trust "an American group that, in turn, is controlled by Russia and Russia's interest." She makes it clear that one may "admire Russia and the wonderful fight that Russia is putting up," and concede that "Russia has a right to the kind of government that Russians desire to have," without allying one's self with the Communist party in the United States.

Coming from Mrs. Roosevelt this constitutes powerful support for those who keep urging that if we can lick Hitler at all, we can do it in the American way.

A survey shows that one physician should not try to serve more than 1,500. And not many of those should be hypochondriacs.

Laugh of the Week: (By Vic McLaglen) A parsimonious Scot who came to America in search of a fortune, spent his first month in New York without finding a job. Wandering down to the Battery, he sat on a pier, gloomily regretting the money he'd spent on ship fare. Just then, a diver who'd been working on a submerged hulk, stuck his helmet above water and started to climb up the pier's ladder. The Scot stared unbelievingly, then uttered a curse. "If I'd only been as canny as yon laddie," he wailed, "I could'a walked over—and saved the money!"

TCF's "Springtime in the Rockies" (Betty Grable-John Payne-Carmen Miranda). Good music and good comedy with America's most spectacular scenery for a back-drop. . . . OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

Trying to hold on to anything makes one tense, and tension checks free thought and free movement and so stops the wheels of progress. It is natural for us to hold on tight to what we are doing, to the idea in mind, to all that we think is important. That is not a bad idea, but there is a time to hold on and a time to let go, and teachers, for their own health's sake, must learn when to let go.

All teachers are intent upon getting the work laid down for the grade completed on time and in good form and to a high standard of success. Teaching children is a difficult task at any time; but now, with the tensions of home and everywhere else, it is a very trying one. If the teacher is not careful he will become so tense in his effort to get his usual work done despite the situation that he will be less effective instead of more so.

When the orders come to break routine and do something out of the ordinary, let go of the usual thing completely. Accept the new order and put it through and forget the one it has displaced. By trying to teach the daily lesson while the time set for it is consumed in listening to a speech by some patriotic leader in the assembly, is to spoil both experiences for the pupils, for they are quick to feel the teacher's attitude.

Let go of the lesson and give the speech the right of way. Do it with an easy gesture so that no sign of tension, no sign of worry, is evident. Open both hands and shake the fingers loose so that you are not tempted to clutch the thing you have had to give up.

Teachers and other folk as well, must learn to live with open hands these days because there is much that we must let go. It is better to live with open hands at all times, but particularly so now. Life will have its way and war, just now, is a way of life.

Don't clutch anything. Live easily, and let life flow unobstructedly through you, and you will discover that you have more of the things you value than when you held on to them with grim determination.

No material thing is worth clutching and it is not possible to hold the intangible things of the spirit, those most worth holding. They abide with us if we open our hearts and minds to them, and keep our hands open.

We are fighting a war not to keep our cars, our homes and our possessions, but to keep our freedom. Freedom is a matter of the spirit, and if we maintain that, we are free. If we are free we have the power to add all other things to ourselves. When we clutch and cling to ideas that cannot be put into actualities, or into realities of the spirit, we are no longer free. We are being dominated by something outside because we have closed our fists upon it.

Let go in spirit all those things that do not matter, all those things that would burden our lives and get in the way of our freedom. The first thing that threatens this is self-will. Our way, our will be done, is what makes the tight hand and the tighter mind and the end of spiritual freedom. Let go those things that do not matter, the routines, the preferences, the comforts, and live with open hands so that life may flow through us with ease and power and bring us enrichment of spirit and additional power.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson for October 4
Text: Acts 16:13-15; Romans 5:1-11

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor Of Advance)

From the quarter's studies in Genesis we turn now to studies for the last quarter of the year in the Christian life in its individual and personal aspect, and in family and church. The lesson material is drawn from various sources in the Gospels and the Epistles, and also its supplementary passages in the Old Testament. This is the first of three lessons dealing with personal and individual life.

The studies begin naturally with faith in Christ as our personal Saviour. That, of course, is the one and only foundation for the Christian life. Man may have much natural or acquired goodness, he may manifest fine qualities of life as a citizen and in his family, but he cannot be a Christian or lead a Christian life without a very definite faith in Christ and relationship to Christ as his personal Saviour.

Perhaps a question that is in many minds at the outset is, Why should one be a Christian? Is it not enough to live a good life, to be honest and faithful in all of life's relationships, not only in the home and family but toward all one's fellow men? The answer to this is given to us very specifically in the Bible itself, even if we did not find the answer in daily life. Most men are conscious of their imperfections. There are few who would say that they have done all that they could in the obligation of love and righteousness, and if they did so, they would be in danger of being like the Pharisee who congratulated God and himself upon all that he did while he despised the poor Publican so conscious of his sins that he would not so much as lift up his eyes to heaven, but cried in his heart, "God be merciful to me, a sinner."

A parable like that, when we take it in relation to all of life, should remind us of the deepest thing in goodness. It is humility, and the man who is not conscious of something lacking might be found to be lacking the deepest thing of all.

Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount sets before men the ideal of perfection. There is little hope of our attaining to that ideal, but what would happen if deliberately we set something less as the goal of human life and as the standard for character?

It is to men conscious of something lacking in themselves that the Gospel comes with its message of peace and salvation. The assurance of Paul, who interprets this Gospel for us as he interpreted it for early Christians, is that if we have faith—that is, if our lives are entirely attuned to righteousness and we have accepted the grace of God—our faith is accounted for righteousness. God does not condemn us, because we love that standard and are seeking earnestly with God's help to realize it in our lives. Through His grace and mercy He renews us and gives us salvation.

This is the message of Paul. It is associated with the death and resurrection of Jesus. He tells us that Christ died for the ungodly, but he is insistent always that God was in Christ, that all that Jesus suffered and endured on earth was to reveal to us the heart of God. It was in a sense, God made man and suffering for us that he might reveal to us the richness and fullness of that love through which God sought to redeem all those who had wandered away from him or who had failed to realize the true goal of life. "God commended his own love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

Personal peace underlies personal salvation and personal righteousness. We cannot experience the richness and fullness of the Christian life if there is discord and strife within our own souls. Paul when he manifested these things was speaking out of his own experience. In his life there had been a great struggle, and his conversion was the result of this struggle within when the light dawned upon him while he was persecuting Christians on the way to Damascus, and the experience was so extreme that it seemed for the time being to affect even his physical well-being.

Here is the one foundation of the Christian life; It begins in faith and in the fact that we are reconciled to God through Christ. But this is only the foundation and only the beginning of the Christian life; upon it we can build through constant faith the superstructure of lives that are Christlike.

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—If you are on the uncalled selective service rolls or have relatives or a sweetheart there, the best thing you can do at the moment is not let the smoke screen of confusion get you down.

Selective service is in that state of flux which has come to almost everything in the United States war plans. The trouble is that we started building on a foundation far too small and weak for the superstructure this war demands. Now, to save the whole business from collapsing, we have to jack up what buil ing we have, and slide a new foundation under it.

That already has happened in war industry and it isn't certain yet that the foundation is big enough to carry the load. That is what is happening now in the efforts to solve the problems of inflation and of rubber. That is what is going to happen to manpower—both manpower for the armed forces and manpower for production of supplies for those forces.

It may be done by a complete overhauling of the existing policies of deferment. It may be done by new legislation. But a sure sign that it will be done is the confusion of statements and confusion of thought now emanating from Washington.

Out of the muddle, there are a few things that are becoming pretty certain in the minds of closest Washington observers.

(1) Unless this war collapses within a year, we are going to have an army of 10,000,000 men or more—about two and a half times what we now have.

(2) The 18- 19-year-old lads will be drafted after the first of the year. There are about 1,000,000, perhaps 1,500,000 in this group. (Committee hearings are starting now on this legislation in both houses of Congress.)

(3) There undoubtedly will be a suspension of recruiting. The navy policy (all navy personnel so far is recruited) is all that is holding this up now. The reason for stopping voluntary enlistments is the necessary control of all available manpower. (Shortages of manpower in many communities and a number of industries already have occurred because the boys dashed to the colors before they were called.)

(4) Unmarried men with dependents and married men without children will be called eventually, probably soon, but close attention will be given to avoiding actual hardship cases. (This is just about draft headache No. 1, though there are no priorities on headaches in selective service.)

(5) It is possible that the present size of the army can be a little better than doubled before it will be necessary to call married men with children. When that time will come is uncertain and can only be guessed at by adding up selective service estimates. Best guess: the end of 1943.

Other than this there is very little worth considering in the prognostications on the future of selective service.

LENWIL HOLDING 1ST P.-T. A. MEET

The Lenwil P.-T. A. held the first meeting of the current year Wednesday. The members entered into the spirit of a P.-T. A. with even more vim than the previous year.

Miss Joiner read the national president's message. Mrs. Krumm gave the advantages of a live P.-T. A. to the mothers of the community and to the school. Mrs. Owens gave "Why a National Congress."

Most of the afternoon was taken up in discussing the completion of the cafeteria and launching the lunch program. Mrs. Burns made an able talk on the efficacy of hot lunches to the children of the school. She gave a list of foods to be used in such a program. A good cold lunch prepared at home was also mentioned.

The fathers were invited to meet at the school Saturday to finish the cafeteria. Plans were discussed for equipping it. Committees were appointed to make all arrangements to attend to these things. Those who could not come Saturday were asked to come Sunday.

The president announced the district meeting for October 8 and urged all the members who could to attend. This meeting is to be held at the Sherrouse school.

The largest count of parents present fell to the second grade, Miss Milton, teacher. There were fathers present as well as a large number of mothers. So much enthusiasm was manifested at this first meeting, we are expecting great things of the Lenwil P.-T. A. during 1942-43.

CHECKER TOURNEY TO BE HELD TODAY

The fall championship tournament of the Northeast Louisiana Checker association will be held this afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, in the auditorium of the West Monroe city hall.

Among the 20 or more contestants expected to participate will be Champion Tom J. Bond and former Champion R. M. Enloe, both of Dubach. Anyone now living in northeast Louisiana is eligible to participate.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK.—Diary: Mr. Jack Stevens, sports writer, and aircaster, tells me he owes his career to encouraging words written by O. O. McIntyre. Stevens was discouraged, with hazy plans for the future, after much schooling. He read under McIntyre's name that anybody can learn to write, if he plugs away at it long and hard enough . . . So Jack just feels that he must tell me about it . . . Thanks; I love to hear such stories. And I'm sending Mr. Stevens an original sheet of Odd's copy, which I happen to have by me, as a memento of the man he admires so much . . . To those loyal readers who continue to inquire about Daughter Pat: After four weeks in bed, from pneumonia, she's able to sit up on the balcony and catch a bit of autumn sunshine, for half an hour a day. But don't believe anybody who tells you that pneumonia is a joke, now that we have the sulfa drugs. Sometimes sulfa works; sometimes it doesn't.

No such unpopular ukase has been issued in this town in my time as the appeal made on the air by Mayor La Guardia to little boys, asking them to report secretly to him if their fathers gamble or bet on the ponies.

Educators denounced the effort to get boys to snitch on their fathers as immoral, and tending to disrupt families.

One newspaper interviewed boys, from end to end of the town, and summed up the answers in the words of one East Side barefoot youngster: "No. I wouldn't snitch on my old man and get him into jail. That's crazy. He's my dad, ain't he?"

It was recalled that the Soviet government decorated a boy who betrayed his father and got him shot for alleged hoarding of grain that he himself had produced. The psychology, while appealing to our Mayor, apparently isn't accepted as good American by most New Yorkers.

Six years ago the school enrollment in New York began to decline. It has been declining at a slowly increasing rate each year since.

This year the schools opened for 56,000 fewer pupils than last year's initial enrollment.

The falling off is now noticeable in the six lower grades, and this year, for the first time, touched the first year of high school.

Only one new school building was opened this fall. A dozen buildings have been abandoned as schools in the last three years.

The decline in birth rate began with the first year of the depression, and began to affect the kindergartens five years later. There is an uptrend in the birth rate since Pearl Harbor, but it is too early to say whether it will continue through the war years.

Public and parochial schools in New York City now house 1,181,000 pupils, from kindergarten through high school.

Manuel Komroff, author, gets out a card, postcard size, when he changes his address. At the top of the card, under a heavy line, is the author's name, address, and telephone number.

To a long list of correspondents Komroff mails the card, since it becomes a postcard merely by affixing a stamp at one side.

Typed beneath the name and address of the sender is the line: "Please note and record new address."

Regular or occasional correspondents can slip this card into a file to make correction in their address books or records.

Also, this gives Manuel a chance to scribble a personal line or two to friends with whom he hasn't been in regular correspondence.

Good idea.

Burton Davis, mystery story writer, is touring the country with the movie reel makers for war bond sales. He goes ahead of the crew, visits factories and farms, and works up interest that will help sell bonds. Usually he gets factory workers at their lunches, then shots of them, talking about the war and the bonds. He finds morale high and bond-buying encouraging.

'DUD' DETERLY IS NOW LIEUTENANT

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 26.—(Special)—News has been received here from Fort McClellan, Ala., that Corporal Hoskins L. "Dud" Deterly, formerly of this city, has been promoted to the rank of a second lieutenant in Company C of the 23rd battalion of the seventh regiment at the Alabama training camp, where he has been attending officers candidate school.

Lieutenant Deterly, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Deterly, is well known throughout this section, having been employed by the local postoffice prior to his induction. He was first sent to Camp Shelby, Miss., but received his basic training at Fort McClellan, near Anniston, Ala., where he is now stationed. He expects to be transferred shortly to the army postoffice department. Recently Lieutenant Deterly qualified as a sharpshooter at the training camp and has won many other honors. He was master of ceremonies for a number of shows presented at the camp by the USO and also had the honor of being one of two men selected out of the entire camp to give Lincoln's Gettysburg address on a recent program presented at the camp.

BIG LOUISIANA CROP HARVESTED

Authorities In Some Areas Find Way To Force Idle To Work

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Harvesting Louisiana's big crops under wartime conditions with labor none too plentiful has required some authorities in rural areas just to barge ahead on their own and deal with conditions as they arise.

Farm leaders realize their big problem and principal contribution to the war efforts is to get the crops off the farm without waste. Just how they go about it, under the emergency situation, is relatively non-important.

Those familiar with farm labor conditions say that in Louisiana while there's some scarcity of manpower for the harvest, the bulk of a bountiful cotton crop needed for wartime supplies already has been picked.

In some instances this job required cutting corners in order to get pickers in the fields in sufficient numbers at the proper time. That is also true of the forthcoming sugar cane harvest. Labor experts say there still are enough workers available if they are rounded up and put to work.

Conditions may be less favorable next fall with the expanding armed forces and industrial labor demand.

For the time being the job is to get the farm labor on hand to go to work. This was the motivating idea of farm leaders in sponsoring the "work or fight" measure killed at the recent special session of the legislature. Approved by the house but defeated in the senate, where members jokingly said the bill might even require them to go to work, the measure would have required all able-bodied men to take jobs or be fined or jailed. A similar law was placed in operation in Louisiana during World war I.

Sheriffs and other law-enforcement officers in rural areas have taken the law into their own hands on occasions to get workers out into the cotton fields and now the attorney general's office has determined there is a basis in law for making men do a job in the war emergency.

This finding came about through a query to Governor Sam Jones from the American Legion post at Rayville, in the north Louisiana delta section of Richland parish. Legionnaires wanted to know if there was some authority in Louisiana law to put idlers to work, particularly in harvesting war crops.

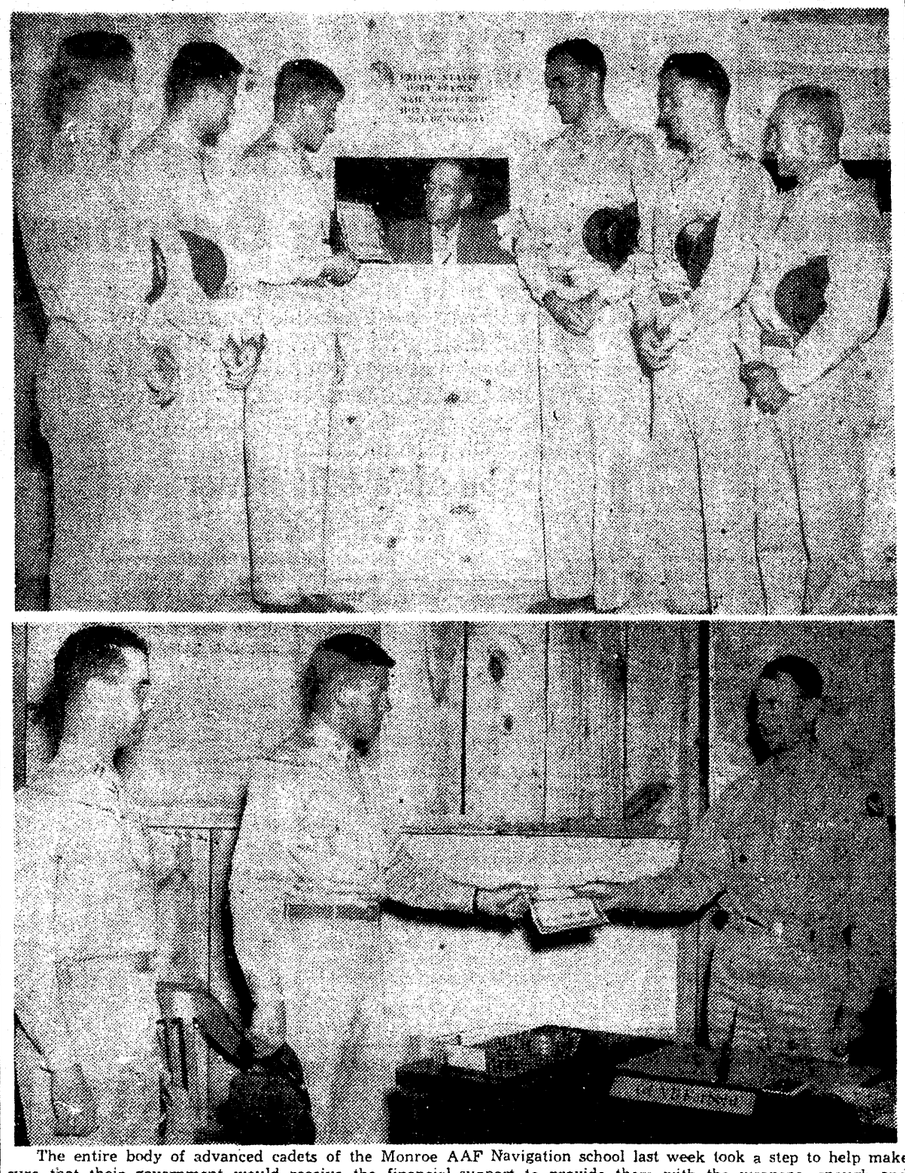
Special Assistant Attorney General Francis R. Edwards has informed Governor Jones that "one problem can probably be very well solved under the provisions of the new criminal code" adopted by the legislature this summer. Edwards advised that the far-reaching definitions concerning the crime of vagrancy seem to provide sufficient authority for putting men to work "in all parishes where the sheriff and district attorney are willing to do so."

Vagrants under the criminal code include habitual drunkards, gamblers and immoral persons, loiterers around public places, and "able-bodied persons without visible means of support who do not seek employment." To Edwards, this provision—with its extreme penalty of $100 fine and six months imprisonment—constitutes a sufficient weapon with which prosecutors can keep available farm labor on the job.

Many communities in the cotton sections have taken steps to strengthen their vagrancy ordnances and thus have forced workers into the fields. Others have taken less formal yet equally effective means.

For instance Alexandria's City Judge Gus Voltz punctuated a recent court session with a stern warning that all negroes having time to spend idly listening to court proceedings would have to go into the cotton fields. Result: next day and thereafter the only negroes present were defendants or witnesses.

$1,000 WAR BOND BOUGHT BY CADETS



The entire body of advanced cadets of the Monroe AAF Navigation school last week took a step to help make sure that their government would receive the financial support to provide them with the weapons—enough and on time—they expect soon to be using against the Axis. The cadets voluntarily bought a $1,000 war bond. Among other things, this action assured cadet representation at the $250,000 bond breakfast next Wednesday, at which Laraine Day, Vera Zorina and Andy Devine will be present. Above, the cadets receive the bond in the navigation school postoffice from Walter T. Lewman, civilian postal representative on the field. Left to right, on either side of Mr. Lewman, are Cadets Walter K. Russell, of Monticello, Miss., a group adjutant; Leroy L. Kusch, of Washington, D. C., a class captain; Karl H. Brauer, of Indianapolis, Ind., first captain of cadets; Robert McClure, of Richmond, Va., and Ross H. Lawrence, of San Francisco, class captains, and Tauno H. Rivers, of Fitchburg, Mass., an assistant group supply officer.

The $1,000 bond was turned over to the Army Emergency Relief fund as soon as Cadet First Captain Karl H. Brauer could make his way from the navigation school postoffice to the office of Colonel Norris B. Harbold, commanding officer and president of the A. E. R. committee on the post. Captain D. H. O'Connell, commandant of advanced cadets, accompanied Mr. Brauer to make the donation. Lower, left to right, are Captain O'Connell, Mr. Brauer and Colonel Harbold.

Monroe Air School Navigator

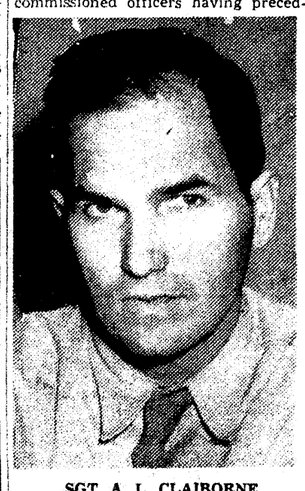
The man who is responsible on a military post for handling all correspondence entering and leaving headquarters, for the filing and distribution of copies of this correspondence, for the distribution of orders originating in headquarters from the War Department on down and for the operation of an intra-mural postal system called a message center would, in business life, be called an office manager.

In military life he is called the post sergeant major. He is a very busy individual.

At the Monroe AAF Navagition school, the post sergeant major is Technical Sergeant Amos L. Claiborne, of Mineral Wells, Texas.

Sergeant Claiborne does not, of course, personally handle all the transactions called for in the list of his responsibilities. He directs a clerical staff of respectable proportions, with other non-commissioned officers in direct charge of various phases of the sergeant major's activities. It's up to him, however, to see that the job is handled without hitches.

The sergeant was one of the earliest members of the post personnel to report to Monroe, only two other non-commissioned officers having preceded him. When he arrived here on July 17, he had five and a half years of army service behind him, and some Texas National Guard service behind that.



SGT. A. L. CLAIBORNE

His regular army service began on March 13, 1937, with an enlistment. For something over two years thereafter he was company clerk of Company A, 9th Infantry, at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. The next two years he spent at Maxwell Field, Ala., putting in eighteen months of this period as a dispatcher in the operations office.

For the year preceding his arrival at Monroe, Sgt. Claiborne was assistant post sergeant major at Turner field, Ga.

The sergeant was born Aug. 3, 1913, in Sharp, Okla. Within a year of his birth, his family moved to Olney, Tex., and, in 1926, to Mineral Wells. In the latter town, Sgt. Claiborne was graduated from the local high school, class of '31. As a student he played guard for three years on the football squad, winning a reserve letter one year; ran the mile and did the broad jump on the track squad; and played left field for the school nine.

After some three years of clerking in local firms, Sgt. Claiborne entered Texas A. & M. to study to be an accountant. In 1935, after a year at College Station, he took up studies at Adams Business college in Mineral Wells which lasted until his enlistment in the army.

Joining the Texas National guard in 1931, he saw service annually in the medical department during summer encampments 56th Cavalry brigade at Mineral Wells. His national guard service ended with his enlistment.

The sergeant is an individualist, in his own family, to say the least. Two of his brothers are in the navy. Devereaux is in naval aviation, and Leslie was a naval gunner when he last wrote.

On Christmas Day, 1940, Sergeant Claiborne married the former Miss Alma Lucille Stewart of Prattville, Ala. They have a son, Wayne, 10 months old.

One large scale activity on the field has not received much attention to date—the purchase of War bonds.

A belated effort is now made to amend this lapse.

Every one on the field, both in uniform and out, has the opportunity of buying war bonds.

The most common method by which the field's personnel are supporting the war effort in this way is through deductions in their pay. Many of the military personnel had been acquiring these securities by this means for months before they came to Monroe.

But perhaps more striking is the wholehearted support accorded to this activity by civilians.

An outstanding example in this connection is the payroll deduction program of T. L. James and Company, Inc., of Ruston. This organization, which has put up virtually all the buildings on the field and done the flying apron and much of the runway system, employs hundreds of men and women on its four local projects.

The payroll allotment plan offered by the James firm provides that the company will pay 10 per cent of the cost of bonds purchased by its employes.

The opportunity has been snapped up in a torrent of applications for payroll deductions.

The company payroll records now carry an additional column in which war bond entries are made. A representative from the home office in Ruston, Bert Warren, has spent considerable time on the field with the single job of directing the activity. On one of the projects, where the number of employes runs into four figures, Mrs. Mary Barfield, of Monroe, has a full time job keeping the records in order.

By means of a master record kept in Ruston, employes are enabled to continue their periodic pay deductions despite transfers from other James jobs to the Monroe projects, or from one project to another.

Some forty employes buy a $50 bond each week. The company has had several workers who turned over their entire pay checks for bond purchases.

Another outfit in the forefront of bond sales is the Monroe Sub-Depot of the Air Service Command.

Mrs. Edna B. Strange, of Waco, Tex., is the chairman of a committee of the civilian employes of the sub-depot, which is running a well-conceived campaign. At last reports, a month after the beginning of the campaign in the midst of heavy efforts incident to the early operations of the sub-depot, 96 per cent of the sub-depot's personnel had signed up for war bond payroll deductions.

All contracting firms on the field besides the James firm are also active in this effort.

With the task of coordinating construction activities on the Monroe field, the Kansas City firm of Black and Veatch is represented here by at least a dozen experts in such diverse lines as building construction, road building, concrete paving, electrification, track laying, drainage and sewage, and so on.

The man who, as assistant to Black and Veatch's supervising engineer, carries out the directions on the field of the supervising engineer, is Frank Highleyman, of Ogallala, Neb. Mr. Highleyman is in effect chief of the field operations.

The Ogallala engineer was out of town when the time came to collect some facts on which to base this piece. An effort was made to gather the principal facts of his career from several of his close associates. The following is the result:

Mr. Highleyman joined up with the British forces in the last war, entering the fray before this country had reached the point of declaring hostilities. He fought in Mesopotamia—Iran and Iraq are still important sectors—and did a lot of training in India.

After returning from the war he completed his studies in civil engineering at the University of Wyoming, and was graduated in due course.

Around 1924 he worked for Black and Veatch for about a year, then went to the Union Pacific railroad, there to work himself up to assistant division field engineer, or a position of equal importance. After that he was resident engineer in charge of two large irrigation developments for the Platte River Public Power and Irrigation district in Nebraska, a private agency set up under PWA.

From 1936 to 1938 he was back with Black and Veatch again, this time in charge of field work on an irrigation development on the North Loup river, Nebraska. Additional work to be done on the Platte valley project engaged him again as field engineer in 1938 to 1939. The following year he was field superintendent for the construction of river diversion installations in Colorado. Beginning in 1940 and ending in June of last year, he was engaged in airport design and construction for the Grand Island, Neb., airport.

FRANK HIGHLEYMAN

Since June 1941, Mr. Highleyman has again been with Black and Veatch working on the Greenville, Miss., Army Air Forces flying school before coming to Monroe.

A new kind of anti-freeze has been developed that contains no priority materials.

RATIONING OF FARM MACHINERY IS BEGUN

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Farm machinery rationing committees have been established in each of the 64 parishes and farm machinery, the sale of which was fozen by the OPA on September 17, now can be bought with the aid of certificates from the rationing committees, according to G. J. Durbin, chairman of the Louisiana USDA war board.

The rationing committee in each parish consists of a chairman, two members and two alternates, Durbin said, all requiered to be farmers living in the parish they serve.

Authority to handle farm machinery rationing was delegated to the United States department of agriculture and the state and parish USDA war boards by the war production board and the office of price administration.

For rationing purposes, farm machinery is divided into three groups. These are group A, machinery which can be bought only with the aid of a certificate from the rationing committee; group B, including machinery which can be bought if the buyer merely will certify that it is needed for use this year, and group C, light machinery and hand tools that can be bought without restriction.

In group A are included the following items used in Louisiana: Combines, disc harrows, feed grinders, fertilizer spreaders, grain drills, hay balers, lime spreaders, manure spreaders, milk coolers, milking machinery, pickup balers, potato diggers, shredders and tractors.

Group B includes the bulk of all farm machinery and equipment not named in group A. Group C includes hand tools and hand operated or horse drawn machinery not listed in either group A or group B.

Rationing certificates and complete lists of the machinery listed in each group can be obtained from farm machinery dealers or from parish AAA offices, Durbin said. Used machinery and repair parts are not rationed and may be bought and sold as usual.

PLAN TO ESTABLISH 24 HOSPITAL UNITS

ATLANTA, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Proposed formation of 24 base hospital units, each composed of 15 physicians subject to call in event of enemy action leading to evacuations, was announced today by the regional office of civilian defense.

The units will be affiliated with base hospitals designated in six southeastern states for the care of patients removed from vulnerable areas during an emergency.

Dr. Burt A. Dyar, regional medical officer, said invitations to form the units are being extended to five medical schools for hospitals in North Carolina, a similar number in Florida, four each in Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama and two in Mississippi.

Locations of the proposed sponsors were not revealed pending acceptances. Dr. Dyar said the unit directors will be nominated by the heads of the accepting schools or hospitals in consultation with the state chiefs of emergency medical services.

The units are a part of the joint program of the U. S. public health service and OCD's medical division for the wartime protection of the civilian population, he explained, the invitations being issued by the health service's surgeon general.

Each unit will include specialists in internal medicine, general surgeons, orthopedic surgeons, a dental surgeon, pathologist and radiologist.

GAS-OIL RATIO TO BE CHANGED

Order Will Be Issued Soon By Conservation Commissioner

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—(AP)—An order seting up a gas-oil ratio of 200 cubic feet of gas per one barrel of oil produced from wells in Louisiana, not presently affected by special orders, will be issued in the near future by Conservation Commissioner Joseph L. McHugh, he said Saturday at a statewide hearing in the Roosevelt.

The hearing which adjourned late in the day was called in the interest of conservation of natural gas in Louisiana. Under the new ratio a wasteage of 200,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily will be eliminated, oil experts agreed.

The new order will call for a reduction of the gas-oil ratio of 4,000 cubic feet of gas to one barrel of oil, the present gas-oil ratio in effect generally in the state.

Originally the minerals division of the conservation department, through H. W. Bell, director of the minerals division and Commissioner McHugh, proposed a 1,200 to one gas-oil ratio. This proposal, however, met with opposition by representatives of all major companies and independents represented at the hearing.

M. L. Cashion of Houston, representative of the Gulf Oil Refining company and chairman of the operators' committee working on plans for gas conservation in the state, proposed a graduated ratio which would begin with 500 cubic feet of gas for one barrel at depth to 1,000 feet, and increase to 3,500 cubic feet of gas per one barrel at the 10,000-foot production level.

Deep test wells in the state, Cashion insisted, cannot produce oil at a 1,200 to one ratio.

"The oil business in the state," he said, "is paying about 60 per cent of the state taxes. They also are paying their employes excellent wages and are spending plenty of money in the state. The little operator would have no chance to get out from under his present obligations, and there is no reason why the oil business should be unduly burdened.

"There is a real conservation in the ratio we propose," Cashion said, in calling for a vote of representatives of companies.

After all representatives voted that the 2,000 to one ratio would be acceptable to the oil industry, McHugh said under such conditions such a ratio was agreeable to him.

Speaking of gas wasteage, P. S. Ervin, chief engineer of the minerals division, said that in the first six months of the present year 76 billion feet of natural gas was produced in south Louisiana fields and that of this amount 28 billion cubic feet had been flared or vented into the air.

On a daily basis he said, 424,000,000 cubic feet of gas is being produced and 157,000,000 cubic feet of this output is being wasted either by being burned by flares or permitted to escape.

Oil company representatives took sharp issue with figures submitted by Ervin, designed to show that the ratio could be reduced to 1,200 to one, without materially hurting the oil companies.

The daily allowable could be maintained under that ratio, according to Ervin, by reallocating allowables to low pressure wells in the area of the wells that have been permitted to produce huge volume of gas to extract from the wells.

Cashion, who acted as general spokesman for the oil industry pointed out inequity he said would result from reallocation of production to pressure wells.

"We all favor conservation," Cashion continued, "but this is going a little too far. You will 'set up' shallow wells to the great detriment of deep test producers."

Further Cashion said "natural gas is not going to be actually saved by production reduction. It merely will be left in the ground for future withdrawal."

Various oil men present pointed out that too small a ratio might easily result in the "sanding off" or otherwise closing of existing producing wells.

LOCALLY TRAINED CIVILIANS SPEED MONROE SUB-DEPOT ENGINEERING

These pictures illustrate a practical example of effective cooperation among civilian training agencies, the civil service commission, and the army air forces. The men and women shown were trained at the Ouachita Valley Defense school in West Monroe, under the direction of Walter M. Crofton, director of war production training in the school. Through the civil service commission they obtained jobs where they were needed, in the Monroe sub-depot of the air service command. In the top picture, Mrs. Jean Boyce, of 318 Rochelle avenue, left, and Mrs. Maggy Lou Johnson, of 303 Cotton street, West Monroe, do layout work on sheetmetal drip pans for aircraft engines. Both graduates of the aircraft sheetmetal course in the Ouachita Valley Defense school, they work in the Monroe sub-depot's engineering department. In the center picture, Mrs. Carolyn T. Roberson wields a riveting gun, while her husband, Alonzo M. Roberson, bucks rivets with a steel bucking bar. The Robersons live in the Brownville addition, West Monroe. At bottom, Mr. Crofton looks on while one of his erstwhile pupils, Alton O. Porter, of 305 Tippet street, West Monroe, operates a metal lathe. The top and bottom pictures illustrate the new uniforms of the sub-depot civilian personnel. They are blue gray, and are marked with the emblem of the Monroe sub-depot on the left shoulder and on the cap.

NAZIS TO OBSERVE SIGNING OF PACT

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Germany has set the stage for an emotionally extravagant observance of the second anniversary tomorrow of the signing and sealing of the military alliance joining the Reich, Italy and Japan.

The propaganda machine was running full-tilt to make the anniversary seem, somehow, to be a great military victory and a political achievement of first magnitude.

Outstanding symbol of the occasion is the Axis claim that a Japanese submarine has berthed in a German U-boat base on the Atlantic coast.

The Axis press and radio around the world is resounding with the achievement of that single Japanese vessel, which made its way through hostile waters half way around the earth to turn up in Europe at just the right moment to be in the center of the picture for the Axis anniversary celebration. Berlin and Tokyo have joined hands around the world, Japanese and German radios were saying, and it was called a symbol of Axis "dominance of the seas."

A better symbol for the occasion, which German propagandists obviously had been hoping they might use, would have been the fall of Stalingrad. But the Russians feverishly refused to be cooperative, so officials entrusted with the task of stimulating German morale and who are expected to produce a victory each Sunday when Germans have some leisure to reflect, were making the most of the submarine.

Before long you may be having your tires coated at your service station with a paint-like solution that contains no rubber or any other materials necessary to the war effort and which will add 5,000 miles to tire life.

Ouachita Valley School Furnishes Trained Personnel For Jobs

It costs less to train a person than to build a house for him—or her.

There in a nutshell is the conclusion reached some time ago by Walter M. Crofton, director of war production training of the Ouachita Valley Defense school, West Monroe, and Maj. Castex P. Conner, commander of the Monroe Sub-Depot of the Air Service command, and members of his staff.

Once the conclusion was agreed upon, decisions were made which have borne fruit in the present program of close cooperation between the school and the sub-depot. The Civil Service commission entered the picture as the agency through which graduates of the school could find useful jobs in the engineering department of the sub-depot.

At present considerable numbers of Mr. Crofton's former students are doing aircraft sheetmetal, machinist's and welding work in the sub-depot engineering shop. Many of these are women. More skilled workers are being trained by the school who will follow the paths of their predecessors.

The Monroe Sub-Depot needs trained specialists in its engineering shop. Enlistment programs of the armed services, as well as the ubiquitous workings of draft boards, have made inroads on the sub-depot's valuable group of craftsmen.

Thus it is desired to obtain trained personnel who are not subject to the draft—women, for instance, and men whose draft classifications exempt them from induction. Training and subsequent employment by the sub-depot do not entitle one to draft deferment.

Since housing must be provided for trained personnel brought here from elsewhere, the solution has been arrived at of training persons already living here.

It costs less to train a person than to build him a house.

This program was evolved when Mr. Crofton was good enough to lend his shop facilities to the sub-depot engineering department for emergency aircraft repair jobs, at a time when the sub-depot had as yet no machines for such work in Monroe. This cooperative gesture resulted in the sub-depot commander and his staff acquainting themselves with the training offered at the West Monroe school.

These officers, whose number included First Lieutenants James M. Harris and Enos Payne, found the instruction offered at the school excellent, both in theory and practice, for the purpose of training engineering shop craftsmen.

The school was at once marked as a valuable source for much needed workers in the engineering shop.

As students in needed categories finished their training, they were hired through the Civil Service Commission, and went to work at once in the engineering shop.

For the work of maintaining and repairing aircraft, as well as other air corps equipment, Mr. Crofton's war production training is ideal.

Each student is given enough classroom work to become familiar with the terminology and fundamentals of his subject. The greater part of the student's time, however, is spent in the shop. There are 200-hour courses, lasting roughly six weeks, in aircraft and marine welding. There are 480-hour courses, of about three months' duration, in machine operation, both aircraft and industrial, and in sheetmetal work, both general and aircraft.

Applications for admission to the school are made to the United States Employment Service, 230 South Grand street.

NEW LEXINGTON IS FORMALLY LAUNCHED

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 26. — (AP) — The mighty new aircraft carrier Lexington plunged into salt seawater today a full year ahead of schedule, destined soon to "help carry out our pledge that freedom shall not perish from this earth."

So spoke Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, commander of the old vessel and traditionally last to leave her before she sank in the Coral sea last May.

Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson, widow of the former assistant secretary of the navy, sponsored the huge craft as she had the old "Lady Lex" in the some Fore river yard of the Bethlehem Steel company 17 years ago.

As the vessel slid down the ways there was a rising crescendo of whistles. Then shipyard employes resumed their work as the speaking began, the clatter of riveting punctuating the sentences of the speakers.

Six enlisted men and two fliers who manned the old "Lex" heard Admiral Sherman recite the proud record of their ship—"23 enemy ships sunk or damaged, some 800 Japanese officers and 9,000 Japanese men killed or drowned."

SOVIETS HIT AT NAZI POSITIONS

and it claimed that further Soviet relief attacks "against the northern barrier erected by German and allied troops" had been repelled. In both the western Caucasus and in Terek valley, the communique claimed breakthroughs.)

Prior to issuance of the midnight communique, the dispatches from every active sector—from the chilling Volkhov area east of Leningrad to the autumn-leafed valley of the Terek in the deep Caucasus—told the story of Germans halted.

In this situation the army organ, Red Star, issued its rare note of optimism to the Russian fighters.

The newspaper warned commanders and soldiers against the old theory that because Russia is vast it could not be defeated. But it pointed out that by defending what still is held, and by developing counterattacks, victory could be achieved.

It cited the heavy German losses, said there was definite evidence the Nazis and their vassal forces were wearing out, and pointed to the coming winter and Hitler's increasing burden of holding the newly-occupied countries.

In Stalingrad tonight the fighting was such a melee that the German air force had switched to heavy attacks on the Volga crossings, fearing to rain more bombs on the complicated battle area in some of the streets lest the bombs wipe out the Germans' own units.

That did not mean however that certain areas of the city definitely held by the Red army were not being dive-bombed night and day.

Red Star said the Germans were struggling hard to recapture "lost hills." A dispatch to the party newspaper Izvestia added that several big buildings had been cleared of Germans, but pointed out that it was difficult to eject the invaders when they had set up light cannon, trench mortars and machine guns in garrets and on roofs.

The street fight was extremely fierce. At one place the Germans sent 60 tanks down a single thoroughfare, losing 16 of them.

Northwest of Stalingrad the Germans again were heavily counterattacking against the Russian relief offensive.

In one sector there were 17 attacks Friday, and 15 the previous day. All were reported beaten off.

The Germans were maneuvering their anti-tank guns with rapidity to throw them into areas where heavy forces of Red tanks were driving in.

They also used scores of tanks in repeated attacks on Russian positions about a hill. Dispatches said 40 of the German machines were wrecked.

Red artillery was playing an ever-greater role in the defense of Stalingrad. One artillery unit claimed it had destroyed 100 Nazi tanks and 108 trucks filled with infantrymen in the course of 20 days.

The ships of the Volga river flotilla, maneuvering like river tanks, again were raiding German positions close to the west bank.

At the southernmost end of the German drive into the Caucasus they were reported stopped both north and south of the Terek river, in the region of Mozdok.

EXPECT TO PASS PRICE MEASURE

whelmingly—an amendment identical to that offered by Thomas and Hatch. Voting against the amendment were 117 Democrats and 54 Republicans.

Paradoxically, the senate appeared likely also to adopt the Thomas-Hatch proposal, since it must come to a vote before the compromise amendment. Barkley said he had no doubt, however, that many senators then would switch to the compromise.

Its adoption and the automatic elimination of the Thomas-Hatch amendment was confidently predicted for Monday afternoon by the administration camp. They hoped to pass the measure by Tuesday at latest and send it to conference where a new battle was in prospect to overturn the 33-vote margin by which the house adopted the amendment altering the parity basis.

The house amendment and that offered by Barkley differ in fundamental methods of determining farm price ceilings, although both would bring the labor costs into the calculations of farmers' returns for the first time.

Under the house proposal, parity standards would be lifted an average of 12 per cent on all crops by recomputing the base on which they are fixed. Parity is a standard set by the agriculture department from month to month calculated to bring the returns farmers receive for their crops into the same relationship with the amounts they pay for manufactured articles and other things they buy as prevailed during a base period, usually 1909-14.

Under the pending bill, which would direct President Roosevelt to stabilize prices, wages and salaries at Sept. 15 levels as far as practicable, no ceiling could be placed on a farm product below the parity level. To raise this level 12 per cent would boost potential ceilings that much higher and might add $3,500,000,000 yearly to the cost of living, the office of price administration has contended.

If the Barkley compromise finally were adopted, price ceilings would be set at 100 per cent of parity as parity now is computed. Whenever it became apparent, however, that a ceiling on any particular crop was so low it did not take into account the increased cost of farm labor and other items, the president would be directed to lift the ceilings accordingly.

LOUISIANIANS WILL BACK THOMAS MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Here is what members of the senate had to say about a proposal by Democratic Leader Barkley, Kentucky, to amend the administration's anti-inflation bill to require President Roosevelt to lift farm price ceilings when they did not reflect increased labor and other costs of growers.

The amendment has been offered as a substitute for a proposal by Senators Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, and Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, to revise parity price standards upward to include farm labor costs.

Among Democrats for the Barkley amendment—

Bilbo, Mississippi: "I will support and vote for the Thomas amendment as long as it is before the senate, but if I am convinced the Barkley proposal is the best that can be obtained in the end, I'll support it. I am still strong for the Thomas amendment. If I can't get that I'll take the next best."

Ellender, Louisiana: "I am going to vote for the Thomas amendment and against any substitute for it if it carries. I'd vote for a substitute only in the event we couldn't pass the Thomas amendment, and the Thomas amendment will be accepted."

Here is what some of those who were undecided had to say (many were non-committal and several senators were not reached):

Overton, Democrat, Louisiana: "I am committed to the Thomas amendment and will vote for it, if it comes up. I don't know about the Barkley proposal."

MANILA LONELY, UNEASY CAPITAL

rials and certain food staples. Manila stocks had either been taken by the Japanese or consumed by the population. Perishable foods are available, but there is no money to buy them."

Much food and other necessities are imported into the tropical Philippines in peacetime, but since Pearl Harbor, shipments for civilian use were said to have virtually ceased.

Some 3,500 civilians, mostly Americans, are interned at Santo Tomas university, but another 1,000 Americans were estimated to be at liberty in the city, mostly persons over 60, the chronically ill, women with small children, and missionaries willing to agree to cooperate with the conquerors. Most of the former homes of Americans were said to be occupied by Japanese military officials.

"The Philippine Education company store, like most of the shops on the Escolta (the principal shopping street), was stripped, its doors padlocked, and has never been reopened," the relief committee reported. "Heacock's has been reopened as a Mitsui store. Japanese merchants whose bazaars were not completely wrecked have reopened their shops and carry on business.

"The Japanese Economis corporation, with headquarters at the old Elks club, re-established many Japanese civilians after the December looting. Pellicer, Aginaldo and some of the other Spanish and Filipino stores are still open.

"Women with small children who are at liberty live usually under the protection of neutral or Filipino friends. * * * Everyone, and no exception is made, must descend from his conveyance and give the proper number of bows to an officer. If they do not, the penalty is a slap in the face."

The released Americans reported that when they left in early summer there was still no postal service, either in Manila or Baguio, the mountain summer capital. All wire communications outside Manila were destroyed before the Japanese entered the city

Trains were reported to be operating to Cabanatuan, about 75 miles northeast, and to San Fernando, 40 miles north, but bridges were destroyed. At some points trains were halted on one bank of main rivers, and passengers crossed on pontoons to board another on the other side. A trip from Batangas, in southern Luzon, to Iloilo, on the island of Panay, 200 air miles to the south, required ten days.

The internees at Santo Tomas were pictured as suffering relatively few actual hardships, under a Mr. Tsurimi, a former Japanese consul, who was the commandant. In addition to these some 6,000 prisoners of war, including Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright were reported held in a camp at Tarlac north of Manila, and there were one or more small camps for interned civilians at Baguio.

Back in World war I days there were a number of experts who said the airplanes of that day were too fast to be effective. The plane that caused this comment went 60 miles per hour.

PARCELS PACKED FOR OVERSEAS MAILING

BELIEVES SUMMER MAY BE TOO LATE

ond anniversary of Nazi Germany's infamous decision to align with Japan for the ultimate purpose of attacking the United States, found Hitler unable to conceal these plain facts:

1. The military campaign to isolate and swallow the Caucasus and its Volga outlet is dangerously late, and may fall far short of its goal before the snows.

2. There is intense trouble of a rising nature in both France and Norway, the countries which were to have been the western and northern bulwarks of the vassal "New Europe" under the swastika.

3. The only truly coordinated German-Japanese action which the Nazis can boast about on this sinister occasion is the rather pitiful way in which the Tokyo and Berlin propaganda mountains have labored to produce a mouse—the purported presence of a Japanese submarine in the Atlantic ocean.

For the United States and Great Britain, Willkie brought right out on the table the half-hidden issue which has been causing a disturbing divergence of thought between the Soviet union and the Western Allies.

He spoke while the battle of Stalingrad, which could become the turning point of the war, raged through its 33rd day inside and outside of the city. The defenders still were in command of the situation, the Red armies were retrieving more ground in some sectors, and Red Star, the official army organ, was saying: "There is now a chance to hold and repulse the Fascists."

It was indeed, the fate of Stalingrad and the German penetrations into the Caucasus ranges which gave the Russians the feeling that they were shouldering all the burden of the war with Hitler and that help was too long in coming from the west.

Willkie had heard this frankly from every side in Moscow, undoubtedly from Stalin himself, and without waiting for the completion of his tour as an emissary of President Roosevelt he said last night in a formal statement:

"I am now convinced that we can best help Russia by establishing a real second front in Europe with Great Britain at the earliest possible moment that our military leaders will approve.

"And perhaps some of them will need some public prodding. Next summer might be too late."

By coincidence, Anthony Eden, the British foreign secretary, was making an address in England which provided graphic figures on how much Allied naval tonnage is being used right now to supply Russia—short of a second front.

Eden did not go into the military needs for a second front, but he did disclose that 75 British warships were employed in guarding the latest convoy to carry heavy arms to Russia—"the largest total of munitions yet transported in a single voyage from Britain and the United States."

Despair and bitterness were seething into open action in Norway and into something incalculable for all of France.

In both countries the open tide of hate was descending on the men who chose to do business with Hitler—Vidkun Quisling, in Norway, and Pierre Laval, in France.

Four secret-type R. A. F. planes which dumped bombs on Gestapo buildings in Oslo Friday afternoon from 100-foot altitudes, breaking up a Quisling convention rally, evidently gave the signal to the Norwegian patriots. They broke into a stadium set for a big Nazi parade, started fires, and spread trouble through the streets in the form of leaflets urging a boycott of Quisling marchers.

Quisling, whose flying coat-tails led all the rest in the rush for basements during Friday's bombings, screamed out furiously today that Britain had sent "murder planes" against him, and pleaded for a halt to disunity in his own party.

In the France called unoccupied, Laval took the unusual course of calling in newspapermen to deny that his government is crumbling. Rumors to that effect—the Vichy censorship withheld the details—had been current; Fighting French soldiers in London said Laval already had fired Benoist-Mechin, his foreign minister for plotting against him with Doriot, the Paris Fascist editor.

But probably the thing that has endangered Laval more than anything is his attempt to sell the French workman into labor slavery in Germany—three workmen in exchange for every French war prisoner turned loose by Hitler. He still is trying to push this melancholy trade. Meanwhile there are signs that Laval and his military colleagues are maneuvering to accept more German "protection" for Dakar, French West African base, under the cloak of charges that the Allies are going to attack it.

wegian traitor said "the opposition must be crushed by every means," and appealed to party members to help him "put an end to internal dissension which to a certain extent is also pervading the party itself."

Authorized free Norwegian sources in London said there was so much dissension in the Quisling group as the result of Quisling's demands for 5,000 Russian front recruits and because of his failure to gain the support of loyal Norwegians that General Nikolaus von Falkenhorst, commanding the army of occupation, was asking Hitler to supplant Quisling with a German civil administrator.

From Sweden, meanwhile, it was reported that 25 British planes had crossed the southern coast Friday night, probably to lay mines in German-controlled waters. Reports via Axis channels said two Swedish ships had struck mines in coastal waters in the last 24 hours.

The German radio said the Swedes would protest to London.

In Nazi-occupied Denmark thousands of loyal Danes assembled outside the royal palace today to cheer King Christian X on his 72nd birthday.

BICYCLE QUOTA CUT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration today set the nation's October quota of new adult bicycles at 88,000, a cut of 2,000 under September. An additional reserve of 26,400 to meet unforeseen demands, was fixed, compared with a September reserve of 30,000. Among state quotas and reserves for October were: Louisiana, 1,046 and 314; Mississippi, 1,084 and 325.

JONES WILL SPEAK AT LOUISIANA TECH

RUSTON, Sept. 26.—(Special)—Governor Sam H. Jones is scheduled to speak in Howard auditorium at Louisiana Tech at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, using as his subject some phase of the war effort on the part of Luisiana, according to an announcement today by the Tech president, Dr. Claybrook Cottingham.

The visit here will give the governor his first opportunity to inspect the campus since the completion of the college's recent building and landscaping program. He spoke before a small group of Ruston business men in the private dining room of the Tech dining hall several months ago but at that time did not have a chance to tour the college grounds.

President Cottingham said he asked the governor to address the students, faculty and townspeople when the governor advised him that he would be here Tuesday morning, en route to Monroe, where he is to speak that afternoon at the Northeast Junior college. The assembly program here Tuesday morning will take the place of the usual Wednesday convocation of students and faculty.

The Tech president said he had invited the governor to spend Monday night at his home on the college campus but that the governor had not definitely accepted the invitation since it is likely that he will come to Ruston Tuesday morning from a nearby city.

EMPLOYES OF MINE GET NEW CLOTHES

KENILWORTH, Utah, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The entire morning shift—110 men—of the Independent Coal and Coke company mine came to work today in new overalls.

The entire night shift—110 men—was wearing new street clothes.

Fire last night destroyed the bath house where the men change to work clothes before entering the mine, destroying the night shift's street clothes and the day shift's work clothes.

The company replaced them.

FIREMEN BURN HOUSE

UNION TOWNSHIP, N. J., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The fire engines screamed up to the 150-year-old Kent house in Vaux Hill road. Firemen jumped down—set fire to the house and watched it burn. It was part of the Township's program to get rid of old, dangerous and useless buildings. The Kent house had no plumbing, and there was nothing to salvage, said Building Inspector Fred Baumann.

The German Luftwaffe has a freak monoplane which has the engine and controls on the left wing, a cabin for three on the right wing, and only half a tail.

filling the unprecedented demand for steel to win the war. The vital steel industry needs scrap to make materials to seal the doom of our Axis enemies.

"Without the wholehearted cooperation of the newspaper publishers of America, the industry's very urgent need for scrap could not have become known to the public. The newspapers of America currently are launching a remarkable campaign to bring the scrap out of hiding."

Steel experts who explained the current crucial need for scrap metal said housewives and farmers need not fear they will be pressed into endless metal scrap campaigns if between now and January 1 a sufficient scrap pile can be accumulated to last the steel mills through the winter.

This does not mean, they explained emphatically, that there will be any slackening between now and the war's end to root out every available bit of worn-out or unused metal from plants, factories or business establishments.

By next spring, they said, the industry will have new blast furnaces which should enable the mills to produce steel with the help of more pig iron and the scrap obtained from sources other than farms and homes. But meanwhile, the war effort cannot wait a minute.

This is how they explain it:

In peacetime steel mills get practically none of their junked metal from farms and homes, depending almost entirely upon scrap recovery from within the mills themselves, users of steel, old automobiles, and other places such as wrecked buildings and machine shops.

Because of war production the picture changed in 1942.

Millions of pounds of lend-lease finished steel products were shipped abroad to this country's allies, thus depriving the American industry of scrap recovery from another source; other millions of tons are going into ships and tanks which may be lost at sea or on foreign battlefields.

This means that the mills' recovery of scrap this year dwindled to an alarming degree—loss of a million tons of scrap affects war production drastically—and the proof is this:

The mills this year had facilities to produce 90 million tons of steel but will produce only 85 million tons, principally because scrap is short, even though that 85-million ton output was in itself a record, calling for more scrap than was ever used before.

So, to keep production from lagging fatally and to try to build the scrap supply up to make full capacity production possible, a nationwide search began for metal junk into sources never tapped before: farms and homes.

In all of 1941 the mills used about 43 million tons of scrap—they will use 45 million tons this year at least—obtaining all of it except 17 million tons from within their own precincts. That 27 million was bought on the outside from usual sources, practically none of it coming from farms and homes.

But, and steel men emphasize this, because of the war and the increased production needs the mills will need at least 17 million tons of scrap between now and January 1, of which at least 5 million tons must come from farms and homes. Scrap collection falls off in the winter.

Since the mills will be using more than 4 million tons of scrap a month between now and January 1, that and 17 million tons will allow them to have a scrap pile of about 4 million tons at the year's start upon which they can draw to make up the decline in lagging scrap collections during the rest of the winter.

New blast furnaces coming into use in the spring will turn out 5 million tons of pig iron for the job, helping bridge the 5-million gap between what farms and homes must produce now and what they will be adding in the form of scrap from when the new furnaces are completed.

tinuing under PRP will be the smaller ingredients of production—bearings, rivets and other items whose output cannot be scheduled unit by unit like tanks, guns and ships.

This means in effect that PRP is being discarded even before it gets a full-dress trial, for the plan was not due to become fully effective until October 1.

Close associates of Nelson reported that he never was sold on PRP, realizing it would perpetuate much of the old scramble for materials that undermined the priority system in midsummer, but that he was hampered in installing firmer control by the fact that no one knew exactly how much of every material was needed by each of the claimants for materials.

This information should be at hand shortly through tabulation of PRP applications from manufacturers, each of which sets forth a production schedule and itemized material requirements for a full quarter ahead.

Exactly how the allocation system would develop was not made clear. It appeared, however, that each prospective contractor would submit a statement of materials needed to do his job. After review, WPB would issue to him a certificate to be served on a supplier—like a check on a bank—for a given amount of material in a specified time. As planned, the total materials called for would not exceed the total in hand; thus each contractor would be guaranteed his raw materials and parts in orderly flow.

SPANISH SHIP ARRIVES

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Spanish steamer Magallanes, carrying 300 passengers and 350 tons of freight, arrived here today, en route to New Orleans. The Magallanes which sailed from Vigo, September 7, previously had sailed but had been recalled August 25 because of fueling difficulties. A Cuban newspaper at the time linked the recall to changes in the Spanish cabinet which actually occurred ten days later.

THEY BOUGHT BONDS TO AID CAMPAIGN

The two photographs above show Monroe war bond purchasers who Saturday bought bonds to aid in the campaign for a quarter-million dollar quota which is sought as the goal for the breakfast here next Wednesday morning which will feature three movie stars. At top, John C. Best buys bonds from Joe Washburn, vice president of the Central Savings Bank and Trust company, with proceeds from the sale of his home. Mr. Best sold his home, bought bonds with the entire proceeds and then enlisted in the United States marine corps. Lower photo shows Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson and their daughter after they had purchased a large amount of war bonds to contribute further to the success of the bond drive.

NAVY GRIDDERS DISPLAY POWER

Harvey Johnson from the 20-yard line. Dartmouth, with a veteran backfield but uncertain line prospects, was a surprise 17-6 victor over Holy Cross, while Cornell, off to an early lead had to hang on at the finish to whip Lafayette, 20-16. West Virginia knocked off Washington and Lee of the Southern conference, 21-7, while Colgate, Columbia and Princeton all checked in with routine triumphs over minor opposition.

Fordham moved into the mid-west and tripped Purdue, 14-7; Michigan outscored Great Lakes Naval Training station, 9-0, despite the fact the Wolverines were badly outmanned. Iowa finally broke the Nebraska jinx and routed the Huskers, 27-0 as Tommy Farmer tossed three touchdown passes and set up the fourth Hawkeye touchdown as well. Ohio State, Illinois and Indiana all ran up big scores on minor opposition.

Missouri, the Big Six champion, had no troubles with St. Louis university, 38-7, but Oklahoma got no better than a scoreless tie with Oklahoma A. & M. Kansas bowed to Marquette, 14-0. In the southwest, Southern Methodist and Arkansas each scored handily over tune-up opponents.

Georgia Tech won its first southeastern test, routing Auburn, 15-0, as Sophomore Eddie Prokop and Freshman Clint Castleberry led the Engineers' attack. In the Southern conference, North Carolina stopped Wake Forest, 6-0, while Clemson and Virginia Military played a scoreless tie. Clark Shaughnessy's Maryland outfit made its first start and whipped Connecticut, 34-0.

It is much too early to draw any sound conclusions as to what effect war-time conditions, especially transportation, will have on football crowds. However, crowds in general seemed much smaller than usual. For example, Penn, Ohio State and Michigan annually are among the top elevens in the country in drawing power, yet played to a joint total of 75,000 today. Only 17,987 saw the Michigan game, the smallest crowd in 11 years.

The far western program was marked by one major surprise when Tulane's Green Wave invaded Los Angeles and smashed Southern California into decisive defeat, 27-13. California, picked by some experts to take the Coast conference crown, eked out a 6-0 decision over St. Mary's, and Washington State upset Stanford by the same score. Oregon State, Rose Bowl champions, buried Idaho, 32-0, Washington won from College of Pacific, 27-0, and Santa Clara took Utah's measure, 12-0.

how heavy or to what extent they have weakened Hitler's resources to man two fronts simultaneously is another matter.

It seems obvious that even in Africa, where the tables appear to be turned or turning strongly in Allied favor, the British command in Cairo lacks wholly dependable knowledge of the straits to which Marshal Rommel's once conquering Africa corps has been reduced. Imperial land and sea forays, including an astonishing desert dash through Axis lines to Bengazi, west of the Libyan hump, and to Gialo oasis, 250 miles south, probably were seeking information primarily.

The British raiders were 500 miles behind Rommel's front in Egypt at Bengazi. They were on the main communication nerve of his armies, the Bengazi-Tripoli coastal road; but it was a hit-and-run affair. That it foreshadows a major Allied offensive is wholly probable. That of itself could have a second front influence on the Russian-Axis battle.

The need of a second front has never been in dispute. The will to achieve it or a multiple front attack to catch the Axis with its lines now vastly extended in both Russia and Africa in a deadly cross fire is not lacking. Allied might is mustering with accelerating momentum; but the when, where and how of it still must remain the most closely guarded military secret until the hour strikes.

It will come, somehow, somewhere, but if it came prematurely disaster could result which could only increase, not decrease Russia's peril. Moscow authorities know that as well as Washington and London for all the disappointment they voice.

AGING LAFAYETTE FIGHTERS IN WAR

old Willis, Boston architect on Major General Walter Hale Frank's staff, and Major Tommy Hitchcock (of polo fame), assistant air attache, work long hours planning the United States air effort against Hitler.

None of them was under compulsion to leave prosperous business connections and the comforts of home to come to the battle lines, but then none had to go to France in the first World war either.

Lafayette veterans, like Rand and Major David Backus, Hollywood scenario writer, stay up half the night preparing data on bombing targets, and then get up at 3 a. m. to advise Flying Fortress crewmen who are young enough to be their sons, and then spend the rest of the day questioning returning fliers.

They live out of suit cases, wash in cold water in unheated huts, slosh around muddy flying fields at dawn, and might even be called "Pop" by some flip young flier who pilots a metal monster which could have shot down the whole Lafayette Escadrille without taking a bullet in return.

Major Joseph Stehlin, Miami Beach, Fla., real estate operator, could be called "Pop" with reason, as he is reported to have a son flying with the Fighting French as a pursuit pilot.

But even Lafayette veterans used to sun and warm climates, like Major Charles C. Bassett, Jr., of Greensboro, N. C., textile executive, and Lieutenant Colonel Bennett Molter, New Orleans business man, take hardships with less grumbling than they did as youths.

Airplanes have become more destructive and faster, but Major Rand, who in the other war shot down three German planes and was credited with the probable destruction of six others, said the fundamentals have changed little.

"The pursuit boys still go up looking for a fight, and then battle all over the sky," he said. "Planes are deadlier, but then in the old days we didn't have parachutes, and if your plane was shot down you went down with it."

The eighth member of the Lafayette Escadrille in action on the European front is Captain Clarence Shoniger, Flushing, L. I., and he, like the rest, "wouldn't miss this show for anything."

BENOIST-MECHIN DISMISSED

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Jacques Benoist-Mechin, secretary of state in the foreign ministry, is no longer a member of the government, it was announced officially tonight.

A statement to this effect will be published in the official journal, it was said. No reason was given for his dismissal.

WAR BOND TOTAL IS NOW $176,000

climb each day during the past week," Mr. Rogers said. "However, we are some $75,000 short of our goal and we have only two more days in which to work. I am confident that Monroe will again prove 100 per cent in its war effort but there's little time left."

One outstanding example of patriotism was divulged yesterday. James C. Best, for the past five years representative of a soap company in north Louisiana, sold his home. He then enlisted in the marine corps and following that, invested the proceeds of the sale of his home in war bonds. His wife and family will remain in Baton Rouge for the duration. Mr. Best will enter the marines' officers training school at Quantico, Va.

There have been other equally stirring examples of patriotic cooperation in the campaign.

There are a number of selling agencies for the bonds—the theaters, banks, building and loan associations and others—and each of these agencies have tickets to the breakfast for sale. The purchase of a $1,000 bond entitles the buyer to purchase a ticket to the affair which undoubtedly will be one of the outstanding attractions ever held here and will attract at large crowd.

and the enrichment of distant sections."

Governor Jones said that in view of the legislature's action it was the duty of the Louisiana conservation department and public service commission to oppose actively "the designs of others to build new pipelines to transport additional quantities of our natural gas reserves outside the state."

Jones said he would instruct these state agencies to oppose construction of the pipeline, estimated to cost $31,000,000 by L. L. Tonkin, president of the Hope company. Tonkin said extension of the proposed line to Texas would bring its cost to $42,000,000.

Tonkin revealed plans for the new pipeline in testimony before the Security and Exchange commission regarding an application for transfer of stock between the Hope firm and other Standard Oil subsidiaries.

The Louisiana legislature declared in adopting a concurrent resolution that it should henceforth be the state's public policy to discourage further natural gas exports, saying natural gas through chemical research is fast becoming far more valuable for purposes other than fuel.

It was declared too that coal, being much more plentiful, should be used as fuel rather than gas, even though the latter may be cheaper at present costs.

Further state efforts to conserve natural gas resources developed today in a conservation department hearing in New Orleans, at which recommendations were made on possibilities of reducing gas wastage in producing oil.

STORM WARNING ISSUED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The United States weather bureau today issued the following storm warning: "Storm warning ordered at 4 p.m., central war time, east of Morgan City, La., to Pensacola, Fla., for fresh to strong winds 30 to 38 miles per hour on the Louisiana coast this afternoon, extending tonight to Mississippi and Alabama coasts and Pensacola."

GAS RATIONING TO BE STARTED

it effective "through proclamation or otherwise." The governors will be asked to call upon state and local officials for strict enforcement.

The speed limit was ordered effective October 1 for all vehicles except trucks and buses operated by common carriers over regularly-scheduled routes and for the latter October 15.

Motor vehicles operated by the armed forces or under their direction were exempted, as were cars driven in emergencies "for the protection and preservation of life and health or for public safety." The latter must be held to "reasonable" speeds consonant with the emergency existing.

An ODT spokesman said the action was taken under the wartime powers of President Roosevelt, delegated to Rubber Director William M. Jeffers and by the latter to Eastman.

Henderson did not explain how the speed limit would be tied in with the rationing.

The gasoline rationing program will give to each automobile, on the minimum A-card basis, enough gasoline for 2,880 miles of driving a year, reckoned at 15 miles to the gallon.

Provision will be made for supplemental rations in certain cases, as is done now in the East, but Henderson emphasized that "additional gasoline will be allowed only on proof of need and in quantities strictly limited to the degree of essentiality to the nation's war effort."

No date was set for registration of the 20,000,000-odd motorists to be brought under gasoline rationing but the OPA said the plan was expected to be in full operation about November 22.

Advance preparations, pushed intensively since the Baruch committee recommended country-wide rationing September 10, will enable OPA to start rationing two weeks earlier than otherwise, Henderson said.

Use of private passenger cars will be cut almost 60 per cent under normal, Henderson estimated, on the basis of Eastern experience. About 68 per cent of Atlantic coast drivers have A cards, 17 per cent supplementary B cards and only 15 per cent C cards.

Deviations from the Eastern system will not be great, Henderson said. Persons needing more than the basic A card ration for vocational needs—including driving to and from work—may get additional mileage up to 470 miles a month by applying for a B ration book. In such a case, the motorist must prove he has formed a car-sharing club for driving to and from work, or that this is impossible and that no other transportation is available.

The C card is a special "preferred mileage" category, open only to 14 occupational groups rated essential to the war effort and to the public health and safety. The C books are trimmed to meet the driving needs of the applicant by tearing out excess coupons, but no specific ceiling is placed on mileage.

OPA did not explain how the tire inspection at 60-day intervals would be enforced. Whatever changes are required in the 17-state Eastern ration plan to bring about a uniform system over the country will be incorporated in the Atlantic coast system when rationing becomes effective, Henderson said.

Thousands of tons of safety paper—to guard against counterfeiting of ration books—must yet be manufactured and a vast machinery must be set up to issue the books and handle appeals for supplementary rations. Local rationing boards will be asked to build up their staffs with temporary volunteers.

More than six weeks will be required to organize the huge undertaking and distribute the necessary forms and coupons. Orders already have been placed for the printing of 60,000,000 books, 90,000,000 gummed sheets for the preservation of coupons as the service stations receive them from motorists, 60,000,000 application forms and some 100,000,000 copies of other forms, books and instruction pamphlets.

Old Letter Tells Of News From Another War In 1864

Member Of Louisiana Volunteers In Civil War Writes His Sister

H. O. Dickerson, who resides in Ward 7 near the Jackson parish line, has plenty of reason to know there's a war going on besides his daily reading of the newspapers. But Mr. Dickerson also has in his possession some prized letters that have to do with another war which was fought between the states of the nation many, many years ago.

First, Mr. Dickerson's prime interest in this war is filial. He has four sons in the service and a fifth is about ready to join up, he said yesterday. Two of the Dickerson boys are in the army, one in the marine corps and another in the navy. The fifth son isn't quite old enough to go to war, but he'll be there if it lasts another year.

"I have adopted an attitude that may seem odd to some people," Mr. Dickerson said yesterday, "but when I talk about the war and my boys, I smile. I don't believe in moping around because they're fighting. I haven't heard from two of them in quite a while, but I believe they're safe and I have the confidence that they'll come back."

But to get back to the other war.

Mr. Dickerson has a letter in his possession that was written by R. H. Scott, a member of the Louisiana Volunteers in November, 1864. Scott was born in Jackson parish and his relatives lived in this section for many years. Mr. Dickerson's grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Wood, received the letter from her brother. It gives an interesting slant on life in the army during the Civil war.

The letter follows:

"Dear Sister:

"I gladly embrace the present opportunity to write you a few lines as I have an opportunity of sending it by hand across the Mississippi river. I have written you several letters this summer which I hope you received and I received one from you. It was written on July 31. I was truly glad to hear from you all once more. I had given up all hopes of hearing from home while this cruel war is going on. I had made up my mind to be a miserable soldier, forgotten and forsaken by all my relatives and friends, but when I received a letter from your hand it taught me at once that I was not forgotten.

"I feel that God has blessed me in our last campaign. I have been in 12 fights this year and I have been wounded twice, once in the left arm and once in the right arm, but it did not break the bone. We have no news here worth writing. There is a great deal of talk here about our brigade going home this winter. We have sent up our application to the president to be sent home this winter to recruit and the application has been approved by General Jordan and General Early and has been sent on to General Lee and Jeff Davis and if they approve it, we will be sure to come home this winter.

"I hope we will, may God speed the time. When I think of coming home it fills my heart with joy. Have me a pretty girl picked out when I get there, because I will make some of them say yes or no pretty soon after I get there. There will be no time to 'set caps' when I get back there. When I come home the girls will be as wild as a deer and the first one that attempts to run from me, I intend to catch her around the neck and kiss her in spite of all she can do. I don't intend they shall all get away.

"I will send all my letters to you and you can send them home after reading them. I will close hoping to start in a short time to where this letter is to go. Give my love to all and accept the same.

"From your brother,

"R. H. Scott,

"Co. E, 8th Regiment, Louisiana Volunteers."

MAKES ABOLISHING OF JOBS PERMANENT

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mayor Howard W. Jackson, abolishing some jobs, has figured out how to make the vacancies permanent.

It is to store the idle desks in a storeroom.

"If the idle desk is allowed to remain in the office, the bureau head is constantly reminded of the vacancy, and soon someone else is sitting at the desk," he explained. "But if the desk is sent to the storeroom the position is soon forgotten, and the job elimination is likely to be permanent."

FEEL COFFEE SHORTAGE

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Twenty-five prisoners at Mercer county jail are feeling the pinch of wartime rationing. Sheriff Alex Elliott announced that because of a shortage of coffee, java is being served only at breakfast, instead of twice daily.

RESOLUTION BY LODGE PASSED

Action Taken On Death Of James Fred Stroud Of Sterlington

Sterlington lodge No. 420, F. and A. M., meeting the past week, passed by unanimous vote a resolution for the family of the late James Fred Stroud, who was a honored member of this lodge.

The resolution recites:

"In the untimely passing of Brother James Fred Stroud, this lodge has suffered an irreparable loss. Verily his sun of life has gone down at noon, casting a shadow of gloom and sorrow over a happy home, and filling the hearts of a host of friends with a sorrow so deep and so sincere that only time and the sustaining influence of the Grand Architect of the Universe can heal.

"Brother Stroud was born June 29, 1906. On June 13, 1933, he petitioned Sterlington lodge for the degrees of Masonry. His petition was acted upon at a meeting July 11, 1933. He was initiated an entered apprentice Mason July 18, 1933; passed to the degree of fellowcraft September 12, 1933; raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, October 20, 1933; and on September 14, 1942, he passed to that undiscovered country from which no traveler returns.

"Someone has said: 'There must be death before there can be resurrection. Our dead as they sleep are waiting for the sounding of the great trumpet. If they are believers we shall see then again in unison there face to face.' While we mourn the passing of our friend and brother, we look forward to the day when we shall be gathered again in that house not built with hands, where there is peace and joy and happiness evermore.

"Whereas our late brother, James Fred Stroud, who departed this life September 14, 1942, was a faithful, loyal member of Sterlington lodge No. 420, F. and A. M., having served this lodge in various offices during the past nine years, and

"Whereas his widow, Mrs. James Fred Stroud is left to mourn his loss,

"Be it hereby resolved that Sterlington lodge No. 420, Free and Accepted Masons, commend the widow of our late brother to the care and protection of all Master Masons, wheresoever they may be dispersed, and

"Be it further resolved that this tribute of respect to the memory of our departed brother be inscribed in the minutes of Sterlington lodge No. 420, F. and A. M., and that a copy of this tribute, under seal of the lodge, and signed by the worshipful master and the secretary, be sent to the widow of our departed brother."

DATE IS FIXED FOR HONORING OFFICERS

Friday, October 2, is the date which has been selected for the welcome party and formal banquet to be given by the chamber of commerce and junior chamber of commerce honoring Colonel N. B. Harbold, commanding officer of the A. A. F. Navigation school at Monroe, and about 150 members of his executive and administrative staff, according to George D. Holland, secretary.

Major General Ralph Royce, commanding officer of the Southeast A. A. F. training center at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., will be the special guest of honor. General Royce has just returned from the Far East, where he commanded a segment of American fighters in actual combat service.

All members of the chamber of commerce will receive invitations by mail Monday, and are urged to attend this outstanding function which will be held at the Frances hotel at 8 p. m. The program will be brief, and devoted chiefly to entertainment features. Only men will be invited to the banquet, as the officers' wives were recently entertained by the chamber of commerce hospitality committee with a formal tea at the Virginia hotel roof.

The committee in charge of the banquet and program is as follows: L. E. Mathis, chairman; Paul A. Reising, Shelby Cage, George Weeks, Jr., Morris Haas, Clifford Strauss and Harry Oliver.

MAIL GIFTS TO OVERSEAS MEN NOW!

World Staff Photos

Now is the time to mail your Christmas gifts to service men overseas if you want them to reach the boys by Christmas. The two views above show activities in the Monroe postoffice. At top James Kincade, postoffice clerk, weighs a package a young lady is mailing to a boy overseas. Below, Postmaster James Wooten is placing a package in a mail sack that before Christmas will make some boy happy. Packages which are consigned to service men either in the east or the west should be mailed between now and November 1. The latter date is the absolute deadline. The accompanying story gives you all the necessary instructions for mailing.

U. S. Urged To Mail Gifts To Overseas Soldiers Now

Here Are Instructions For Sending Presents To Service Men

Christmas is practically here—if you're playing Santa Claus to a member of Uncle Sam's armed forces overseas.

That's the word from the postoffice department, which is mapping the final details of one of the most tremendous tasks in its history—the transportation of Christmas gifts to United States soldiers and sailors scattered all over the globe.

October 1 has been officially set as the day on which mailing is to begin, with November 1 as the deadline on which the last parcel will be accepted for Yuletide delivery.

But, if you want to be absolutely and completely sure of your gift arriving on time (subject, of course, to the usual hazards of war) the advice of postoffice officials is to buy now and mail as soon as possible.

Thousands of extra men will be employed to take care of the flood of gifts in order that the boys in England, Iceland, Ireland, Egypt, Australia and aboard the ships on the seven seas receive their presents from home before December 25.

In order that no one be disappointed, the department said, the public should acquaint itself with regulations for such parcels to overseas points (including Alaska) and mail well in advance of the very last date on which they will be accepted.

The burden of forwarding holiday presents overseas will fall chiefly on the postoffices in New York and San Francisco. All overseas mail will be routed through one or the other.

In San Francisco Postmaster William H. McCarthy is the service man's Santa Claus. In New York Postmaster Albery Goldman figuratively dons the whiskers of the benevolent saint.

Army and navy are co-operating with the postoffice department to get the mail to the soldiers, sailors and marines by Christmas. Welfare organizations like the American Red Cross, the American Women's Voluntary Services, the American Theater Wing Services and the USO are also counseling the public to read and comply with the regulations—and to waste no time.

First of all, there is the matter of the size of the package that may be sent. The maximum permitted is a parcel weighing 11 pounds, not more than 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. That's the limit, but the postoffice requests that mailers voluntarily restrict themselves to a parcel about the size of a shoe box and weighing not more than six pounds.

Every inch of shipping space is vital to the war effort, so every inch saved is that much gained for the country.

Only one Christmas parcel for a single recipient will be accepted from a single mailer (individual or business concern) within one week.

Other points emphasized by postal officials are:

The packages are to be transported over great distances. Therefore they will be subjected to considerable strain. This makes it imperative that they be carefully made up and wrapped. They will have to resist the pressure of other mail in the same sack and the weight of other sacks.

Every parcel is subject to censorship by the army and the navy. For this reason, parcels should be made up in such a way that they can easily be opened, the contents examined, and quickly secured again. Parcel post packages should not be sealed, for that would put them in first class at a much higher postage rate.

If a shoe box is used, say postal officials, strongly-made one not previously used should be chosen—not one that has been battered. This applies to all cardboard boxes. A stout and serviceable container can be made of corrugated board tied with heavy cord. Avoid thin twine which breaks easily.

If several articles, like soap, toilet articles, hard candy, are included, the individual containers should be tightly packed so that they do not become loose in transit and injure the covering of the parcel.

Thin candy boxes are liable to break, and it is recommended that confectionery be enclosed in wood, metal or corrugated board containers. Sharp objects like knives and razor blades must have their keen edges protected to prevent their cutting through parcels and injuring postal employes.

It is important that the address and return address be written so that they can be easily read. Illegibility might send a package destined for a soldier in England in the opposite direction toward Australia—which would be a sad blow for the man waiting for his Christmas gifts from home.

Write or print on the parcel the words, "Christmas Parcel," the postoffice advises.

In writing to a soldier abroad, give his name, his army serial number, the military organization to which he is attached, his army postoffice number and the postoffice through which the parcel is to be routed. In the upper left-hand corner give your own name and address. The following is a sample:

From: John R. Doe,
205 W. State St.,
Chicago, Ill.

To: Private William D. Roe (Army Serial No. ——), Company F, 167th Infantry, APO No. ——, c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

The man's army serial number and the APO (Army postoffice) number are given him to transmit to family and friends. If you are not related to him and haven't this information, his family can give it. The sample above routes the letter through the postmaster at New York, but the man you wish to address may possibly be addressed through the postmaster at San Francisco. Make sure of which is the correct routing.

To: John M. Jones, Seaman First Class,
(Naval Unit or Vessel)
c/o Postmaster,
San Francisco, California.

Again, in the sample above, the proper routing postmaster may be New York's instead of San Francisco's, depending on what the sailor advised you.

To: Private John Henry Smith, USMC.
U. S. Marine Corps Unit No. ——
c/o Postmaster,
San Francisco, California
or
New York, New York.

Units within the continental limits of the United States may be addressed direct, using name, rank, organization and location—just as you address the soldier or sailor now if he is in this country.

Postage must be prepaid. If the parcel weighs more than eight ounces it goes fourth class at the zone rate which applies to the postoffice in care of which it is addressed. For packages not more than eight ounces in weight, the third class rate of 1 1-2 cent for each two ounces applies—except for books on which the rate is 1 cent for two ounces. There is a special rate of 3 cents a pound for parcels containing only books and you should ask your own postmaster about the regulations covering this, if you intend to send him books and nothing else

SHERROUSE HAS P.-T. A. MEETING

Enthusiastic Session Held At School; Plan Work Of Year

The first meeting of the year of the Sherrcuse P.-T. A. was held at the school the past week. The president, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, presided. A large and enthusiastic group listened to the president's message delivered by Mrs. Leon Dennis, in which the role of parent in wartime emergencies was cited.

An informative discussion on "What Kind of Schools People Want," was led by Mrs. C. O. Welch, quoting from the educational survey she said: "The people of Louisiana, laymen and teachers alike, want schools which will help children to develop wholesomely and healthily which will give them creative outlets and opportunities to express their inner potentialities, which will limit required academic learning to those aspects which will be of real value to all, and which will develop in each child a sense of responsibility."

Each parent present voiced favorable reaction to this report.

An interesting report was given by Mrs. C. Beck, a recent arrival in Monroe from Minnesota, who told of the curriculum laboratory school there. One point she stressed was the children did not compete against other pupils, that it was competition in itself. Report cards, too, she said, were not in terms of letters but spoke of the child's adjustment.

Each standing committee chairman reported as to plans of their groups for the year. The membership chairman, Mrs. L. G. Hunt, told of the membership drive which is to be intensified and will start on October 5. Each was urged to cooperate.

Communications were read by the secretary, Mrs. A. T. White, after which punch was served by the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. John Ingouf.

CENTRAL GRAMMAR P.-T. A. MEETS

The initial fall meeting of the Central Grammar school P.-T. A. was held in the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. B. G. Cole, presided.

Following prayer by Miss Kate Henry, the president's message was read by Mrs. Mary Peavy.

A letter from the local Red Cross chapter asked that utility kits be supplied for soldiers. It was moved and seconded that $10 be used for this purpose.

The personnel of the various committees was read and unfinished business was considered.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Paul Blanchard will speak at a later date on the school survey.

The P.-T. A. endorsed the scrap drive and will lend it every possible support.

Miss Cliffie Olmstead's room had the largest representation of parents in attendance at the meeting.

LOUISIANA STATE BEATS TEXAS AGGIES, 16-7

TIGERS OUT-RUSH POWERFUL TEXAS LOOP CHAMPIONS

Visitors Get Passing Game To Clicking Too Late To Avoid Upset

By Norman Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Alert, bruising line play gave Louisiana State's Bayou Bengals a traveling ticket for its shifty ground game through vaunted Texas A. and M. tonight and the Tigers defeated the Southwest conference defending champions 16-7 before 25,000 fans.

Slippery-heeled Louisiana State backs racked up a commanding margin with two touchdowns in the second period, adding a safety in the third for extra measure, and when the Aggies finally got their aerial game to clicking briefly in the final period to score their lone touchdown, State was well in command of the situation.

Sophomore Alvin Dark, fleet Lake Charles, La., back, reeled off as neat a scoring run as ever seen in Tiger stadium midway in the second period to break an impasse which saw both teams screening each other's dangerous passing threats to perfection.

Dark's 26-yard run came after Sulcer Harris, brilliant Tiger junior, sped the ball deep into Aggie territory. Dark slipped through right tackle and eluded tackler after tackler with slithery side steps on a 27-yard touchdown play. Dark converted the extra point.

Lightnin' Leo Daniels, sparking the Aggie pass offensive, swung his tosses into high attempting to square things but one fling went awry and that was enough for husky Jeff Burkett, L. S. U. second string fullback subbing for Walter Goroinski. Burkett leaped to the interception and dashed 75 yards across the Aggie goal.

Thereafter the Aggies tried mightily to unleash their air blows but L. S. U.'s big fighting linemen, ripping through repeatedly to nab Daniels behind for losses, kept Coach Homer Norton's team from making much headway. Diminutive Dark, whose kicking with Harris helped spell doom for the Aggies, slicked one off his toe out of bounds on the Texans 6-yard line in the third period and this led to L. S. U.'s two-point safety. Daniels faked a punt behind his goal, trying to run, but Reldon Bennett, big L. S. U. tackle, lashed through the line and snagged him flat-footed.

One costly factor to Texas A. and M. was its comparatively poor punting early in the game, but an unheralded sophomore, Vernon Belville, kicked one neatly out on L. S. U.'s

Yankees Favored, No Matter Who Wins In National

BUMS CARRY FIGHT TO FINISH ---TODAY TO TELL THE TALE

Brooklyn Downs Phils, 8-3 As Weather Halts Cubs And Cardinals

By Whitney Martin

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26. — (AP) — The die-hard Brooklyn Dodgers, blending their own efforts with circumstances beyond their control in St. Louis, today carried the National league pennant race right down to the wire.

With today's developments, everything now rests on the final games of the season tomorrow to determine whether the Cardinals take the pennant outright, or must play a two-out-of-three-game series with Brooklyn for the honors.

The Bums just had to win today's game with the Philadelphia Phils to keep a slight flame under their flag hopes, so they won it, 8 to 3. A defeat today would have put Brooklyn definitely out of it. Likewise a Cardinal victory over the Chicago Cubs would have clinched it for the Red Birds.

The Card game was postponed, but the Dodgers came through with their end of the bargain with fate by whipping the helpless Phils, in a wild and woolly game which saw pitchers wearing a rut from the bull pens to the mound.

For five innings it was a pretty tight ball game, but in the sixth the Dodgers went on a six-run rampage which left the teams just putting in their time the remainder of the game.

Manager Leo Durocher had picked boisterous Bo-Bo (Pennant Insurance) Newsom to carry the pitching load for the all-important encounter, but Bo-Bo could only carry it part way. For four innings he had everything under control, but in the fifth he was chased to the showers, where he kept the water hot for Larry French, who relieved him. French went out in the seventh and Hugh Casey went the rest of the way.

Long Rube Melton, the Phil starting pitcher, gave up a run in the first inning on two singles and a stolen base, and another in the fourth when, with the bases full as a result of a single and two walks, the Dodgers pulled a triple steal, on which heavy-footed Dolph Camilli was the anchor man and scorer.

The Phils tied it up in the fifth when Ben Warren led off with a home run into the left field stands. Then Merrill May walked and Lloyd Waner beat out a bunt. Newsom had started to walk Ronald Northey, when French ambled in. He got out Earl Naylor, who had taken Northey's place at the plate, but Litwhiler got the second of his three singles to score May.

The alarmed Dodgers, visioning the ignominy of being knocked out of the race by the Phils, came back with a barrage of hits in the sixth. Augie Galan led off with a double, Owen singled, and Reese tripled to finish Melton. Sam Nahem came in and gave up singles to French and Dixie Walker, a walk to Arky Vaughan and a base-clearing double to Camilli, before Johnny Podgajny came in to put out the fire.

The Phils got one back in the sixth on three singles, and when Northey and Litwhiler started the seventh with singles, that was all for French. Casey retired the side without a run and went on to win French's game for him.

Walter Beck and Ed Hennessey followed Podgajny to the mound in that order, but it was just a gesture as the game already was wrapped up by the Dodgers.

Durocher was expected to send that old Phil, Kirby Higbe, to the mound tomorrow to try to subdue his ex-teammates and keep the Dodgers'

Tribe Defeats Tigers, Gains Assurance Of Tie For Third In League

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mel Harder and Les Fleming combined today to give Cleveland a 3 to 0 shutout over Detroit and at least a tie with the Tigers for fourth place.

Only 1,000 customers turned out to see the penultimate game of the year here. The clubs tangle in a final contest tomorrow. A Detroit victory would mean duplication of last year's fourth-place tie between the same two teams, while a Cleveland win would give the Indians undisputed possession of fourth place.

TORRID PENNANT RACE TIRES ST. LOUIS, BROOKLYN

Odds Of Champs Will Jump If Senior Circuit Scrap Enters Playoff

By Judson Bailey

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Another baseball campaign closes tomorrow and another world series opens next week—but the old familiar story has a new and thrilling version today.

The New York Yankees, waiting as they have in six of the last seven years for the National league to bring forth a champion, can't be sure yet whether they will face the St. Louis Cardinals or the Brooklyn Dodgers—or even on what day the series will open.

Because of weather forcing postponement of today's scheduled game between the Cards and Chicago Cubs, and the Dodgers beating the Phils, the National league race has been carried right down to the final desperate hours of the season.

If the Cards are unable to play again tomorrow, or if they win one game, or if the Dodgers lose at Philadelphia, St. Louis will clinch its sixth pennant in 17 years. But if the Red Birds were to drop both games tomorrow and the Dodgers run their present belated winning streak to eight, the struggle would end in a dead heat.

That would mean a three-game playoff starting at St. Louis Monday night and moving to Brooklyn for games Wednesday and Thursday. It also would mean that instead of the series opening Wednesday at Sportsman's park it would be delayed till next Saturday, October 3, and the scene might be either St. Louis or Brooklyn.

The result of all this is that the Yankees are in as much of a muddle as either of the National league contenders. The world champions have already had three days of idleness, peacefully awaiting for the Cardinals or the Dodgers to emerge as their rivals.

But now they must go to Boston tomorrow to wind up their season against the Red Sox without knowing where or when they will go later. The champions are going to stick to the middle of the road and come back to New York, therefore, to await developments. They will work out here Monday and if necessary, leave that night for St. Louis.

The Cardinals still are figured to win, but unless the weather should keep them out of action tomorrow the strain of having to battle right down to the final day may be a telling factor in the series—particularly if Mort Cooper should have to go to the mound in the second game to hurl the clincher.

Jack Doyle, widely-known Broadway price layer, already has established the Yankees 5 to 9 favorites with the Dodgers 2 to 1 and the Cardinals 8 to 5 underdogs. Developments tomorrow night make these odds much longer and because of the uncertainty surrounding the National league finish, no prices have even been offered on the first game of the series.

This year's edition has not been considered one of the great Yankee teams, but it has won 103 games to put New York over the 100-victory total for the eighth time since 1927. It has made more than 100 home runs and fashioned 190 double plays and like all of Joe McCarthy's Yankee combinations is noted for its smart thinking and steady, methodical performances.

This year, too, the Yankees have a 20-game winner among their pitchers, which they didn't have in 1941 when

BADGERS BATTLE FIGHTING IRISH TO A 7-ALL DRAW

Bertelli, Harder Bottled Up As Scoring Is Packed Into 5 Minutes

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Irish of Notre Dame and Wisconsin's Badgers cashed in once apiece out of numerous scoring opportunities today and settled for a 7-all draw in a football thriller at Camp Randall.

All the scoring was packed into about five minutes of the third period, but the excitement for 32,000 spectators started early and there was never more than a couple of minutes at a time when either the Irish or Badgers were not threatening.

The Badgers, arising to brilliant defensive heights against Notre Dame's newly-adopted T-formation, turned back accurate Angelo Bertelli, sensational passing star of the Irish, time after time. Notre Dame, on the other hand, kept powerful Pat Harder, Wisconsin's main threat, pretty well under control, but could not prevent him from sharing scoring glory.

Operating with the offensive system made famous at Notre Dame, the Badgers seized a break early in the

RANGERS RALLY TO DEFEAT TRIBESMEN, 7-6

KILGORE PASSING ATTACK TALLIES IN LAST QUARTER

Local Squad Scores In Second Quarter, Keeps Visitors In Hot Water

Coming to life with a brief passing attack in the last quarter afte. being forced to a defensive game for the first three periods, the Kilgore Junior college Rangers of Kilgore, Tex., came from behind to defeat the Northeast Junior college of L. S. U. Indians, 7 to 6, here yesterday afternoon.

A 40-yard punt return by Buck Spencer, classy Ranger halfback, carried the invaders to the N. J. C. 33, the closest advance by Kilgore up to that time, and from there on the Texans took the bit in their teeth.

A moment later Charles Utley rifled a pass to Spencer who gathered in the ball on the Tribe's 10 and raced over standing up for the touchdown that tied the score. Guard Buster Bowling kicked the point from placement to provide the margin of victory.

The Tribesmen, whose offense rolled up eight first downs against four for Kilgore, scored their lone touchdown in the second quarter after a drive that started in the first period on the Tribe 30 and advanced steadily to the Kilgore five, from which point Lloyd Barron went wide around left end on a reverse from Clem Welsh

L. S. U. FROSH NEXT

The Louisiana State university freshmen will invade Monroe next Saturday for an engagement with the Northeast Junior college Indians at Brown field. The battle is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Since 1932 the L. S. U. frosh have met the locals three times and the Tribesmen have yet to upset their big brothers although they almost turned the trick the last two times out. The Baby Bengals won the first tilt in 1932, 49 to 0. They met again in 1938, the locals losing 13 to 6, and their last clash in 1939 resulted in a 12-to-7 victory for the visitors.

Hot Off The Gridiron

CORNELL-LAFAYETTE

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Cornell staved off a fourth period Lafayette rush to defeat the Leopards, 20-16, on Schoellkopf field today.

DARTMOUTH-HOLY CROSS

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 26.—(AP)—An impressive, well-drilled Dartmouth eleven upset favored Holy Cross today, 17-6, before a crowd of 26,000 at Fitton field.

VANDY-TENN. TECH

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Scoring in every period, Vanderbilt turned loose a horde of fleet backs today to overwhelm Tennessee Tech 52 to 0 before 6,000 listless spectators.

TEXAS-KANSAS STATE

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Texas Longhorns overwhelmed Kansas State 64 to 0 today before a crowd of 15,000. Texas used practically every man on its 36 member squad, and one reserve team looked just about as good as another. The visitors never threatened.

HARVARD-NAVY PRE-FLIGHT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 26.—(AP)—One of the greatest teams to represent Harvard in more than a decade surprised a slim opening day crowd of 15,000 by holding the North Carolina Navy Pre-Flight's star-studded football forces to a 13-0 victory today.

Although Lieutenant Commander Jim Crowley used eight of his own recent high-powered Fordham Rams, his Cloudbursts were held scoreless until the inexperienced Crimsonites, minus all of last year's regulars, began to crack under the terrific pressure during the final period.

S. M. U.-NORTH TEXAS

DALLAS, Sept. 26. — (AP) — Southern Methodist, afflicted with a bad case of fumbles, opened the football season today with an unimpressive 26-7 victory over North Texas State before 7,000 fans.

SANTA CLARA-UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Santa Clara's frisky Broncos, running wild at times, unseated Utah university's football Indians 12 to 0, in an intersectional battle today before 13,294 fans.

Santa Clara scored in the first five minutes and again in the closing minutes of the game.

MICHIGAN-GREAT LAKES

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 26.—(AP)—A dazzling aerial game and frenzied line play by a handful of veterans were combined by Michigan here today in a 9-0 upset of the heavily favored Great Lakes Naval Training station football team.

Generaled by a limber-armed Toledo sophomore, slender Bob Chappius, who made his gridiron debut, Coach Fritz Crisler's Wolverines paraded 92 yards through the ponderous sailors for a second period touchdown and third string center, Jim Brieske, booted a field goal early in the third quarter after another Michigan march had moved the ball 37 yards to the Bluejacket four.

NORTHW'T'N-NAVY PRE-FLIGHT

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 26. — (AP) — Striking the happy medium of power on the ground and accuracy in the air, Bernie Bierman's Iowa naval preflight team harmonized its attack around Bill Schatzer today to defeat Northwestern 20 to 12.

The Seahawks, thoroughly drilled in fundamentals of crisp blocking and tackling, drove to one touchdown in the first quarter, another in the second and a third in the last period.

Northwestern, opening its football season before a crowd of 25,000—10,000 less than at last year's first game—scored twice in the second quarter, the second touchdown sending the Western conference member into a short-lived lead.

ARKANSAS-WICHITA

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Arkansas' big Razorbacks made George Cole's head coaching debut an auspicious one today by trouncing the University of Wichita Shockers 27-0 before 2,500 fans.

The Porkers, showing the best opening form in six years, scored in the first, second and fourth periods.

DUKE-DAVIDSON

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Sept. 26. — (AP) — Duke university's Rose Bowl Blue Devils of last January opened the 1942 campaign with a none too impressive 21-0 triumph over Davidson college in a Southern conference game before 2,500 spectators this afternoon.

The Blue Devils struck for two touchdowns in the second period and one in the third, but were three times piled up and held for downs deep in the shadow of Davidson's goal post by the Wildcat forwards.

FORDHAM-PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Fordham's Rams, Sugar Bowl champions, loosed two of the three bursts of aerial fireworks that thrilled 19,000 spectators in Ross-Ade stadium today gaining a 14 to 7 decision over Purdue's Boilermakers.

The game, one of the few in which Fordham has displayed its wares in the Middle West, drew 3,000 more fans than Purdue's opener with Vanderbilt a year ago.

S'EAST LA.-PENSACOLA

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Playing on a muddy field, the Pensacola Naval air station was able to score only two touchdowns and one extra point against Southeastern Louisiana to win its season opener here this afternoon, 13 to 0.

The first score came near the end of the opening quarter when Reeves, Navy tackle, blocked a Lion punt behind the Louisiana goal line and fell on the ball to make it six points. Cotton Milner made good the conversion.

The Navy team got within their opponents' 10-yard line seven times thereafter but on every occasion failed to muster the power to cross the goal.

The final tally came late in the last quarter when Wild Bill Leckony in four plays led the Fliers from the Lions' 35-yard marker across the goal line. His try for the extra point failed. Although the Louisiana team showed off a good passing attack they failed to threaten at any time in the game.

NEBRASKA-IOWA

IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Iowa chased away the Nebraska football jinx today as the surprising Hawkeyes crushed the Cornhuskers, 27 to 0, for the first Iowa victory in nine games over the Big Six conference team.

Some 13,000 spectators saw Tom Farmer, the lad with the accurate right arm, toss three touchdown passes to lead his mates to victory.

Pitching Tom, as expected, threw with deadly aim and it was the running of Ted Curran, shooting out into the open from the "T" formation, which provided the surprise thrills for the Hawkeye fans. The substitute halfback, who scored Iowa's first touchdown in the second period with a 23-yard dash after taking a Farmer toss, led all ground gainers with 93 yards in 12 rushes.

DUQUESNE-WAYNESBORO

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26. — (AP) — Duquesne university opened its 1942 football season with an easy 26-0 win over Waynesboro college, the victory marking its 15th consecutive triumph.

Scoring in every quarter but the last, the Dukes apparently could have run up a much higher score had it not been for the poor condition of the field.

RED BIRDS TAKE 2-1 LEAD IN LITTLE WORLD SERIES

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The American association's Columbus Red Birds, behind George (Red) Munger's seven-hit hurling, took a 2 to 1 lead in the Little World series tonight by defeating the International Syracuse Chiefs, 4-3.

The game was loosely played under adverse weather conditions before 6,550 fans.

STOUT FORWARDS RIDE CLOSE REIN ON TROJAN BACKS

Ely And Thomas Account For Three Of Wave's Four Touchdowns

By Frank Frawley

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26. — (AP) — Southern California's Trojans, generally rated in the pre-season reckoning as one of the two best teams on the Pacific coast, took a sound beating today at the hands of Tulane, 27 to 13.

The Greenies of New Orleans exploded two quick touchdowns in the second period against a slow Trojan line that was outcharged most of the way, and continued the assault in the third quarter with two more.

Trailing by 27 to nothing as the final stanza started, the Trojans yanked out their regular backfield and a new combination found a weakness in the Green Wave's line for two touchdowns.

The Trojans' greatly publicized sophomore backs, Mickey McCardle and Hal Finney, did a lot of running, but most of it was lateral as the alert Tulane defense stalked their every move.

Tulane had two outstanding backs, Jim Ely and Lou Thomas. They worked smoothly behind well-knit and hard driving interference and teamed up as a good passing combination.

It was a most disappointing debut for the new S. C. coach, Jeff Cravath, who started fall practice with a tackle problem and finished today's game with it still on his hands.

Coach Monk Simons showed 45,000 spectators a team that was thoroughly grounded in the rudiments of the game, even at this early stage of the season.

Tulane marched 47 yards in eight plays for its first score, Ely skirting the Trojans' right end for the touchdown. Thomas' attempted placement was blocked.

Thomas next electrified the crowd by gathering in Ralph Heywood's spiralling punt and sprinting 64 yards for another touchdown. This time Thomas' placement was good.

In six plays as the third period opened Thomas and Ely battered the Trojan line for 42 yards and Thomas went the last eight standing up, then kicked goal. Coach Simons sent in his second team and Joe Renfroe stole a pass and returned to the S. C. 23. Ed Fischer, a fullback, bulldogged his way up to the three and Milt Pittman drove through the middle for the touchdown, Bob Grush converting.

The lineups:

Southern Cal.		Tulane
Heywood	LE	Porter
McCall	LT	Tessier
Noble	LG	Fasut
Bianchi	C	Stolen
R. Thomas	RG	Maginnis
Verry	RT	Bentz
Davis	RE	Comer
Bleeker	QB	McDonald
McCardle	LH	L. Thomas
Musick	FB	Pracko

Score by quarters:

Southern Cal.	0	0	0	13	—13
Tulane	0	13	14	0	—27

MISSISSIPPI REBS DROP WEST KENTUCKY, 39 TO 6

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi scored almost at will here today to defeat West Kentucky State Teachers by a score of 39 to 6. A crowd of 1,500 attended.

Charlie Connerly, a sophomore from Clarksdale, Miss., clicked smoothly in the first few minutes of the game and tossed two touchdown passes. The first was for 36 yards to Left End Frank Thorsey and the latter was to Sophomore Ray Woodward for 19 yards. He passed to Thorsey again in the third period for another score.

Midway through the second period, after Ole Miss had used a flock of reserves, Lou Cullen, Kentucky fullback, took a kickoff following Mississippi's third score and returned it 91 yards for a touchdown.

Ray Thibault, freshman fullback, plunged over for one Ole Miss tally and Bobby Yandell took an end-around 32 yards for another.

Louis, Conn--Even Uncle Mike--Offer To Do Fight 'For Free'

Boys Wire Secretary Of War Stimson They're Willing To Forget (Temporarily) Debts Owed Jacobs; Sports Writers Demand Investigation

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The cancelled Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight put up one last gasp today in an offer by all hands to stage the bout without pay, as sports writers expressed their opinions in print that the "arrangements" which led War Secretary Stimson to call off the show were largely the fault of the war department itself.

As Louis, Conn and Mike Jacobs, the war department's original choice to promote the fight, wired Stimson an offer to put the tussle on "for free," several leading columnists inquired in one way or another just how come the war department "okayed" the arrangements originally. These were the same "arrangements" which "shocked" the war secretary, led to his personal investigation and finally caused him to call off the fight yesterday with the statement that it didn't come up to the army's "standards and interests."

Most of them agreed with Secretary Stimson's cancellation of the October 12 fight after all the hullabaloo over the plan to take $135,451.53 from the gate to pay off debts listed as owed by the two soldier heavyweights — $59,805.50 Louis owed Jacobs, $34,500 Conn owed Jacobs and $41,146.03 Louis owed John Roxborough, one of his co-managers.

LIONS TO PLAY SMACKOVER '11' THURSDAY NIGHT

Fourth Game Away From Home Slated By Locals In Arkansas City

The Lions of Ouachita Parish High school, surprise conquerors Friday night of the Homer High school Pelicans, heretofore undefeated by a Lion eleven, play their fourth straight game away from home this week when they invade Smackover, Ark., for a crack at Mac Given's Buckaroos of Smackover High school, Thursday night.

It was announced earlier that Ouachita would have an open date this week but several days ago the Buckaroos arranged to get a return for the invasion here last year when Ouachita handed them a 12-to-0 licking. Smackover had gone through the previous season without defeat in eleven games.

Clyde Scott, the dashing halfback who matched speed and deception with Ouachita's All-State Jack Jackson last year, will again be at the helm of the Buckaroo aggregation for Givens, the former Ouachita performer who was assistant here last year to Mack Avants, ex-Ouachita coach.

Smackover already holds an 18 to 0 victory over Camden's Panthers but they have also suffered a setback at the hands of Hope, Ark. Smackover gained 285 yards and completed five of seven passes against Hope while the latter was netting only 150 yards and completing no passes, and yet fell in defeat.

After their showing against Homer, Coach George Riser made no predictions concerning the Smackover game but figures his boys stand a chance to win, Scott or no Scott, if the Buckaroos are otherwise depending on unseasoned talent.

The offensive play of the Lions showed much improvement in tripping Homer, 38 to 7, and the offensive blocking of the club as a whole was commendable.

Ouachita took charge against Homer from the start and Richard Pate, husky halfback, scored the first touchdown of the game in the first five minutes of play by taking a lateral from Quarterback J. M. McBeth and stepping off seven yards to score.

Allen Brooks, a first year player came through with the next pair of Ouachita touchdowns, scampering 80 yards on a reverse around left end to mark up his first tally in the second quarter, and he added another on a reverse around end for eight yards in the third period. Milam Towns, stellar Lion end, kicked a point after Brooks' first touchdown, and kicked the only other extra point in the third quarter.

Larry Bennett, member of the squad last year but not considered a regular until this season, also chalked up a pair of touchdowns, one in the third quarter on a 4 yard plunge through the middle, and the other in the last period after driving through the line and raring 30 yards to score. Tricky Jerry Gregg capped the Ouachita performance with a sixth and final touchdown in the last period on a take reverse and a 10-yard drive to pay dirt.

While Ouachita's defense was fair, its most glaring show was offensive, Towns, Pace, Jimmy Wainwright and Fred Gulledge, the latter the Lions' little 135-pound center, were especially outstanding.

Ouachita's first home game is scheduled to be played here on the week-end of October 3 with the Class AA Jennings aggregation, but the exact day and time of the game has not been decided.

SPORTS AND VOLS PLAY AGAIN TODAY

Meet In Second Tilt Of Dixie Series; Lade Off For Army Service

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Perhaps the Dixie series will pick up where the dope book says it should have started, a strong Shreveport pitcher working against the power of the Nashville batsmen when the Sports and the Vols tee off for their second game tomorrow afternoon in Sulphur Dell.

Manager Salty Parker of the Texas league champions was undecided tonight as to whom he would pit against the Vols, but his choice lay between Jack Brillhart, a lefthander who pitched for Nashville in 1933 and 1934, and Gordon Maltzberger. The latter a former Southern association righthander whom the Vols beat last year in the Dixie series, tossed two shutouts against Beaumont in the Texas league Shaughnessy playoffs.

Sunday's game will start at 3 p. m. (CWT).

After using four hurlers against the Sports in the opening game of the series, which Shreveport took, 9-3, Friday night, Skipper Larry Gilbert will send George Jeffcoat to the mound for Nashville, a righthander who won 13 and lost 12 in regular season play and beat Little Rock one of the four straight games the Vols copped in the playoff finals.

Though the Sports hit but 240 in regular season play, they pounded Vol hurlers Friday night, including Paul Erickson and young Dutch McCall, for 13 safeties and four doubles while Doyle Lade, a 19-game winner, held Nashville to five scattered hits.

However, Gilbert and his crew have one thing to be thankful for. Lade will enter the army the first of the week and has already left for his induction station. His triumph over the Vols was sweet revenge for a trouncing they handed him in a pre-season game this spring in Shreveport.

Monday will be an off day, the teams moving to Shreveport for games Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. If the series is not decided there, the remaining games will be played in Nashville.

GOPHERS CRUSH PITT FOR EIGHTEENTH WIN IN ROW

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The University of Minnesota football team handed its new head coach Dr. George Heuser, an impressive victory today by crushing the Pittsburgh Panthers 50 to 7 for its eighteenth consecutive win.

There wasn't a doubt about the outcome of the game from the moment Bill Daley, Gopher left half, scored the first of his four touchdowns on a 30-yard run a few minutes after the game opened.

Pittsburgh had a net yardage gain of 80 yards to Minnesota's 355, and that pretty well tells the story of how the first string lines compared

CURTIS TO AGAIN RISK MAT CROWN AGAINST SCHULTZ

Second Championship Bout To Be Staged Tuesday At Local Arena

The scramble for the world's light heavyweight wrestling championship will be renewed here Tuesday night when Champion Jack Curtis of Vicksburg, Miss., gives Challenger Herbie "Dutch" Schultz of Milwaukee, Wis., a second chance at the crown at the Monroe wrestling arena.

The Flying Dutchman, not at all pleased with the outcome of last Tuesday's championship scrap when he lost to Curtis after getting his foot tangled in the ropes and falling flat of his back and an easy victim for the deciding fall, has made two proposals toward fattening Curtis' purse for the second shot at the crown.

Promoter Gus Kallio last night said Curtis had agreed to the re-match but had not decided which financial setup, proposed by Schultz, would accept. In order to get a second chance, the Dutchman offered to personally guarantee $150 in addition to the usual purse percentage of 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser, or the entire purse (minus the personal guarantee) to the defending champion regardless of whether or not he wins the match.

The largest crowd ever to jam the Monroe arena was on hand for last Tuesday's battle and Curtis and Schultz poured action into the battle all the way, each winning one fall before the disputed third fall.

On the occasion of the questionable third fall event Schultz had tossed Curtis out of the ring and kicked him through the ropes again when he attempted to climb back. Then as Schultz let go another kick as the champ clambered back to the edge of the ring, the kick missed. Curtis twisted Schultz left foot between the middle and bottom ropes, butted him in the stomach so that he fell flat of his back in the ring with his leg suspended in the ropes. Curtis then jumped in to cover his foe for the fall.

Schultz declared rules of wrestling forbade the use of ropes and that the ropes were definitely used to defeat him.

The semi-final will bring together Farmer Mack, the Maine potato farmer, and Alberto Campos, former United States light-heavy champ and Navajo Indian of New Mexico and Arizona.

Campos and Mack will meet over a 60-minute time limit, two falls to win.

The Curtis-Schultz title affair will have a 90-minute time limit, also two falls to win.

KILGORE PASSING ATTACK TALLIES

to score. Welsh's kick for the point was wide.

Despite fear that an afternoon game would draw only a small crowd the stands were about full yesterday, thanks to a great turnout by the army flyers of the navigation school. Military uniforms predominated in the crowd and the navigators formed cheering squads of their own to lend life to the party.

Considering the fact that Northeast Junior college's 35-man squad includes 28 freshmen, the Redskins did all right for themselves yesterday. Even Coach James L. Malone was able to smile in defeat and complimented the work of the first year boys who played the bulk of the game with the few returning lettermen to spark them on.

Although the Tribe had charge of the game most of the way, their first threat started late in the opening quarter after Scott kicked to Jack Bishop on the Indian 12 and the Memphis scatback moved the ball back to his 30. Barron hit left tackle for six and then Bishop got loose through right tackle, cut back to the left and into the open only to be hauled down from behind by Burnett and Stone after a 24-yard jaunt to the Ranger 30. S. E. "Shadow" Holloway got four at right tackle and Barron picked up three more at left tackle to put the ball on the Kilgore 23 as the quarter ended.

With the backfield combination of Jimmy Coyle, Clem Welsh, Barron and John Luffey on the field at the start of the second quarter, the Tribe carried through with the 70-yard touchdown march that had started in the previous period.

Coyle was held for no gain at right guard. Welsh tried left tackle without gaining, but immediately hit the same spot again and drove thirteen yards to the Kilgore seven. Welsh picked up two through the middle, and then Barron, on a reverse from Welsh, circled left end to score standing up.

A few moments later the Tribe had the Rangers with their backs to the wall again. Scott fumbled the kick-off after the touchdown and was downed on his own ten. As the result of a holding penalty the Rangers were penalized nine yards to their own one-yard stripe. But Scott kicked out to his own 40 only to have the Tribe, with Coyle, Holloway and Price carrying the ball, hammer right back to the invaders twelve where Kilgore tightened and held for downs.

Kilgore got into trouble again midway of the third period. Bishop got off a 60-yard kick that was downed on the Ranger three-yard line. Scott kicked out to his 34. Holloway and Bishop rushed the ball back for a first down on the Kilgore 22. Barron, Taylor, Brown and Bishop got another first on the 11, but four more whacks at the line fell one yard short of a first down on the Kilgore two. The Rangers kicked out and were never in danger again.

Then Rangers, first threat started as Scott kicked out of the tight spot and Bishop fumbled the kick and the Rangers recovered on their own 34. Spencer then shot a pass to End Nolan Lund for a first on the Kilgore 44. Scott passed to Spencer for nine more yards as the third quarter ended.

Fullback Clinton Crisp opened the last period by driving nine yards more to the Indian 44. Two more passes dropped incomplete and a line play failed so Utley kicked to the N. J. C. 20. Bishop kicked back to the Kilgore 30 where Spencer gathered in the ball and raced back to the Indian 33. Spencer and Scott picked up four yards. Then the Rangers fumbled and Tommy Sands recovered for the Tribe, but the Indians were offsides on the play and drew their only penalty for five yards. Then Utley got one yard and a first through the middle to the Tribe 23. Crisp was held for no gain at left guard, and then Utley shot his touchdown pass to Spencer who had ten yards of running in the clear to tie the score. Bowling's game winning point followed.

WASHINGTON STATE TOPS STANFORD INDIANS, 6-0

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Washington State college launched its drive for the Pacific Coast conference football championship today with a 6 to 0 victory over Stanford's Indians, to the confusion of experts who were certain the T-formation boys would triumph.

Coach Orin E. "Babe" Hollingberry's powerful Cougers took the T to pieces at its inception. It failed to mystify just as a year ago when the northerners chalked up a 14-13 win.

Washington State played its usual rugged game, attacking from a single wing formation. It was sufficient to put over a touchdown pass in the second period and completely dominate the game.

MAROONS WHIP UNION ON STRAIGHT POWER PLAYS

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 26—(AP)—Sticking to straight power plays, Mississippi State scored in every quarter today to defeat Union university 35-2, before a football crowd of 6,000.

Wingback Lamar Blount set the scoring pace, counting touchdowns in the first and third quarters. Blondy Black, Sophomore John Grace and Billy Murphy accounted for the other State markers.

GEORGIA NAVAL CADETS UPSET PENN, 14 TO 6

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Penn and the Georgia pre-flight naval cadets put on a mid-season football thriller before 35,000 at Franklin field today topped by a major upset when the future aviators toppled the favored Red and Blue, 14 to 6.

lead in the first quarter, advanced to 8-0 with a safety in the third when Big Jack Helms smashed through to block Monk Gafford's end-zone punt, and rounded off the game with a final touchdown and extra point barely a minute before the gun.

Tech's line, written off as just average in pre-season speculation, wrecked Auburn's running game and hammered home the Yellow Jackets' victory. Auburn gained just 84 yards through the line all afternoon—and 47 yards of that was picked up on two plays through the middle while Tech's regulars were resting.

Prokop, a 192-pound Cleveland product, engineered both Tech's touchdowns. He came in the game in the first period with the ball on Tech's 24. Punching the line once for two yards, he whipped a 45-yarder to End Jack Marshall. The Tech captain held it a moment then dropped it, but the referee ruled the pass complete on the 30.

Auburn held there for three downs, but on the fourth try Prokop rifled the ball to McHugh in the end zone to score.

Ralph Plaster's placekick for the extra point was wide. Tech drove 64 yards at the start of the third period for what looked like a certain touchdown, but Auburn dug in with a stonewall defense inside the 10 and hurled back four successive linebucks to take the ball on downs a foot from the Tiger goal. Gafford sought to kick out, but Helms slashed through to block him for a safety.

Auburn opened up with a frantic passing attack in the last quarter, and indirectly contributed another touchdown. Fading back behind his own 18, Gafford let go a long pass intended for End Carl Fletcher. Instead, Tech's spectacular junior center, George (Mutt) Manning leaped in the air to intercept on Auburn's 43.

Prokop whipped the ball to End Rabbit Jordan on Auburn's 10, and he almost made it a touchdown before stepping out of bounds two feet from the goal. Prokop dived over to score on the next play, and Helms placekicked the extra point to make it Tech 15, Auburn 0.

Tech drew 17,000 to its 1941 inaugural under more favorable conditions.

HARRIS QUITS AS MANAGER OF NATS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, 45-year-old manager of the Washington Senators, tonight turned in his resignation to President Clark Griffith after 13 years service as pilot of the now seventh place American league team.

The onetime "Boy Wonder" of a more impressive era in Washington baseball said only concerning his future plans that he was "acting at this early date with the hope if there is an opening in baseball for me I will be free to consider it."

STEUBER LEADS MISSOURI IN WIN OVER BILLIKENS

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Big Bog Steuber pitched and ran Missouri to a 38 to 7 football triumph over St. Louis university today as the Tigers stretched their home field victory string to 15 straight. The husky right halfback scored three Missouri touchdowns, one on a brilliant 51 yard sprint, and passed to Quarterback Harold Adams for another marker.

The Tigers, using almost four teams, were never in trouble. Their defense was impregnable until late in the fourth quarter when the Billikens passed to a touchdown with only one second remaining.

The last Tiger score came on a beautiful overhead from Darr to Bob Wren, reserve end, that carried 64 yards. Wren gathered the serial in on the St. Louis 30, and galloped over unmolested.

NEVILLE TO PLAY JONESBORO-HODGE

Tigers Will Make Home Debut Friday Against Jackson Parish Eleven

The Neville High school Tigers, who gained a 6-and-6 tie with the Tallulah High school Trojans at Tallulah Friday night, are scheduled to meet the Jonesboro-Hodge High school Tigers at Neville stadium Friday afternoon in the season's home debut for Coach Elgin Boggs and his first Neville eleven.

While Neville was hammering at the Trojans, Jonesboro-Hodge was taking a 20-7 trouncing by the Minden Crimson Tide Friday, but Jonesboro-Hodge proved hard to crack and displayed a pair of stellar ball carriers in Hannon Shively, who scored the Jackson parish aggregation's only touchdown, and J. T. Caskey, who did practically half the ball carrying for Jonesboro-Hodge.

The line work of Tackle E. L. Womack, Guard Roy Anders and Center A. C. Shackleford was also outstanding and the trio can be expected to give the locals trouble.

John Ezzo was Neville's offensive threat against Tallulah, scoring the Tigers' lone touchdown, and handling the ball on practically every play. Neville's offense looked much better against Tallulah than a week previous against Menard Memorial and the Tigers are definitely improving.

Neville beat Jonesboro-Hodge, 13 to 12, in their last meeting, the post-season Christmas festival tussle here in 1939.

they bagged the world championship from Brooklyn in five games.

Their ace is Ernie Bonham, the big righthanded fork-ball specialist who has won 21 games and lost five. He hurled the deciding game of the series last year and is likely to draw the opening assignment this year if the Cards and Cooper come up Wednesday.

Red Ruffing, with 14 victories and seven setbacks, will work one of the first two games and afterward Spud Chandler and either Rookie Hank Borowy or Atley Donald are in line for duty.

The only member of the Cardinal staff for whom this array might not be a match is Cooper, the outstanding hurler of the season with 22 victories against seven defeats and a collection of 10 shutouts, the most in the majors since 1933. St. Louis' other starters probably would be Rookie Johnny and two southpaws, Max Lanier and Beazley, a sensational 20-game winner, Ernie White.

The Yankees are strong "through the middle" as they almost invariably are, and the presence of the great Joe Gordon at second base gives them a large advantage in the infield. He not only is one of the most spectacular fielders of recent years, but is the only .300 hitter among all the eligible world series infielders.

In the outfield the Yanks have the power that has made them the "Bronx Bombers" with Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller among the leading home run hitters of the season. But they will miss Rightfielder Tommy Henrich, who has enlisted in the coast guard.

The Cards' combination of Enos Slaughter, Terry Moore and Stan Musial has out-hit the Yankee gardeners in percentage and is a more dependable defensive unit.

St. Louis' main reliance, however, will be on the resiliancy of its young pitchers, all of whom can pitch on little rest, and on the unparalleled speed of the club as a whole. The Cards might be able to run away with the series as Pepper Martin did in 1931, even if they failed to hit with the Yanks. But on the other hand they may come up so tired they will barely be able to get out of the dugout.

This latter factor also would hold true if the defiant Dodgers should finally get into the series by winning tomorrow and the resultant playoff next week.

On the whole it is not an inspiring outlook for either National league team—or for the fans in New York, Brooklyn and St. Louis who are waiting to find out when, where and if they will see a series. Both the Yanks and Cards are sold out except for general admission and bleacher seats—but thus far Brooklyn has not let loose of a single one of the tickets the club had printed a couple of weeks ago.

GAMECOCKS, VOLS IN SCORELESS TIE

Furious Aerial Flurry Fails To Produce Tally In Tilt At Columbia

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Tennessee's highly-favored Volunteers shared a furious fourth quarter air battle with South Carolina's Gamecocks today in a scoreless tie. A crowd estimated at 14,000 saw the upset.

The surprising Gamecocks dealt the Vols statistical blows in the first half but yielded more ground in the final bracket. Gamecock first downs totaled six to the Vols' seven for the entire game but these were divided two and two at the half and the Vols racked up only 33 yards net gained to South Carolina's 30 in the first half.

Coach John Barnhill called up his full strength with many substitutions in hope of overcoming the Gamecock forward wall and speedy backfield. Bobby Cifers, ace Vol back, and Walter Slater, Tennessee back, rifled pass after pass but Center Louis Sossamon's long arms broke up the Vols' aerial attack repeatedly.

Glenn Rice, Earl Dunham, Ken Roskie and "Mouse" Halsall led the Gamecock offensive, but were unable to beat down Tennessee's stalwart line.

South Carolina's most potent assault came in the first bracket when the ball rested on the six yard marker after Roskie booted 47 to the Vol six. A quick kick drove the scene of action to midfield and safety.

Cifers initiated a drive which the Gamecocks stopped short only four yards from pay dirt. The 188-pound back snatched up Rive's punt on the Tennessee 45 and was not stopped until the South Carolina 28. Back James Gaffney caught a long pass and was dropped on the Gamecock 11. A line plunge put the ball on the seven and then Slater gained three through center as three Gamecocks lifted him high into the air. The ball went over on downs, and a punt eased the threat.

LOUIS AND CONN RENOUNCE PURSES

the man who put the joker in the deck—the clause in the contract, belatedly disclosed, that Louis and Conn were going to get so much dough to pay their debts?"

"Who was the 'representative of the war department,'" Williams inquired in a special column, "who went to Louis and, as has been printed, got him to fight on the understanding he'd get enough out of the fight to meet those personal obligations? The secretary of war has moved swiftly and superbly in this case, but it seems to us his work has been only half done. How come? Why? Who? Let's know all about this."

Louis has explained that Truman Gibson came to him on September 2 at Fort Riley, Kans., where he was stationed, identified himself as from the war department, and, after discussing the fight (which had not then been announced), left Joe with the understanding that the debts would be paid.

Six days later, however, the fight was announced by the war department as a 100 per cent charity, with no "private interest" benefitting. In its announcement, the war department named a committee of New York sports writers to run the show, headed by Grantland Rice, who was later succeeded by John Kieran. Yesterday, Wilbur Wood of the New York Sun listed these events in chronological order, explaining that when the fight first was announced, the sports writers were not informed of the money "arrangement."

NO SOAP, SAYS ARMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—War department officials stated flatly tonight that "the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight will not be held."

"And that is final," said a spokesman representing Secretary of War Stimson.

"We have been informed that there seems to be some doubt as to whether or not the fight will be held," the official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said. "We understand some stories have been circulated saying that Secretary Stimson will 'reconsider' the question.

"There will be no reconsideration of the question. Mr. Stimson's word was final," the official said.

The official had no comment to make in regard to stories from New York that all hands had offered to stage the bout without pay.

TIGERS OUT-RUSH POWERFUL TEXANS

five-yard line in the fourth period to put the Tigers in a hole which started the Aggies toward their touchdown.

Daniels failed to click on several passes but then shot one straight to Slick Rogers, Aggie wingback, who scampered down the field for a 44-yard touchdown jaunt. Rogers outdistanced two pursuing Tiger tacklers. In all, the air-minded Aggies tried 24 passes but completed only 10, most of them for relatively short distances, and it was the constant sifting of L. S. U. linemen into the Texans' backfield that kept their passing gains to a minimum. Daniels had a net loss on his average running attempts.

L. S. U. found its passing game equally well stopped, resorting to wide pathways left by its steam roller line to free runners for considerable gains. In first downs the Aggies held the edge with 10 to L. S. U.'s 7, but the game was won by reason of the superior Bengal forward play.

GIANTS WIN, FORFEIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Baseball's bit in the scrap metal drive backfired at the Polo Grounds today when the youngsters who got into the ball park with "scrap" contributions broke up a ball game and gave the Boston Braves a forfeit victory over the Giants.

The confusion occurred in the second game of a doubleheader and left the Giants with only an even split in the twin bill, instead of a sweep of both tilts.

The Giants won the opener 6 to 4 with the help of Mel Ott's 30th homer of the season, Johnny Mize's 26th and the steady eight-hit elbowing of King Carl Hubbell. And, with one win already "in the satchel," the New Yorkers were sailing along with a 5 to 2 edge halfway through the eighth inning of the afterpiece.

Then without any warning, the "kids" who had brought scrap as their price of admission, swarmed out of the stands and all over the field. An appeal was made to clear the diamond, but it did no good. So at the umpires' request, the game was ended right there and was forfeited to Boston by the usual 9-0 forfeit score.

Ernie Lombardi and Tommy Holmes had hit homers for all the Boston runs in the opener, Holmes' wallop coming with two aboard.

The long range guns were shut down on both sides in the afterpiece, but Bob Carpenter served up a six-hitter to keep the Braves under control all the way.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16 inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was 5 points higher at 18.77 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 18.68; middling 7-8 inch average 17.87.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Cotton eased off as much as 40 cents from earlier highs on scattered profit-taking and hedging as demanded from trade houses tapered off.

Principal buying on the early rally came through trade price fixing, part of which was attributed to covering against lend lease purchases of spot cotton in the open market. Trading volume was not large as uncertainty over the price control bill still overshadowed the market.

Futures closed 10 to 40 cents a bale higher.

third quarter when Harder ran a short punt by Bertelli back 17 yards to the Irish 35. On the next play, Sophomore Elroy Hirsch, with Harder making the decisive block just inside the ten-yard stripe, raced over for the Badger touchdown. Harder booted the seventh point from placement.

Aroused to fury, the Irish went right back to work on the business of getting back into the ball game. A 43-yard return of the kickoff by Bob Livingstone gave the ball to Notre Dame in Badger territory. Two first downs on slashes through the line took it to the 20. The Badgers staved off that drive when Bob Ray intercepted one of Bertelli's shots on the 12, but Notre Dame made it stick the next time.

Bertelli fired a 26-yard beauty to Livingstone, and two more first downs on running plays took the ball to the Badger three. Fullback Jim Mello punched over for the score in two plays, and Bertelli made sure of a tie by place-kicking the point.

Wisconsin got to the Irish 40 in the first period but failed when passes were smacked down and had other opportunities to get something started through four fumbles by Notre Dame backs, three of them by Tom Miller.

Notre Dame fashioned 14 first downs, eleven by running, while Wisconsin picked up seven, all but two on the ground.

The crowd was well under the 40,000 who watched the Badgers lose their home opener to Marquette a year ago.

NAVAL ACADEMY FALLS BEFORE W. AND M., 0-3

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Harvey (Stud) Johnson's mighty right foot gave William and Mary's Indians their second victory in 17 years over the United States naval academy's inexperienced, erratic gridders today, 3 to 0, before an opening day crowd estimated at 12,000 persons.

Johnson's accurate field goal six minutes after the opening kickoff capped the Indians' only offensive thrust of the game in a bruising contest that was all Navy in every other way.

Navy tried to come back time and time again, amassed 14 first downs and started several long distance drives, but the Middies just didn't have the spark to carry to pay dirt.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The stock market today finished its best recovery week since mid-July on a slightly hesitant note due mainly to some cashing in on the recent upswing and the lightening of accounts for the Sunday recess.

While bids were plentiful for selected issues at the start, real strength was absent in most categories. On the other hand, little actual weakness cropped up and small variations either way ruled at the close. Dealings slowed at intervals but the turnover of around 225,000 shares was the largest for any Saturday since early March.

Bonds were mixed, with carriers mostly off moderately. Commodities steadied.

REFORM IN CALENDAR GETS HIS SUPPORT

RATON, N. M.—(AP)—Bobby Morrow would like to have August 23 wiped from next year's calendar. He says it's a jinx.

A year ago on August 23 he fell and broke his leg.

This year, on the same date, these things happened to him:

He broke the same leg, the left one, in the same spot as he attempted to aid a motorist push his stalled car.

Five of his rabbits escaped.

SLIGHT DELAY, BUT HE'S CHEVALIER NOW

SEATTLE — (AP) — Comdr. A. D. Alexis, 13th naval district public works officer, is a patient man. He waited 13 years to get documentary evidence that he is a chevalier of the National Order of Honor and Merit of the Republic of Haiti.

The award was made in recognition of services he rendered Haiti between 1925 and 1929 as an engineer.

It is estimated that Japan suffers four minor earthquake shocks every day.

For That Christmas Box

(Wide World Features)

Christmas just wouldn't seem like Christmas to mom unless she did overtime in the kitchen. She always has and this year won't be much different even though her son is in the service and there's slim pickin' from the sugar bowl.

There's one thing mom will have to keep in mind though, when making goodies for the boy who is already overseas. Unless she sends things that will "take it," she had better save her time, effort and materials. There's nothing worse than receiving a Christmas box that's a sweet mess of crumbs when it arrives. The usual holiday cookies and candies may be too crisp and perishable for a long voyage.

Almost certain to arrive in good condition are solid goodies such as fruit cakes, hard candies, dried and glazed fruit. Home made marmalade can also be sent if it is carefully packed so that the jar doesn't break. And don't forget that early mailing dates mean the kitchen session has to be earlier for this Christmas.

Here are some recipes that will be kind to mother's sugar ration and any boy would welcome them from home, whether he is overseas or still at camp in the country:

Cranberry Marmalade

4 cups water
3 cups sugar
3 cups corn syrup* (dark or white)
1 teaspoon whole cloves
4 2-inch stick cinnamon

Wash and quarter whole oranges. With a sharp knife, remove pulp; cut into small pieces and reserve. Cut peel crosswise into very thin strips. Cover with cold water; bring to boiling point and boil for 5 minutes. Drain and repeat cooking process 3 times. Combine peel with cranberries, orange pulp and water and cook for 15 minutes. Add sugar, corn syrup and spices and continue cooking until mixture thickens—20-25 minutes. Cool slightly; pour into hot sterilized jars and cover with melted paraffin. Makes eight half-pint jars.

*Or use 3 cups maple syrup or 1 1-2 cups honey.

Wartime Christmas Fruit Cake

½ cup shortening
½ cup corn syrup
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped
¾ cup seedless raisins
1 cup shredded dates
¼ cup chopped mixed candied peel
½ cup chopped nuts
Grated rind 1 lemon
½ cup fruit juice (cranberry, pineapple or orange)

Cream shortening and sugar together until light, gradually adding corn syrup. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat well between each addition. Sift dry ingredients together and mix with fruit, nuts and lemon rind. Add, alternately with fruit juice, to first mixture. Transfer batter to greased, paper-lined bread tins. Decorate tops in flower patterns with whole cranberries, halved almonds and angelica. Bake in slow oven (275) for three hours. Makes 2 1-2 pounds of fruit cake.

Vanilla Caramels

2/3 cup glassed light syrup
1 cup granlated sugar
1½ cups thin cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine syrup, sugar and ½ cup cream in sauce pan and stir until sugar dissolves. Bring to a boil, stirring gently and constantly until mixture reaches a temperature of 234 degrees F. or until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Add ½ cup cream. Again bring to boil until mixture will again form soft ball in cold water. Then add remaining cream and this time boil until mixture reaches 244 degrees F. and will form a firm ball when tried in cold water. Add vanilla. Pour into small, shallow, well-buttered pan. Cool, cut in squares and wrap in wax paper. For variety, nut meats broken in pieces may be added just before pouring into pan.

SEPTEMBER 27, 1942

It is a case of December in September for wives, mothers, and sisters of boys overseas. Christmas shopping must be done now if gifts are to be received by the boys overseas before December 25.

Mrs. A. L. Smith and Mrs. D. Y. Smith, upper left, are busily engaged in wrapping Christmas packages for their grandson and son, Ensign A. L. Smith, who is "somewhere in the tropics."

Mrs. Morris Haas, upper right, has her gifts ready for shipment to her son, Lieutenant Arthur Cramer Haas, who is "somewhere in the Pacific." Mr. and Mrs. Haas have another son, Ensign Morris Haas, Jr., who is with the armed forces. He is stationed at Floyd Bennett Field, L. I.

Mrs. J. B. Vaughan and daughter, Miss Betty Reily, give the last minute touches to their gifts for Miss Reily's two brothers, Ensign Louis Reily, who is stationed with the U. S. Intelligence department in England, and Private Erin Reily, who is with the Marine corps in the Pacific. Miss Reily has a cousin, Private O. W. Reily, who also is stationed in the Pacific. Lower right.

Mrs. J. T. Conger and daughter, Mrs. John William Porter, lower left, have their gifts for Lieutenant Porter in readiness. He is stationed "somewhere in England."

Many Women Serve In Civilian Defense Work

Practice Alerts Devised To Acquaint City With Procedure During Actual Air Raid

Do you know your block air raid warden? If Monroe were bombed you'd be in a predicament without knowing him. You couldn't get a doctor. You couldn't get a fireman. You couldn't get a policeman.

In the practice alerts such as those now being held on Wednesday nights, the usual public service continues to function. But if enemy planes actually came over Monroe, all calls to the police and fire departments, to physicians and others rendering essential services, would have to be routed through the block air wardens.

If a bombing attack came in the daytime and your regular air raid warden happened to be down town at his office, you would need to know also the name of the woman appointed to act in his absence.

Women block wardens are being appointed throughout the area. In many cases they are the wives of regular wardens. Where some member of the male warden's household is unwilling or unsuited for service, other women are being chosen.

To act as wardens the women must take the regular course, and there has not been time to train all of them it has been pointed out by Mr. Joe Trammell, chairman of the Ouachita parish civilian defense council. But one of the principal purposes of the Wednesday night practice alerts is to test the efficiency of men and women air block wardens who have completed the course and are qualified to act in the absence of the men.

The very heart of the alert operations is the control room in the basement of the Frances Hotel where orders are received direct from regional headquarters. In the control room where Mr. Robert Breard is serving as commander, orders will go out on a yellow signal—which means that enemy planes have been sighted. The orders will be relayed down through the zone and precinct wardens. The blue signal means that planes are headed for Monroe and the red signal means that raiders are over the city. The sirens sound on the red signal.

Within the control room there is a locked box containing the master switch which sets off the entire alarm system. The key to the box is kept in a place known only to several CD officials.

On October 14 the practice alert will include all 80 sectors in the seven areas. At this time army officers will be in charge at the control room and will determine whether or not Monroe is ready for a complete blackout. It will be necessary for every department to work in complete unison. These army officers will find out at this time how well the lessons have been learned and how thoroughly they have been put into operation. The practice alert on October 14 will serve as a check-up on the success or failure of the job members of the civilian defense have been working on for several months—that of assisting the civilian to assist himself and to prepare for an emergency, so that raids, when and if they come, will cause a minimum of damage, distress and confusion.

Those who meet the standards upon which the certificates have been awarded may rightfully take pride in the fact that they are integral fighting units on the home front which, with the military front and production front, constitute the lines upon which we shall defeat the enemy.

Mexico Is Subject Of Talk To Literary Club

Mrs. W. M. Mitchell Delivers Interesting Paper Tracing History Of Country

The Monroe Literary club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. T. Ellis, with the president, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, presiding. After a short business session, Mrs. R. E. Wilson, program chairman, introduced Mrs. W. M. Mitchell, who gave an interesting paper on, "Mexico, the Land of the Mayons and the Aztecs." Mrs. Mitchell said in part:

"Mexico is shaped like a cornucopia, or horn of plenty, and it is very appropriate, for Mexico is a treasure house where there is stored up the most enormous and diversified wealth ever bestowed by nature upon a single people in a similar area. It has supplied more than one-third of the world's silver for four centuries. It ranks well up among the leaders in the production of gold and its huge deposits of copper and iron ore are incredibly rich. The untapped oil resources are said to be vastly greater than any yet uncovered. Ninety per cent of all the different kinds of fruits grown in the world flourish in Mexico and every variety of grain found in the United States abounds even more luxuriantly in the rich soil of Mexico.

"The mountains of Mexico form one vast deposit of valuable minerals. Two majestic mountain ranges arise south of the border, the Sierra Madre Oriental and the Sierra Madre Occidental. Between these two mountain ranges is a great plateau, a paradise for mining, grazing and agriculture. The climate on the coast is hot, averaging 77 to 82 degrees. As one penetrates into the interior the weather becomes delightfully cool and bracing and finally one reaches the region of perpetual spring where the mercury hovers between 62 and 70 degrees the year 'round. Wheat and sugar cane can be grown side by side. In spite of all this mineral wealth the country and most of the people suffer from bitter poverty. The mass of people are constantly on the verge of starvation, though many spots in Mexico are veritable fairy lands of productiveness. As a famous scientist said, 'Mexico is like a beggar sitting on a bag of gold.' The explanation lies in oppression, war and the character of the people themselves. They are a mixture of Spanish and Indian blood. The leaders of the Mexican government have to combat constantly the Mexican habit of putting off their troubles until 'manana' or tomorrow.

"The Spaniards came to Mexico in 1519. Among the Indian tribes, the oldest of which there is any record are the Mayans. They lived in the peninsula of Yucatan, Honduras and in Guatemala. At the head of the ancient Mayan state was the priesthood, members of which were often the actual rulers. Under their dominance the people cleared away the jungle and built great cities. The fertility of the soil rewarded them and suddenly there was an amazingly advanced Mayan culture. The cities were the religious and governmental centers. The mass of the people lived in thatched houses near their fields. The highest attainment in culture was between 300 and 600 A. D. After that time they seem to have moved north to Yucatan where, about 1000 A. D. three cities formed a league, Chichen, Uxmal and Mayapan. This league dominated the peninsula. Internal strife, however, wrecked the confederacy. The Mayapan sought the aid of the Tolte in Mexico against her former allies and was successful. They won Chichen Itza. After a brief period of advance, war broke out again. This time Mayapan fell. The country was torn by many warring factions. Agriculture was neglected and famine and pestilence followed. This was the condition when the Spaniards arrived. For fourteen years they struggled against the European invaders and were finally defeated. The Spaniards looted the temples, destroyed their sacred writings, crushed their leaders. The cities were abandoned and for four centuries the jungle reconquered the land and buried the cities. Today the archaeologists are recovering the story of this lost civilization.

"The Aztecs were the most powerful tribe at the time when the Spaniards came. Never perhaps in the world's history has there been a people more difficult to understand than the Aztecs. When bold Cortez with his Spaniards reached the valley where Mexico City lies, they found in the midst of a lake an island city of high towers, temples, and palaces, all white and glittering in the tropical sun and across the causeways which connected it with the shore streamed throngs of brown-skinned people. This was the city of Tenochtitlan, where lived the great Montezuma, king of the Aztecs. Montezuma lived in great splendor, surrounded by his nobles and served by thousands of slaves. He maintained beautiful gardens and manageries. He kept thousands of men constantly employed in cleaning and sweeping the streets and in scrubbing the walls of the temples and palaces until they shone with that dazzling whiteness which amazed the Spanish explorers. Among the crops grown were corn, beans, cocoa, maguey, chillies, seed of various kinds and cotton. A strict and wise system of laws and courts protected the common citizens. Crime and disorder were severely punished. Aztec women shared in most of the occupations of the men. They were taught to sing and dance and even learned reading and astronomy.

"This was the Aztec empire which the Spanish governor of Cuba heard about. In 1519 he sent an expedition under Hernandez Cortez to make a conquest of the country. He landed first on the little island of Ulua in the harbor of Vera Cruz. The Aztecs allowed them to enter the city for two reasons; because of their custom to take prisoners instead of killing the enemy, and second, years before there had been a white-bearded man whom they call Quetzalcoatl, the god of arts and crafts. After teaching them the arts and crafts, he had departed eastward over the sea, promising to return at a certain time. Cortez came in that very year he had promised. This caused the Aztecs to adopt a policy of hesitancy toward them. On June 30, 1520, Montezuma was killed. Next day the Spaniards were driven from the city. Cortez began a siege of the city in May, 1521, and succeeded in taking it on August 13, 1521. This was the end of the Aztec empire. Very few remains of their buildings exist, so thorough was the destruction of Cortez and his men. However, their architecture closely resembled that of the Mayans. These bearded white men established their capital on the ruins of the Aztec capital. The white flood was not strong enough to overcome the brown currents which stopped its advance and ended by absorbing it, thus creating a new race. Successive waves of humanity have come in since that time, leaving through the country vestiges of their language, religion, science and art. So modern Mexico is a kaleidoscope of human history. Everywhere he goes, the traveler sees next to modern districts remains of the colonial era and of archaic America."

Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Gives Review Of Book

"The Moon Is Down," by Steinbeck, continues to be the most popular novel of the day. This book was charmingly reviewed by Mrs. Mike John, Jr., at the regular meeting last week of the Current Literature Club in the home of Mrs. R. L. Conway.

Mrs. Conway, club president, presided and during the brief business session introduced the speakers of the day. Mrs. Earl Stovall gave an informative talk on tire and gasoline rationing.

Mrs. John, reviewing "The Moon Is Down," said in part: "'The Moon Is Down' is Steinbeck's first important work since 'The Grapes of Wrath' and the most resolute and dramatic piece of propaganda that has come out of World War II. 'By ten-forty-five it was all over, the town was occupied, the defenders defeated and the war finished.' With these words John Steinbeck begins the brisk, matter-of-fact account of the conquest of a nameless country, resembling Norway, by an invading force, resembling the Nazis. The writing is spare, bold, sometimes tensely humorous. He tells of the invasion and how the people are forced to go on working in the mines, taking orders from the mayor who, in turn, is taking his orders from the invaders. The high point of 'The Moon Is Down' is Lieutenant Tonder's meeting the pretty town girl and at the time he didn't know who she was. She was Alex Morden's widow, who had been shot by the invaderse. She didn't tell Lieutenant Tonder this; she pitied him, and because she pitied him she realized that she must kill him serself."

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following members: Mrs. Leon Dennis, Mrs. R. F. Seiler, Mrs. Earl Stovall, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Harmon Harris, Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Mrs. W. A. Whitfield, Jr., Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich and Mrs. John Naylor.

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right

If you have to get up 3 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Functional rather than organic or systemic Kidney and Bladder trouble often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the Kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, backache, or swollen ankles, due to non-organic or non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy relief in so high a percentage of such cases, Cystex is sold under a guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory. Cystex costs only 35c at druggists.

Mrs. Swain Delivers Address To Book Club

Interesting Paper On Madame Chiang Kai-Shek Read To Welcome Branch Members

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, one of the greatest living women today, was the subject of a splendid paper prepared by Mrs. Charles Swain and read before the members of the Welcome Branch Book club at their regular meeting last week in the home of Mrs. W. C. Faulk.

Mrs. Swain said:

"There are many great women in the world today—our own First Lady, the demure little Queen of England, the gracious Duchess of Windsor, heroic Queen Wilhelmina, and many other feminine figures who are great living leaders. Sharing the world spotlight with these is Madame Chiang Kai-Shek.

"In a recent article entitled "What One Woman Can Do," Clare Booth calls her the greatest living woman. It is on this article that I base this discussion of the woman who is playing such a vital role in this world at war.

" 'Personality' eternally defies analysis, but on 10 simple counts one may delineate, if not explain, the greatness of this forty-four year old Chinese woman.

Madame Chiang is one of the world's best wives. No one in China curries favor with Mayling ("Beautiful Mood") Chiang by insinuating that she is "the power behind the throne," or the brains behind the Gissimo. She knows that she is, at best, the moon, while he is the sun of China, and that the light that shines from her is his reflected glory. Quite simply, Madame believes that without her husband China today would probably be a Japanese province, but that without her Chiang would still be in there fighting, not so well, perhaps — but still fighting. For 15 years she has shared—not shouldered—all his disappointments, discomforts and dangers.

"The highest tribute that any man could pay to a helpmate, Chiang Kai-Shek has paid to his wife. When an interviewer, urging him to send Madame Chiang to America, said, "She would be worth a division to you there," Chiang replied, "Ah, but she is worth 10 divisions to me here, by my side, in China!" Madame Chiang knows as well as any wife alive "what every woman knows"—that to put her husband's interests and aims and dreams first, to guide and never to lead, to counsel and never to command, to suggest and never to insist, is to stay not only supreme in his heart but foremost in his councils.

"Madame Chiang is one of the world's best mothers. Perhaps no other woman living has played the role of mother to so many babies, children and young boys and girls. She has personally adopted 40,000 war orphans. She has made it her unique business to see, not only that they are fed and clothed, instructed to read and write, given vocational training, but that like good children of a good mother, they grow up loving one another and—China.

"Madame Chiang is one of the world's great organizers. In the early days of her marriage she started what came to be known as the New Life Movement in China. This movement, ridiculed at first by the intelligentsia, began by fighting for a nation-wide campaign against dirty houses and dirty bodies, against spitting in public places and against frivolities of all sorts among the upper classes. But through the years the movement has gradually widened until it is now a dynamic political and social force in China.

"She is the nearest thing to a Joan of Arc that this decade has produced. For a long time she was chief of China's air force. She was one of the first in China to see the importance of air power in modern combat. With her air generals she plotted the campaigns of China's young air service until, when the World war broke over Europe, her air force, getting no further reinforcements from Germany or Russia, was whittled out of the skies by the vastly superior Jap planes. She has visited the front lines under shellfire time and time again with the Gissimo and, in the many bombings she has undergone, she is the first to leave her shelter and go among the soldiers and citizens to rally them.

"She is also the nearest thing to a Florence Nightingale that this decade has produced. She has worked incessantly to develop a strong and well-equipped Chinese Red Cross. In a land where Chinese ladies were taught throughout the centuries never to "lose face" before the lower classes by serving them, in a land traditionally indifferent towards wholesale suffering, she has herself washed the gangrened feet of farmer-soldiers, and bound the wounds of peasants caught in air raids.

"She is one of the world's most influential missionaries. Both her American-educated Chinese father, Charles Jones Soong, and her Chinese-born mother, Katherine Nyi Soong, were devout Methodist Episcopal missionaries and she has carried on the spirit of their work in China. She has promulgated Christian teaching and education in the great Chinese universities and missionary work among the people.

"She is one of the world's most famous bi-linguists. She spent the formative years of her life—from the time she was 10 years old to the time she was 19—in America, largely in the South. She was graduated from Wellesley College in 1917. Her English is flawlessly idiomatic spoken with a soft Southern accent. She had to learn to speak Chinese when, as a young woman, she at last returned to Shanghai. Today she writes and speaks both languages so well that if she had no other claim to fame she would be well-known in both countries as an orator and a writer.

"She has done more than anyone living or perhaps than any human being that ever lived to bring to the peoples of the east a knowledge of the west, and to the people of the west a knowledge of the east. The marked trend in free China today towards western culture, western methods and r western 'outlook' can be largely traced to her influence, not only on the Gissimo, who has never been out of the Orient and who speaks only one word of English—'darling' which he uses to his wife.

"She is one of the world's most skilled women diplomats, politicians, enlightened statesmen. Throughout the years when China was fighting alone against Japan, China was never completely without friends. Embittered as she also must have been with the west's appeasement policy of military and economically aiding Japan in the very face of facts that screamed to be recognized, Madame Chiang and the Gissimo seldom lost their patience, recriminated or threatened, and never, never sold out, or made deals with other axis powers.

"She is one of the world's most beautiful and charming and human women. She is about five feet, four inches tall. She has a slim figure, great black eyes and lovely white hands. Her beauty does not lie in feature or form, but in movement and color. Madame Chiang Kai-Shek is a dynamic spirit, a woman of so many expressions and moods that they would be only in the range of a Duse or Bernhardt. Because she's human, she often looks a little ill and very tired —after a big bombing of Chungking, or many hours in a car driving over muddy roads."

At the close of the program delicious refreshments were served to: Mesdames Sam Campbell, H. D. Cleaver, H. V. Collins, J. T. Eubanks, W. C. Faulk, V. S. Garnett, R. H. Gibson, A. S. Gunter, M. R. Hausherr, E. E. Lawson, A. E. Loyd, J. D. Petty, F. H. Peterson, George Phebus, G. B. Riggin, W. E. Sandel, T. H. Scott, Dean Selig, R. I. Senn, Adair Smith, Zell Smith, Charles Swain, L. V. Dr. Maffet Suggests Women On War Boards

Should women of the United States have places on those boards and committees deciding upon war policies? Would the war production board with its 146 high-ranking officials be made more efficient by the membership of at least one woman? Would there be some profit in having feminine as well as male members in the office of facts and figures, the office of civilian defense, on the national labor board and a dozen others?

These queries are the thesis of much of the thinking done by the 70,000 women of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs and the subject of a masterly survey made recently by Minnie L. Maffet, M. D., Dallas, Texas, president of the organization.

The answer is a definite "yes" in Dr. Maffet's opinion. Her survey, based on the roster published by the government office of emergency management, reveals that among the 401 highest-ranking officers on the 12 most important boards, there are two women. These are to be found, one each, in the office of price administration, and on the war manpower commission.

"There are qualified women enough to fill any number of these places creditably," Dr. Maffet said as she named the 10,000 women physicians, 3,000 women lawyers, 423,000 women managers, owners and executives, and the 131 highly trained women engineers.

"These numbers are not as high as they might be because women have been discouraged from going into these highly trained fields," Dr. Maffet writes in the Independent Woman. "But there are enough."

Sometimes men get into something of a pickle through having no woman for ready reference, Dr. Maffet learned. For instance, the office of production management recently sent an S. O. S. to the women's bureau.

"We are at a meeting," said the bass voice on the telephone, "and are trying to allocate rubber for women's undergarments. How much rubber must be used in a woman's corset?"

Dr. Maffet intimates that she trusts members of the board were properly embarrassed at having to refer such a simple and necessary matter to outside authorities.

Reminding her fellow members that many "in the know maintain that the United States is losing the battle of psychological warfare abroad," Dr. Maffet names some of the superlatively qualified women who might be used in straightening out some tangles. Similarly she would have placed on government programs more of those women who have real knowledge of those countries in which the United States is endeavoring to spread American ideas and democratic principles. She asks pertinent and stimulating questions in a dozen other fields.

INTRODUCING . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Cascio whose marriage was an event of widespread interest and attracted friends from various sections of the state and New York. Mr. and Mrs. Cascio are now living in New York City. Mrs. Cascio formerly was Miss Mary Catherine Miano of this city.

Mary Catherine Miano Weds Leonard Cascio

Impressive Ceremony Performed At St. Matthew's Church; Reception Follows

The affectionate interest of friends throughout this section of the state is centered in the wedding of Miss Mary Catherine Miano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Miano, and Mr. Leonard F. Cascio of Brooklyn, N. Y., September 9, at St. Matthew's Catholic church with Monsignor N. F. Vandegaer performing the impressive nuptial mass.

The church was beautifully decorated with masses of white gladioli and asters against a background of cathedral tapers. The altar rail was entwined with white blossoms.

While the guests were assembling a nuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. D. G. Nichols, organist, and Miss Margie Kalil, soloist. She sang in beautiful voice, Ave Maria.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Frances Ann Miano. She wore a beautiful white satin Princess gown with yoke of white Alencon lace, long dolman sleeves. She wore a short veil of illusion caught to the hair with a chaplet of white roses and carried an arm bouquet of pink Sunburst roses tied with long lengths of pink satin ribbon.

Charles J. Cascio served as best man and C. C. Cascio served as groomsman. The ushers were Louis Costanza, R. M. Jones, Anthony Lewis and Anthony Genuna. All were in formal evening attire.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional white satin wedding gown fashioned with a yoke of imported Venetian lace embroidered in seed pears. The skirt was long and full and ended in a court train. Her veil of illusion was caught to her hair with a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms. A superb arm bouquet of orchids, white bride's roses and tube roses was carried. For something old she wore an heirloom diamond necklace belonging to her godmother, Mrs. C. Slavant. Her wedding handerchief was of imported rose point lace and her rosary of mother of pearl came from France.

The ceremony, for sentimental reasons, took place on the 28th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. Monsignor Vandegaer also officiated at that time.

Following the ceremony a reception was held on the terrace of the Frances hotel followed by a luncheon in the Mirror room. Seventy-five guests were seated at the long tables serviced in silver and crystal and banked high with beautiful white roses and asters. Toasts were drunk to the bride and bridegroom at this time.

The cutting of the beautifully embossed, three-tiered wedding cake was one of the highlights of the luncheon hour. The cake was surmounted with bride and bridegroom figurines made especially for this occasion by a New York caterer.

The bride's mother assisted in receiving the guests in a handsome ashes of roses model with corsage of Talisman roses tied with gold colored ribbons.

Dancing was enjoyed between the hours of six and ten on the Frances hotel terrace. Iced frappe was served at this time from a mammoth bowl imbedded in ice. It was presided over by Mrs. Gertie Scherck Jones in a black crepe dinner gown trimmed with jet beads and a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Leon DeLee, assisting in serving the luscious confections furnished by a New Orleans caterer, wore a poudre blue dinner model and a corsage of pink Radiance roses.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school. The groom is a graduate of Cleveland High and attended New York university. He now is employed as a marine electrician in New York.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Leon Ippolito and daughters, Margaret and Josephine; Mr. and Mrs. John Ippolito, and Mrs. Margaret Fontano of Port Arthur, Texas; Mrs. A. Bivona of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. A. Monica and daughter Rose, and Levi Monica of Garyville, La.; Mr. Tony Papa and daughter Esther, Mrs. V. Matassa, and Mr. Standley Lewis and nephew, A. J. DON'T BE FOOLED BY A FULL JUNK YARD!

Don't listen to people who say---"They can't need SCRAP very badly. Look at that junk yard, or the auto graveyards--they've got plenty of scrap. And remember the last time we had a drive the stuff sat around for weeks." Tell such people these true facts . . .

Of course the junk yards are full. They are "factories" that turn out finished scrap—sorted, broken up, and bundled . . . ready for the mills of America. The scrap has to go through these yards, and it keeps going through fast!

The auto graveyards, too, are busy. They specialize in used car parts, but produce plenty of scrap as well. In June alone, these yards moved 450,000 tons—for they are required to junk within 60 days as many cars as they buy.

As for Salvage Depots—communities all over the country are staging drives. All this scrap can't be taken away at once. The junkies can't handle it and the mills can't store it. But every pound is needed and will be used. We've got to pile it up ready for instant use at any time.

The day when all junk yards are empty, when the auto graveyards are cleaned out, when all the local scrap stockpiles are gone—that is the day to dread. It is a day to avoid at all costs.

So remember—steel is needed to fight the war, and millions of lives depend on it. This steel is made of 50% scrap—and the mills have not enough scrap to last even 30 days longer. Don't fail to do your part in this emergency.

An Early Bird Christmas? Here Are The Party Rules

By Gladys Degner
Wide World Features Writer

Looks like an early Christmas this year! War has changed so many of our habits and customs that a pre-season Yuletide celebration won't be unusual at all. If you want to do something extra-special for your friends and family, you'll have your Santa Claus party while they're all around. No one knows to what corner of the globe Tom, Joe—yes, even Nell—may have scattered by the time December 25 rolls around.

You can make your party a very gay one—with or without the time-honored eggnogg. Everything is available but the Christmas tree. The stores are already stocked with holiday decorations, gifts and goodies. Plan simple but sophisticated games to challenge the intelligence, yet furnish fun for kids and grown ups alike.

One simple, hilarious bit of fun consists of preparing a set of questions for every person present, one question to a page. Each is also given a set of pictures (the same number as questions) clipped from magazine advertisements, each person to paste one of the pictures from his collection which best answers the first question. After the page has been completed, the entire set is passed along to the person on the right and each person then pastes a picture to question No. 2 and so on until the questions have been completed. Then comes the review, with laughter and fun galore.

Still another game — instructive as well as entertaining — is to pass out paper and pencils. Each contestant places his name at the top of the sheet. The leader then reads off names of foreign cities or places often mentioned in the news, the contestants to write down the location. You'll be surprised how few they can place. Silly prizes will make for more hilarity.

Here's one for the super-intellects. Hand each a sheet of paper and pencil, then pass out one picture to each person — something clipped from a magazine. Give the contestants two minutes to study the picture and ten minutes to write a short story (not over 200 words) around the picture. The story is supposed to tell what the picture portrays, the events leading up to the situation, and what happened afterwards. A good test of the imagination! You'll probably discover some real talent in your group, so you'd better arrange for a prize for the most interesting story.

Even the youngsters will enjoy these games. Their results may make the grown ups blush. Once around for each game will just about fill in the time before refreshments and put everyone in a happy frame of mind.

Don't forget those dance records! And you'd better take up the rugs so the young people can cut up all they want. Christmas is a time for merrymaking, and a pre-Christmas party should be a lot of fun for everyone.

COME ON, MONROE!

Come to the

¼ MILLION DOLLAR WAR BOND BREAKFAST!

September 30th, 8:15 A. M.

Frances Hotel

Dig deep, Monroe! We are not "over the top" for the War Breakfast - - - because there is no "top" Uncle Sam needs every dollar we can get! Let's awaken every sleeping dollar and put it to work as an investment at interest.

Our boys, in the frozen arctic wastes, in flaming hot jungles and deserts, at sea and in the air, need your financial help on the comfortable home front Will you back them up with your dollars ---dollars you merely lend in the world's strongest investment?

Read the Answers to These Questions

Is this a gift? No! It's an investment. Remember, the money you will put up for this great patriotic breakfast is not a gift to Uncle Sam. It's an investment in the best security in the world today! So, dig down deep, Monroe, and buy that bond—from $1,000 to $100,000 and come to that breakfast—you don't need a special invitation. Phone the committee, now!

Can I buy more? If you've already bought a bond—you can buy another—a bigger one—for the wife—son or daughter—for your business.

Trust funds, church, civic, fraternal funds—what safer security than United States Government War Bonds?

Suppose I can't come to the Breakfast? Even if you can't come to the breakfast—buy at least a $1,000 bond—and you can have it included in the War Bond Breakfast total.

Who pays for the Breakfast? You do! Your citizens' committee has no funds to pay for the breakfast. A nominal charge will be made to all attending the breakfast. The money used to purchase the bond goes direct to Uncle Sam.

Where and when is it? Wednesday, September 30, 1942, 8:15 a. m., at the Frances Hotel. Meal will be served to suit the occasion.

Do I need a special invitation? NO! Your volunteer committee could not possibly know every patriotic citizen who can buy a $1,000 bond. If you can, it is your duty to get in touch with us.

I've subscribed, but haven't bought my breakfast ticket yet—what do I do? Ticket for breakfast will be issued by any issuing agent that you purchased your bond from. Enclose your check payable to any issuing agent such as bank, homestead, theater, radio station, etc., and we will issue invitation.

EXTENSION WORK TO BE EXPLAINED

Those Interested Asked To Attend Meeting At College Library

Persons interested in registering for extension work offered by Louisiana State university are asked to attend an organization meeting in the Northeast Junior college library building at 8 p.m. October 1, Dean C. C. Colvert announced. Dr. Marion B. Smith, director of the extension division, will be present to explain the general extension setup and to organize classes.

The program offers a wide scope including classes with or without credit for both undergraduate and graduate work at nominal cost. Almost any class may be formed provided a minimum of 10 persons desire it, Dean Colvert said. There has been a definite growth in the popularity of such work, according to Dr. Smith. Enrollment this year in extension classes at L. S. U. shows a significant increase over last year's figures, he added. The service offered by this division gives an opportunity to many individuals to earn college credit during the time they are employed. To some it provides a practical means of reviewing work not used for some time, while for others it offers classes that may prepare them to accept defense jobs, he explained.

Extension classes may be arranged to meet day or night, depending upon the desire of those interested in the work as well as the schedule of the instructor offering the course. Classes in which college credit may be earned will meet for a 18-week period.

Inquiries already are being made concerning courses in mathematics, physics, history, commerce, and Spanish. The commerce department of the local college is prepared to offer accounting, business machines, shorthand and typing, according to J. T. Johnson, head of the department. Classes for beginners and those desiring advanced work in accounting may be organized. For beginners the work will include mainly the bookkeeping cycle, with special emphasis upon statements, while the advanced work will stress more intricate problems of general accounting. The course in business machines comprises practical work with calculating, adding and bookkeeping machines. Beginners' shorthand will emphasize theory of the work under the Gregg system. Students will learn shorthand characters, whereas little speed can be developed. If demanded, an advanced course will be given where speed and transcription will be emphasized.

In beginners' typing the class starts by mastering the keyboard then proceeds to build speed and stress letter writing. The advanced work builds speed and covers more complicated problems in typing. Commerce courses listed carry three semester college hours with the exception of typing which carries two hours of college credit. Persons interested in this phase of work may call Mr. Johnson at 4200.

CHAPTER XVII

At Good Samaritan you said Frazier-and-Bech as naturally as at table you said salt-and-pepper, bread-and-butter. You said, Frazier-and-Bech are in Pediatrics, or GYN, or Surgery, as they progressed through the months of their rotating services.

That doctor-nurse combination had begun three years before, back in interne-probationer days, more or less by accident and it had continued by design—Dr. Peter Frazier's design—straight on into Emergency, Dr. Frazier's last service before he would go into private practice.

For the first time in months Candace found herself resenting it. In the beginning, longing to run away from anything or anybody that even remotely suggested Martin, she had fought bitterly against that enforced contact with Peter; but circumstances and Peter's quiet will had been too much for her.

She would have said that she had completely forgotten Martin. That he was to her now simply a doctor who had once been an interne at the hospital and was now a consulting staff member who appeared occasionally on important cases. That would be true again after tomorrow; but today he was more than that, much more. He was the man she had once loved, and who was to marry on the next day another girl.

She had come on evening duty a few minutes before, to find Emergency busy in the aftermath of a street fight in a nearby foreign neighborhood. Being shepherded up to a ward under the watchful eye of a policeman was a sullen group sporting assorted bandaged knife wounds and blackened eyes, while on the table wincing under Peter's probing fingers, was still another late belligerent.

Jepperson, the nurse she was relieving, was a good one as far as care and kindness went, but not particularly quick or efficient. Candace thought, Jeppy'll be all night at this mess if I don't clear it, and she set quickly to work to rid the corner behind the screen of the stained swabs and gauze, leaving to Jepperson the less arduous task of passing instruments to Peter.

She was still cleaning back there, out of sight, when she heard two of the internes on ambulance duty—riding the bus, as it was called—come into Emergency, arguing cheerfully. She recognized them from their voices as Henderson, the rather flip good-looking one, and fat Quincy.

"It's three days since that baby was born in your bus," Quincy was saying. "Three days, and you haven't come across with that barrel of beer forfeit yet. The rest of us are dying of dry-rot, waiting."

That prospect didn't seem to dismay Henderson. "Y' know, I kinda wish you would," he said cheerfully. "You'd force me into bankruptcy to fork over $9 for a barrel of beer when you can get tinko tomorrow at the Hartshorne-Corby nuptials at Papa Hartshorne's expense. Papa Hartshorne, they say, is providing even champagne."

Candace had stiffened. Shut up, she thought wildly. Shut up! But Quincy's mind had already gone on to other things.

"What are you doing here?" he asked Jepperson. "Where's Hi-hat Bech? Isn't she supposed to be on? Not that I don't prefer you," he added lightly. "Bech always makes me feel nine years old, unwashed, and late for school."

With the change of subject, Candace could breathe again. She emerged from behind the screen, rather pale but apparently otherwise unruffled.

"Good evening," she said with vinegary sweetness. "I see our dear little cheerful cherubs are with us again."

Jepperson giggled nervously, and the two boys murmured confused apologies and slunk abashed from the room.

Peter straightened a moment from the wound he was dressing. "You're bushed Jep," he said casually. "Go on, Bech will take over."

When she had gone and Candace stodd beside him he grinned at her companionably. "I'd hate to see what would happen if one of the young squirts around here got up courage enough to dare say 'boo' to you," he remarked.

Candace stared frostily, raised warning eyebrows over the patient's head.

"Oh, he doesn't speak English," Peter explained. "What I mean is," he went on, "you have every man-Jack scared of you when, if only they had brains enough to see it, you're the one who's really scared. Scared stiff that life will find you out, force you out of that hard shell you're so busily growing."

She had struggled hard to put their relationship on a professional, strictly impersonal basis and it had seemed that she had finally won. It was a long, long while since a really personal remark had passed between them. She was angered, and wounded, that Peter should presume today of all days. She said sharply, "You're so clever, Doctor. You read me just like an open book, don't you? But then you should, since you've seen all the pages."

"Save the sarcasm," Peter advised mildly. "It's a mighty effective weapon in most cases and I've come to admire the way you use it, but I'm so thick I'd blunt it. Resent it or not, it's still sound advice for you to put that perfect machine you've become under dust covers once in a while and come out for air. At least when you're off duty."

"If ever I should need or want your advice, Doctor," she said stiffly, "I'll come to you as a patient and ask for it." Her face was white and her voice shook, but the well-trained hands that furnished him with implements never wavered.

"You must know," she broke out furiously again after a moment, "that I resent this spying on me all the time. That I hate having to work with you. Hate it, hate it. Yet you've somehow managed it on every service. Why?"

"Oh, it's for a very selfish reason," Peter said lazily. "Because you're a perfect machine. With you, one never has to be considering the personal equation. It makes things very easy —for me. I'm afraid it's bad for you, though. Keep every human emotion too long in leash and one day they'll turn on you and rend you."

Candace laughed, sharp and hard. With a deliberate effort to be insulting she said, "I never thought you'd be guilty of such cheap advice, Doctor. That emotion rending business—I thought only the cheaper internes trying to interest some nurse in a convenient affair used that one."

She had succeeded in annoying him finally. "If you're insinuating that I'm advising an affair for you—I'm not. Even to an affair one must bring something; and you're fast getting to the stage where you're just an empty vessel."

"'Empty vessels make most noise,'" she quoted. "That's what I was always told as a child when I prattled too much. But it seems to me you're the one who's doing the prattling just now. Prattling the sort of advice that goes over big with neurotic lady patients. The type of patients who really pay. You'll be a big success at that rate, Doctor." Abruptly she stopped.

Exactly that was being said about Martin, that he was building up that kind of a practice—

The thought of Martin came as a shock. She realized, with almost a feeling of gratitude toward Peter for having so distracted her, that the day she had so long dreaded was almost over and she had been forgetting to think of Martin, that she had not once, since coming on duty, imagined him practicing for that scene in the church tomorrow.

And now, she knew thankfully, she'd have no time to think of it. Because she was hearing the siren of a policeman's motorcycle, the sound of a speeding car coming to a grinding stop in the courtyard outside. The emergency warning gong began to sound.

There was the familiar faint squeak of the stretcher-carriage's wheels, the muted footsteps of attendants on the cork floor of the corridor. The carriage reached the door of Emergency, paused an instant to negotiate the turn, then—Martin Corby was wheeled in.

'Wake Island' Opens Paramount Engagement Thursday

Now that the United States marine corps has given the Japs a dose of medicine in the Solomons and is poising, from all accounts, for further thrusts, this is the time for grim reflection upon a score which the Leathernecks have to pay off. Such a stern mediation and a rousing tribute, too, is "Wake Island," the feature playing Thursday through Saturday at the Paramount. Starred in the film are Brian Donlevy and Robert Preston.

Film Story Of Marines' Stand Told

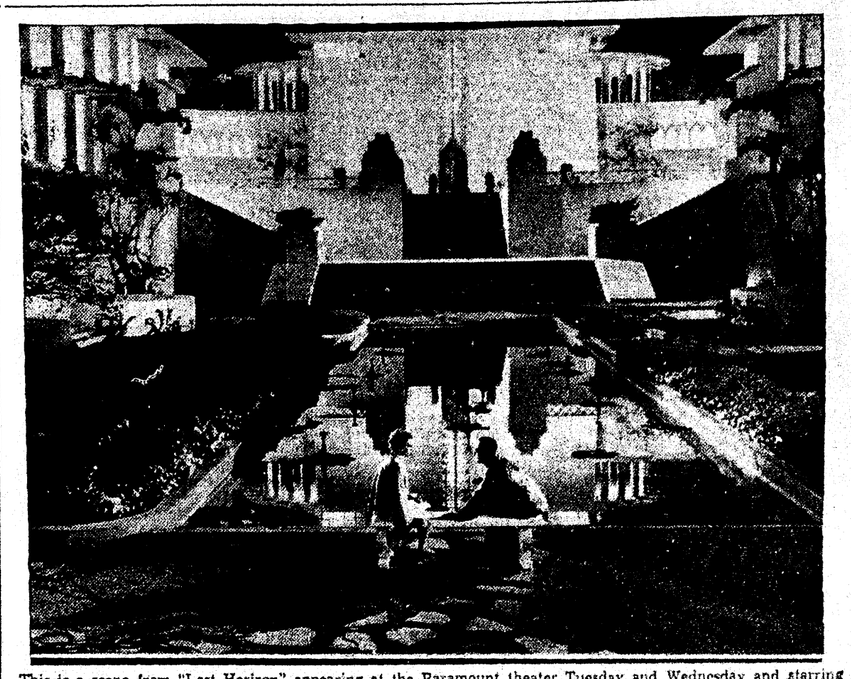
NOW that the United States marine corps has given the Japs a dose of medicine in the Solomons and is poising, from all accounts, for further thrusts, this is a time for grim reflection upon a score which the leathernecks have to pay off. Such a stern mediation—and a rousing tribute, too—is Paramount's new film, "Wake Island," which comes to the Paramount today. Here, in all its harsh and bitter detail, in all its deathless gallantry, is the story of the small marine garrison which held that tiny Pacific isle for the two terrible weeks after Pearl Harbor and went down fighting, brave and defiant to the end.

Here is a film which should surely bring a surge of pride to every patriot's breast. And here is a film for which its makers deserve a sincere salute. Except for the use of fictional names and a very slight contrivance of plot, it might be a literal document of the manner in which the Wake detachment of marines fought and died in the finest tradition of their tough and indomitable corps. For Paramount has tactfully resisted all the obvious temptations to beat the drum. It has made a realistic picture about heroes who do not pose as such—about a group of hard-bitten soldiers who lie in their fox-holes and man their observation posts with never a big theatrical gesture or a comment that doesn't ring true. And when, after two weeks of pounding, their weary major answers a challenge to give up with the simple words, "Tell 'em to come and get us," the epitome of soldier terseness is marked.

Obviously, the story of Wake Island needed no dramatic dressing up. Drama more taut than any fiction was played on that desolate moon of sand. And so, W. R. Burnett and Frank Butler, in their script simply outlined characters—a square-jawed, quiet-spoken Marine major, a civilian builder who blusters a bit, a couple of devildog rowdies, a taciturn flyer and other honest types—and put them up against the situation which history too plainly records. There is no necessity for inspiring any juvenile delinquents with zeal; no unsuspected hero suddenly rockets to undying fame. Each man does his duty in his own efficient way. Each man dies as men die, by crumbling in a heap. The stubborn defense of Wake Island was—and is—a full-sized drama by itself.

Credit Director John Farrow with giving the film much brutal suspense, for drawing the story taut with screaming action and intervals of breathless quiet. The tangible solidity of his setting—a location on the Salton sea in California—impinges the film with a reality which is heightened by the visible evidence of exploding bombs. No one who sees "Wake Island" can complain that he doesn't know what a bombardment is.

In the role of the marine major, Brian Donlevy is a credit to the corps, not to mention the acting profession. And Albert Dekker and Macdonald Carey are likewise apt. But William Bendix and Robert Preston will sing the plaudits for their performances as tough marines. A more respectable pair of leathernecks has not come along since Flagg and Quirt. Particularly Mr. Bendix. He's a partner for any fox-hole. His withering rejoinder to Mr. Preston's observation that the Japs are blowing them to bits is of truly legendary magnificence—"Whatd'ya care? It ain't your island, is it?"



This is a scene from "Lost Horizon" appearing at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday and starring Ronald Colman with Jane Wyatt, John Howard, Edward Everett Horton, Thomas Mitchell, Margo, and H. B. Warner. Incidentally, this is the "Shangri-La" that the Japanese searched for—without any luck!

Sonja Henie and John Payne, that "Sun Valley Serenade" duo, romance in "Iceland," the skating, skiing, skylarking musical picture to the rhythms of Sammy Kaye's swing and sway band which is the midnight show this Saturday night at the Paramount theater. In the featured cast are Jack Oakie, Sterling Holloway and Felix Bressart.

'Sergeant York' Now At Capitol

Gary Cooper In Title Role Of One Of Year's Outstanding Films

THE exciting story of America's greatest World war hero will return to Monroe when Warner Bros.' "Sergeant York" starts its showing at the Capitol theater today. Brought back by popular demand, the picture has everything that goes to make up a fine film—stars, romance, drama, excitement, a fascinating story and a beautiful setting. It can now be seen for the first time at popular prices.

Gary Cooper is cast in the title role, for which he won the Academy award, with Joan Leslie appearing opposite him as simple mountain girl with a keen wit and a lovable personality. Walter Brennan, Academy award winner, is cast as Pastor Pile, life-long friend of York, whose homely philosophy became part of York's creed.

George Tobias, Stanley Ridges, Margaret Wycherly and a host of others make the cast one of the most impressive of recent years.

The story is at once both simple and exciting because it shows both sides of the lives of the Cumberland mountain folk.

York, a sharp-shooting farmer who "gets religion" in his own manner, is a fellow who hates no one and registers as a conscientious objector when he is drafted during the World war. An understanding officer in his company, played by Stanley Ridges, shows him that sometimes violence is necessary to insure freedom. York turns out to be not only a good soldier, but one of the bravest heroes in the A. E. F., winning the highest decorations of the allies.

Produced at Warner Bros. under the personal supervision of Jesse L. Lasky and Hal B. Wallis, "Sergeant York" was given the most lavish care in production.

Howard Hawks directed the film which was written by Abem Finkel, Harry Chandler, Howard Koch and John Huston, based upon the diary of Sergeant York.

Ann Miller, the girl with the twinkling and talented toes, is co-starred with Jerry Colonna in the musical hit, "Priorities on Parade," with Betty Rhodes and Johnnie Johnston, now showing at the Paramount theater.

As long as there are men like him there will always be a free America! Such is the thrilling tribute to one man, "Sergeant York," as portrayed by Gary Cooper with Joan Leslie and Walter Brennan. "Sergeant York" is now showing at the Capitol theater through Tuesday.

Ann Sothern and Red Skelton in a scene from the latest and funniest of the Maisie series, "Maisie Gets Her Man," playing Friday and Saturday at the Capitol theater with Leo Gorcey, Allen Jenkins, Donald Meek and Walter Catlett in the supporting roles.

Missing from the cafe were one and one-half cartons of cigarettes, and half a box of cigars. There had been an attempt to break open the Sea Bird, but it had not been successful.

DEMOCRACY Is FREEDOM

Never before have we faced such a crisis as the UNITED STATES face today.

Never before has America had such a need for clear thinking, able, conscientious men in Congress.

Today men are dying by the thousands—young men who love, live, yet are ready to GIVE ALL to protect home, family and the Christian-inspired principles of democracy.

Contrarily, petty politics, even men in high office—selfish interest—in direct contradiction to the principles of free America, are aligning themselves for the purpose of capturing wholesale votes. The ideals of democracy, INDEPENDENT THOUGHT AND ACTION are subordinated to their own selfish greed. FIFTH COLUMNISTS CAN BE NO MORE DANGEROUS.

By united action we can and must stamp out these dictatorial, undemocratic, un-American activities.

In World War I we fought for Democracy. Today we are fighting World War II because selfish, greedy national and international POLITICIANS LOST THE PEACE after our soldiers won the war in 1918.

As a veteran of the first World War, as the father of four grown children, as a successful business man, as a lover of TRUE DEMOCRACY, as AN INDEPENDENT having no alignments with, or obligations to, any political faction or group, I seek the vote of the people of the Fifth Congressional District in support of my candidacy for Congress.

MARRIAGES MUST BE DULY LISTED

Social Security Must Be Informed As To Changes In Names

In commenting on the heavy increase in the number of marriages within the last year, P. L. Dark, manager of the Monroe Social Security board field office said that many persons who have been issued social security account numbers have changed their names through marriage and have failed to notify the social security board.

"It is essential that when a woman marries and changes her name she notify the board accordingly in order that we make our records conform," Mr. Dark stated. "It thus prevents confusion and costly errors in recording her wages that could result if her employer reported her wages under her marriage name while the board's records still showed her maiden name."

Any individual may apply at the social security board office at 224 South Grand street for a "change in records" form but, he added, they should bring their account number cards with them. It is then possible to issue a new card immediately showing the changed name under the same number. Women who apply for a "change in records" by mail should enclose the original card but should keep a record of the number until the new card is received. Mr. Dark also emphasized that the employer should likewise be informed of the change so that the name reported by him will be the same as shown on the corrected account number card.

The reporting of such corrections and changes is necessary in order that the social security board may maintain accurate records at all times to assure prompt payment of old-age and survivors insurance claims, according to Mr. Dark, who stated that there is no charge for the correction of such records.

THE BARBARIANS

BEHIND TARZAN THE MYSTERIOUS ARROWS WERE RIPPING THE "BRIDGE" WHICH SPANNED THE DEADLY RIVER. THOUGH HIS LIFE HUNG IN THE BALANCE, HE ADMIRED THE PEERLESS ARCHERY OF HIS INVISIBLE FOES.

FLASH GORDON

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

PINNED TO THE ROOF OF THE CAVE BY THE UPWARD GRAVITY OF A SUPER-DENSE METEORITE ON THE SURFACE, FLASH HAS ALL HE CAN DO TO COPE WITH THE STRANGE CONDITIONS OF THIS TINY, UPSIDE-DOWN WORLD. SUDDENLY HE FINDS HIMSELF BEING ATTACKED BY GREAT, DRAGON-BATS, THEIR SWORD-LIKE BEAKS THIRSTING FOR HIS BLOOD!

FLASH DROPS TO HIS KNEE, DODGING THE FIRST BAT. HIS RAY-GUN BLASTS THE SECOND INTO SHREDS---

OTHER BLOOD-MAD CAVE-BATS FOLLOW THE FIRST TWO; BUT FLASH'S QUICK EYE AND TRIGGER FINGER ARE MORE THAN A MATCH FOR THE WHEELING, DIVING SWARM---

AFTER ANNIHILATING THE LAST OF THE GRUESOME CREATURES, FLASH HURRIES BACK TO DALE AND ZARKOV, HIS GREAT STRENGTH HELPS THE GIRLS PAST THE CENTER OF THE HEAVIEST UPWARD PULL OF GRAVITY---

AS THEY CONTINUE ALONG THE CEILING, THE GRAVITATIONAL PULL BECOMES STEADILY WEAKER-- UNTIL DALE BEGINS TO FLOAT. SHE CRIES OUT AND FLASH GRABS HER, SHOUTING: "CAREFUL, EVERY BODY! GRAVITY IS RIGHTING ITSELF!"

NAZIS ROUNDING UP U. S. HOSTAGES

Fresh Nazi Troops Rush To Stalingrad

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I think I have read every word that has been said in the move toward the conscription or, if you prefer, the control of labor by the national government in the interests of total war, including Paul V. McNutt's ideas on the subject and those of Frances Perkins, who quietly disagrees, but nowhere have I found any commitment on the key question that will have to be answered if we come to the labor compulsion.

Do people thus called up for war work, assigned to war tasks and ordered to stay put, have to join the unions?

Never mind the evasions.

The question is does George Spelvin, American, ordered to work in a war plant at wages established by law or by executive power, and subject to penalty for refusal, have to join the union having jurisdiction and a contract with the employer in that place? When he is transferred from a job in Bayonne to another in Wichita, does he have to pay the Wichita local $60 as a transfer tax?

If so, let's have it.

If not, why doesn't someone in the government lay that on the line?

If Mr. Spelvin, American, has to join the union and conform to union rules and discipline he is being forced into a political subsidiary of the governing political party which, naturally, is moving now to re-elect itself again in 1944. In that case, millions of citizens who are Republicans or anti-New Deal Democrats will find themselves compelled to contribute to the political funds of a party which they oppose and it is very likely that they will refuse. For refusing, they will be subject to expulsion from the unions and black-listed from all war jobs and, thus, it would seem to follow, exposed to punishments, including, perhaps, jail terms, as civilian slackers.

Mr. Spelvin probably won't refuse duty as a civilian worker under more or less firm orders from the government, for the good of his country, but he isn't likely to let anyone take advantage of that willingness to herd him into an irresponsible private or-

REPORT WHOLE CITY CONVULSED BY EXPLOSIONS

Russians Blunt German Drive By Unloosing Offensive Of Own

GET AID OF PLANES

Bursting Of Shells So Constant Dust Never Settles Down

By Eddy Gilmore

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Fresh German shock troops rushed to the front by transport plane poured into the debris-choked streets of Stalingrad in an effort to clinch victory, dispatches said today, but the Red army, fighting from window and rooftop and in the streets, held the city in the 35th day of bloody assault.

Northwest of the city, the Russians were blunting the German drive and unloosing an offensive of their own in an effort to slow the more direct Nazi attack on the city, it was reported. In one sector, a large Soviet unit killed 2,000 Germans in two days, the mid-day communique said.

The fighting for the city is "growing ever fiercer and bloodier," a correspondent for Pravda reported.

"The whole city is in convulsion from the incessant explosions of bombs and shells," he said.

The fierce fighting of the past 24 hours, with the Germans lunging into the city from several different points, has resulted in a zig-zag front with the Germans slightly advanced in some sectors and the Russians established in new positions to the west in others, one dispatch said.

The Russians were reported to have taken two more streets from the Germans at one point. The mid-day communique said two enemy companies had been wiped out in one smoking and shell-marked neighborhood.

Writing from the agony-filled city, the Pravda reporter said that the bursting of shells and bombs was so constant that the dust of the city never had a chance to settle.

Gone from the Volga, he wrote, are the former pleasure boats and steamers. In their places are armored ships and fast cutters, darting from bank to bank, taking in supplies, ammunition and fresh troops and carrying out the wounded.

The dispatch mentioned the whine of Soviet fighter planes over the city, indicating that air support was at hand for the besieged city.

But still the German bombers came and the Pravda writer said the city shook with the explosions of their bombs.

Despite their great losses, the dispatch said, the German effort to take

STATE TO GIVE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

15,000 Louisiana Employes Must Qualify Under New System

TON ROUGE, La., Sept. 28.—(AP)—ualifying examinations to be given ,000 state employes when civil e goes into effect in January been virtually completed and or giving physical examinations 00 jobholders are underway, l E. Parker, state director of nel, said today.

physical examinations will be in lieu of written examinations sons holding jobs such as high-laborer, laundry worker, institu- attendant, custodial worker, janiward aide, kitchen helper, where ability to read and write is not essary.

The Louisiana civil service law requires that all employes in the classified service on January 1 be given "qualifying examinations," Parker said, to determine their reasonable fitness to handle their jobs. My department and the state civil service commission are well aware of the fact that the use of a written examination in connection with many state jobs would be unfair and impracticable. For example, there are many types of work which do not require the ability to read and write. The use of a written examination in connection with such jobs would almost certainly result in the loss of a number of state employes who have rendered excellent service."

THREE MANPOWER WITNESSES CALLED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—With one eye on the nation's youth and the other on its bread-basket, the house agriculture committee today sought the advice of three top-ranking officials to aid it in formulating legislative recommendations to avert what Chairman Fulmer, Democrat, South Carolina, described as "a rapidly approaching food shortage."

Called as final witnesses in the committee's long study of the food outlook were Major General Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director; Paul V. McNutt, head of the war manpower commission, and Donald M. Nelson, war production chief.

Hershey was scheduled to take the stand today after testifying before a senate sub-committee studying manpower. McNutt was slated as Tuesday's witness, and Nelson was expected to appear Wednesday.

From Hershey, who last week told the committee 23 per cent of draft registrants up to last June were from farm regions but only 13 per cent of men in the army were farmers, Fulmer said his group hoped to get an idea of the future manpower needs of the armed services and the effect on the rapidly-dwindling farm labor supply.

BUILDINGS IN BONITA BURNED

Early Morning Blaze Destroys Postoffice, Adjacent Structure

BONITA, La., Sept. 28.—(Special)—An early morning blaze here today completely destroyed the postoffice building and the building that immediately adjoins it. Both buildings were of frame construction and one story in height. The amount of the loss is not as yet made known.

The fire was discovered at 6:30 a.m. today, and made rapid headway despite the efforts of the volunteer fire department which were exerted toward saving the contents of the postoffice building, when it was assured that the buildings were doomed. The contents of the postoffice building were saved, including mail boxes and mail.

The postoffice building was owned by Mrs. E. M. Stamm, while Mrs. Harrison owned the other building that was destroyed by the fire. Amount of insurance if any was not made known early this morning.

GOVERNMENT DEBT IS $90,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The government debt today reached $90,000,000,000—more than double what it was before the United States began preparing in 1940 for the present war.

The treasury's debt entries on September 25 were $89,996,735,594, and officials said that war bond sales since then put the total over $90,000,000,000.

At present the debt is going up at the rate of $4,000,000,00 per month.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE'LL WAIT ON PRICE CONTROL

Agrees To Delay Step Until Congress Completes Action

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Farm state senators offered a compromise today of their demands for higher farm prices in the anti-inflation bill but administration leaders flatly rejected it.

Senator Borwn, Democrat, Michigan, said he and other administration leaders had turned down a proposal offered by a senate agriculture subcommittee which Brown contended would have introduced "cost of production" factors into the fixing of agricultural prices.

Brown announced that the administration planned to permit an original proposal by Senators Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, and Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, to come to a vote today and then attempt to substitute an administration compromise offered by Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was reported today to have agreed to delay any executive move to control the cost of living until congress completes action on pending anti-inflation legislation, even if the final draft does not reach him by his October 1 deadline.

DOG ASSISTS IN FINDING LOST BOY

M'ARTHUR, O., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Thanks to an alert shepherd dog, Carl McKinnis, 7-year-old county ward, awoke snug in his own bed today after being lost in dense southern Ohio woods more than 24 hours.

With other boys from the Vinton county children's home, Carl went nut-gathering Saturday. "Brownie," a shepherd owned by a neighbor, romped at his heels.

Carl was not missed until his companions returned to the home. Volunteers scoured the woodlands through the night and Sunday. Then one encountered "Brownie" as the dog came barking from a thicket. There the rescuer discovered the prone boy—exhausted, hungry and cold.

Great Scrap Drive Launched In State

Campaign Officially Opens Oct. 5 With $3,800 In Prizes

In a gigantic scrap metal drive which is being sponsored by newspapers throughout the nation, the daily and weekly papers of Louisiana join the schools of the state in conducting a campaign which is expected to alleviate the shortage of metal now needed in the war effort.

Answering a request by Donald Nelson, chief of the War Production board, that the newspapers of America assume the leadership in meeting the scrap metal shortage, the News-Star and Morning World will devote every facility toward success of the drive locally. The campaign actually begins next Monday, October 5, and runs three weeks. However, every person is urged to begin gathering scrap metal now.

Declaring "the steel shortage right now is interrupting production in many plants and shipyards," Mr. Nelson further said that the scrap on hand needed to make steel would not last more than 30 days.

"If we are to maintain and increase production of the planes, tanks and

RUMANIA, CROATIA PROMISE TROOPS

BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Rumania and Croatia, hoping for political favors in return, have agreed to try to raise more troops to fight for Germany against Russia, reliable Balkan sources said today.

These sources, who would not permit their names to be used, said that was the result of conferences last week involving Hitler; German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop; Dr. Ante Pavelic, Croatian chief of state; and Mihai Antonescu, acting premier of Rumania.

The meetings of these men were said to have taken the place of a conference scheduled for the middle of the month which would have included Hungary.

Balkan sources said the inference was that Rumania had gained favor in the dispute with Hungary over the Transylvanian territory the Germans required Rumania to turn over to Hungary.

Germany was said to have called upon Rumania and Croatia for more of their manpower as a consequence of the Russian resistance at Stalingrad.

DEAR PRAISES NEWS HANDLING

Others Also Commend Way War And Domestic Happenings Reported

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Walter M. Dear, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, joined today with two other leaders of American newspaper editor-groups in praising the manner in which newspapers have handled war and domestic news.

W. S. Gilmore, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and Basil L. Walters, chairman of the Associated Press Managing Editors association, also commended editors for a tough job well done as the nation's newspapers prepared to observe national newspaper week, October 1-8.

Dear, who is treasurer of the Jersey Journal, Jersey City, N. J., said:

"National Newspaper week, this year, presents a challenge to the press of America which may not be disregarded. The theme of the occasion is well typified in the slogan: 'The newspapers go all out for victory.'

"The press of America has made its contribution in an all out effort and reiterates its promise that: 'We pledge our individual and unswerving sup-

AMERICAN BOMBERS BLAST JAP BASES

CHUNGKING, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Bombers and fighters of the United States army air forces blasted Japanese bases and lines of communication west of the Salween river in southwest Yunnan province yesterday, inflicting considerable damage without the loss of a single plane, Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Numerous direct hits were scored on buildings at Mengshih and Tengyueh, starting a number of fires, the bulletin said.

"Five separate groups of Japanese barracks were strafed when American planes swept along the Burma road to Wanting," the communique added. "Eight trucks were destroyed along the road and three Japanese tanks were seriously damaged in Wanting."

Biggest Scrap Drive In History Is Begun

WAVELL HINTS SECOND FRONT TO COME SOON

Asserts Allied Nations Will Fight Way To Ultimate Victory

RUSSIAN SEES HELP

Alexandrov Thinks Britain And U. S. To Start Invasion

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—An assertion by General Sir Archibald P. Wavell that British and American troops would fight their way onto the European continent as soon as possible shared attention today with labor leaders' demands for an immediate government answer to Wendell Willkie's call for a second front to aid Russia.

Wavell, commander in chief of India, spoke in New Delhi in a review of the global aspects of the war and voiced his firm conviction that the United States, Britain, Russia and China would fight on together to ultimate victory.

"It is quite certain that as soon as ever possible both American troops and ourselves will start a second front, but I can't tell you when or where," Wavell declared.

"It's a biggish problem starting on the Continent. We'll have some casualties — very considerable — both American and ours — before we get back into the continent. But we'll get back."

While Wavell was giving this assurance, Lord Strabolgi, labor peer, was demanding in a speech at Wimbledon that the Churchill war cabinet reply "without delay" to Willkie's assertion in Moscow that the best way to aid Russia was to open a second front before next summer.

Strabolgi said he did not see how the Labor party could continue to give "blind support" to the Churchill government unless military aid were given Russia at once.

Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite member of the house of commons, said he had been greatly impressed by Willkie's outspoken statement and expressed the opinion that Britain and the United States should take the initiative immediately.

"We are told by members of the government that our armies are well equipped, that our deplorable shipping losses are rapidly diminishing and that we have overwhelming superiority in the air," Shinwell said.

WILLKIE IS ON WAY TO CHINA

Leaves By Plane After Whirlwind Visit To Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie was en route to China today after a whirlwind visit to the Soviet Union, climaxed by a Kremlin party given in his honor Saturday night by Premier Joseph Stalin.

Carrying a cane made from a tree of Tolstoy's old home, Willkie left by plane yesterday and dispatches from Kuibyshev reported his safe arrival at that provisional Soviet capital.

He wore the same double-breasted blue suit in which he left the Kremlin party in the early hours of Sunday. The affair, one of the most intimate ever tendered a visiting Allied representative, was attended by Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, United States Ambassador Admiral William H. Standley and British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr.

Others included Major General Follett Bradley and Brigadier General Phillip R. Faymonville, of the American lend-lease mission; Captain Jack Duncan, United States naval attache; Colonel Joseph A. Michael and Willkie's traveling companions, Gardner

CLAIMS TRANSPORTS SUNK

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Sept. 28.—(AP)—The high command said today that German submarines had sunk three transport vessels and a destroyer in an attack in the North Atlantic on a troop and supply convoy en route from the United States to England. (There was no confirmation of the attack from other sources. German claims of large scale victories over allied convoys in the past have proved repeatedly to be greatly exaggerated.)

Everything Made Of Worn-Out Metal Sought In Campaign

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Men, women and children by the millions began today the greatest concentrated hunt in American history—a nation-wide search for metal scrap in homes, factories and farms—by states, cities, towns and counties.

For the next three weeks more than 1,600 newspapers in most states will lead the intensive drive to find junked metal to feed the hungry steel mills turning out weapons against the axis.

Everything that is made of worn-out, obsolete or unessential metal is needed:

Old garbage cans, hammer-heads, flatirons, skid chains, refrigerators, radiators, tractors, washing machines, kitchen stoves, bathtubs, electric irons, plows, hayrakes, rails, iron girders, boilers, pipes.

This is the appeal recently issued by Donald Nelson:

"As chairman of the war production board, I call upon every citizen of the United States to make this campaign a success by gathering and turning in all the scrap metal that can possibly be spared.

"Let towering victory stock piles in every community in the nation stand as symbols of America's defiance of the axis."

In some states, the drive has already been under way, but in most the 21 days beginning today will be the in-

ARGUMENTS IN JUDGE WOMACK CASE STARTED

Central Committee Asserts No Court Has Jurisdiction

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The state Democratic central committee today contended in a brief filed before the supreme court in the Judge James D. Womack hearing that under law no court has jurisdiction in such a case and that therefore the declared nomination of former Judge W. Carruth Jones over Womack should stand.

This claim was made in a brief filed as amicus curiae by the central committee through Chairman Frank J. Looney, as arguments began in the case in which Womack, who ran behind Jones, seeks to enter a runoff primary with Jones for the district judgeship in Baton Rouge.

The committee contended that the court is nowhere given jurisdiction to direct committees to do things not called for by the election act.

Womack, in his petition, admitted Jones' majority was greater than his, that he made no effort to allege any irregularity or fraud, but maintained it was the duty of the courts to order a second primary.

In its brief the state central committee said:

"It is not within the province of a court to assume jurisdiction in a case where the statute in plain terms makes it clear that the state deals only with second primaries in cases where no one has received a majority and prevents a nomination by a mere plurality.

"Section 86 of Act 46 of 1940 does not give any authority to the courts in a case where more than one of the candidates receive a majority. The court's jurisdiction is limited to the letter of the statute. Section 88 B reads:

"'Any candidate for nomination for any office who shall claim that but for irregularities or fraud he would have been nominated or that he would have been entitled to enter a

CHILD WITH NEEDLE IN HEART EXPIRES

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Three-year-old Eleanor Hughes, who had lived for two weeks with a sewing machine needle imbedded in a muscle of her heart, died late yesterday, the Children's hospital reported today.

A physician said the needle apparently had torn a hole in the heart muscle, causing death.

The needle was driven into the girl's chest when she fell while playing at home in Clinton, Pa.

An attempt to recover the needle by surgery 10 days ago was unsuccessful. Surgeons had been awaiting improvement in her condition before making a second attempt.

300 AMERICANS IN FRANCE ARE REPORTED HELD

Number Of Other Problems Involve Subjects In That Country

AIR TRAVEL BARRED

Motion Picture Films From U. S. Halted At Spanish Border

BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Germans have seized some 300 Americans in occupied France as potential hostages, diplomatic quarters here learned today, in a move which added to the tension in Pierre Laval's government in Vichy.

News of the seizures came from private sources in Paris. American diplomatic sources were without official word but it caused no surprise, since Americans in the occupied zone are liable to internment by the Nazis as enemy aliens.

Those held were Americans who for one reason or another remained in occupied France pending negotiations for their repatriation. It was assumed that if repatriation were permitted the Germans would ask for the return of an equal number of Germans in the United States.

The roundup and other incidents, especially the United States endorsement of the British occupation of Madagascar, have served to create the most critical situation thus far in American-French relations, French observers of the Vichy scene said.

Laval is faced with the greatest difficulties in the negotiations with Germany for 120,000 French workers, which private sources said had been demanded within three weeks. Mindful of the sentiment of the French, Laval declared that this would involve strong compulsion which he dared not exert, information from Paris said.

According to these advices, Laval is determined to pursue collaboration in his own way. If he chooses to stand against full conscription of workers, there is a possibility of his being pushed out of the government, it was reported. In such a case he could adopt the role of having stood for the rights of Frenchmen. There was one rumor that he had even threatened to go to North Africa.

It was reported without confirmation that Charles E. Bedaux, friend of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor whose wife is the former Miss Fern Lombard of New York and Tours, France, was among those taken into custody.

Bedaux recently had been in Cannes, in the unoccupied zone, but it was stated there was reason to believe he might have gone to Paris recently.

The round-up was only one of a

Total Of $260,000 Reported For Quarter-Million Breakfast

Ouachita parish has gone "over the top" in the advanced sale of war bonds for the quarter-million dollar breakfast, featuring three movie stars, here next Wednesday, it was announced Monday by S. J. Rogers, chairman of the parish bond and stamp committee, and M. S. Greenblatt, representative of the Motion Picture Industry War Activities committee.

The tabulation at noon today showed a total of $260,000 in war bonds sold, and the count was still not complete, it was announced.

The stars to appear at the breakfast, which will be held at the Frances hotel starting at 8:15 a. m. Wednesday, are Laraine Day, Vera Zorina and Andy Devine.

"The sale of bonds for the breakfast gives Ouachita parish a record of not having failed to reach its quota of war bond sales in any instance."

VERN HAUGLAND IS REGAINING HEALTH

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Army physicians reported a general improvement today in the condition of Vern Haugland, Associated Press war correspondent who is recovering in a military hospital at Port Moresby after being lost for 47 days in the New Guinea jungles.

Haugland's temperature is dropping and abrasions which he suffered during his long trek through the wilderness are healing nicely, the doctors said.

Three army enlisted men from Wisconsin have been watching over Haugland alternately day and night. They are Charles Stehlik, of Racine, Lyman Werner, of Eau Clair, and Clinton Gaudette, of Ashley.

Haugland, who parachuted from an army bomber when it ran out of gas over New Guinea during a storm early in August, arrived at Port Moresby several days ago from an isolated mission.
